A welcome speech like this would be given at a gathering of an often diverse group of people with a common interest. Examples of an occasion for a welcome speech are conferences, professional meetings, formal competitions athletic and otherwise and even family gatherings. To make your welcome speech meaningful, aim to connect with the audience, generating excitement for the event they are attending and the organization hosting the event and inspiring the attendees to participate in the activities that are planned. Depending on the event, it may also be desirable to motivate the audience to some action, such as joining the organization that is hosting the event or donating money to a cause. Wherever specific elements of the conference are mentioned, you can substitute specific details of your OWN event. It is great to see so many enthusiastic men and women here celebrating the genius and innovation of American car manufacturers over the years. Are you happy to be here? ACE is pleased to host this conference in Detroit this year where we will have the opportunity to see the best cars America has had to offer, past and present! Among the activities we have planned are workshops about the evolution of individual car models such as the Thunderbird and the Mustang as well as demonstrations of the performance characteristics of our newest American offerings. Please consult your conference brochures for specific events. In the exhibition hall you will be able to visit each of the manufacturers of our fine American automobiles as well as the booths of our valued partners who support the industry in various ways. Folks, you are lucky to be here this year because we have some tremendous events planned for each day of the conference. Tonight is our opening banquet with our keynote speaker, Lee Roker. To all of you, thank you for being here, welcome, and enjoy the conference! Your browser does not support the audio element. This interview has been edited for readability and length. Jonas Zahn Laura B. A green burial is legal everywhere. But what the law stipulates through most of the United States goes something like this: Refrigeration is one means of preservation. I know a story about an unidentified indigent from Madison, Wisconsin, that was refrigerated for over seven years until it was decided how to dispose of him. You just keep adding more dry ice. So you have to be an informed consumer? Is this something I want? We get those questions all the time. It can be in a home, which was a common practice before the s. Mine is pre-arranged to be in my workshop. Any funeral home in the United States can order from us. It would be cost prohibitive. To get to the furthest reach in the continental U. Otherwise we could generally get one delivered in six or seven days. That said, 95 percent of our business is in Wisconsin. Usually purchasing a casket is fraught with emotion. How open are consumers to choosing a green casket for their loved one during such a difficult time? Funeral homes work with one another. If a natural burial is important to you, prearrangement is essential. Did you go to them with your idea to plant trees for every casket you sell? Essentially, what I really wanted was to plant the right trees in the right places. Where are the right places? Most of our trees are planted on tax-payer owned land: People have this idea we are planting rows and rows of pine trees. Carbon sequestration and wildlife habitat.
