Neil Armstrong in his astronaut suit Image: In those first few moments on the moon, during the climax of a heated space race with the then-Soviet Union, Armstrong stopped in what he called "a tender moment" and left a patch to commemorate Nasa astronauts and Soviet cosmonauts who had died in action. We have lift off: He testified before Congress, and in an email to The Associated Press he said he had "substantial reservations. Armstrong lights a cigar in Texas just months before he arrived on the moon Image: But he spoke for only a few seconds, did not mention the moon and quickly ducked out of the spotlight. He later joined former astronaut and Senator John Glenn to lay wreaths on the graves of plane inventors Wilbur and Orville Wright. Mr Glenn introduced Armstrong and noted it was 34 years to the day that Armstrong had walked on the moon. Rex At another joint appearance, the two embraced and Mr Glenn commented: In the years afterward, Armstrong retreated to the quiet of the classroom and his Ohio farm. Aldrin said in his book Men From Earth that Armstrong was one of the quietest, most private men he had ever met. Tranquility Base here," Armstrong radioed after the spacecraft settled onto the moon. In all, 12 American astronauts walked on the moon between and the last moon mission in For Americans, reaching the moon provided uplift and respite from the Vietnam War. The landing occurred as organisers were preparing for Woodstock, the legendary rock festival on a farm in New York. Armstrong was born August 5 , on a farm in Ohio. He took his first plane ride at the age of six and developed a fascination with aviation that prompted him to build model planes and conduct experiments in a homemade wind tunnel. As a boy, he worked at a pharmacy and took flying lessons. Armstrong enrolled in Purdue University to study aeronautical engineering but was called to duty with the US Navy in and flew 78 combat missions in Korea. He became a test pilot with what evolved into the National Aeronautics and Space Administration, flying more than kinds of aircraft from gliders to jets. After the first space docking, he brought the capsule back in an emergency landing in the Pacific Ocean when a wildly firing thruster kicked it out of orbit. Armstrong was back-up commander for the historic Apollo 8 mission at Christmas in In that flight, Commander Frank Borman, and Jim Lovell and Bill Anders circled the moon 10 times, and paving the way for the lunar landing seven months later.
