In this part I will show you how to shape the Easter Bunny Bread. Remember that one dough recipe will make 2 loaves of Easter Bunny Bread. This is great for those that have a few Easter Family.

Contact Nutrition Your body is capable of doing all sorts of things by itself, but just like a car needs fuel, your body needs food for energy. Different foods have different nutrients. See why each nutrient is important.

Complex Carbohydrates The primary function of carbohydrates is to provide energy for the body, especially the brain and nervous system.

Whole Grains Whole Grains contain all three parts and all the nutrients of the entire grain kernel bran, germ and endosperm. All 3 parts work together to provide good nutrition. Color is NOT a good way to tell if food is whole grain. Look for the Whole Grain Stamp on food to see if it has whole grain in it. Look at the number listed on the Whole Grain Stamp to see how many grams of whole grain are in each serving. Try to eat at least 48g of whole grain per day.

Fiber Foods that contain Fiber are digested more slowly by the body and can make us feel full and satisfied after eating less. Eat a variety of foods to get all the nutrients you need. Visit Why Eat Bread for more information on the benefits of grain foods.

Colors Mean Vitamins â€” Try to eat a lot of different colored foods in each meal.

Whole Grain is Good â€” Try to eat at least 3 servings of whole grain per day.

Make faces on your toast â€” toast a piece of bread and put an apple slice as the smile and strawberries as eyes. Put strawberries or a banana on top of your cereal. Ask an adult to help you make a smoothie in the blender â€” add fresh or frozen fruit, milk, and yogurt for a tasty snack.

Warm up peanut butter in the microwave as a dip for apples or serve yogurt as a dip for fresh fruit. Use cookie cutters to make a fun sandwich snack. Just press the cookie cutter into the bread and add your favorite healthy toppings.

Make a fancy parfait pronounced Par Fay â€” put some yogurt in a cup, add a layer of fruit and cereal for a delicious treat.

Here are some fun ways to be active. To have even more fun, ask your friends and family to join you.

On sunny days, you can go outdoors and: Go for a bike ride Jump rope Go to the park and play on the playground Rake leaves into a big pile and jump in them

On rainy or cold days you can: Dance to your favorite music Play hide and seek or charades with some friends Hula hoop Build a fort with blankets and pillows Play dress up and act out a story Create a treasure hunt.
