Chamari Atapattu Sri Lanka Role: Left-handed opener, right-arm seamer, captain T20 international record: Regained the captaincy in March, but missed the Asia Cup with dengue fever and has a top score of 31 in T20 internationals this year. Massively watch out for her. Deandra Dottin West Indies Role: Right-handed middle-order batter, right-arm seamer T20 international record: An unremarkable year by her standards, averaging under 20 in eight T20I appearances - with a ball 59 in an ODI being a highlight. Sophia Dunkley England Role: Right-handed middle-order batter, leg-spin bowler T20 international record: Won the Kia Super League with Surrey Stars, impressing coach Mark Robinson enough to name her as one of three uncapped - and uncontracted - players in the England squad. Although this is her first official England call-up, Dunkley trained with the full side during the summer series against New Zealand. Ashleigh Gardner Australia Role: Right-handed batter, off-spin bowler T20 international record: Established herself at number three for Australia, recently hit 63 not out from 37 balls against Pakistan. Amelia Kerr New Zealand Role: Right-handed batter, leg-spin bowler T20 international record: Burst on to the scene at age 17, hitting a world record ODI score of not out against Ireland in June - then took in the same game. With that potential variation on West Indies wickets, she will be vital to watch. Kerr comes from a cricketing family - her maternal grandfather Bruce Murray played 13 Tests for New Zealand between and , while her father Robbie Kerr played first-class cricket for Wellington. Lizelle Lee South Africa Role: Right-handed opener T20 international record: Smashed from 58 balls in the final to help Surrey Stars win the Super League. Hit three half-centuries for the Proteas, flogging England for six sixes in a ball 68 at Taunton in June.
