No matter where you live, it's probably safe to assume that your "Samaria" - your community at large - is full of needs: the poor and homeless, military families, sick children, single moms, the elderly, the lonely and forsaken.

Please call Leininger Center for additional information and questions. The marina features a public boat launch ramp, dock space and boat trailer parking if you wish to bring your own boat. Please, no gasoline engines, 16 ft. The Velma Million Marina offers pedal boats on a seasonal basis. These programs teach new sailors the basics of small boat handling and offer sailors with some experience the chance to sharpen their skills and learn more. Sailing camps run Monday through Friday with both basic and intermediate camps. Pre-registration is now open for the sailing classes. For ages 12 and up. Call for further details. Great blue herons, snowy white egrets, and even white pelicans are frequent visitors to the park. Hawks frequently soar overhead. A large flock of Canadian geese, as well as several species of waterfowl, make the park their home a few months out of the year. Jack rabbits and squirrels can also be found in many areas. Please remember that all park animals are wild and we ask that you not feed, capture, or chase them. This is their home. Picnic Areas There are numerous picnic areas throughout the park, which can accommodate small to very large groups. Several are available on a first come, first served basis one adult may save only one table. The picnic areas surround a large open turf area open to all for fun and games. Volleyball courts and horseshoe pits are available; just bring your own equipment. Designated picnic areas are available through advanced reservations for a nominal reservation fee. The Cypress Pavilion can accommodate people comfortably and is a prime area for large group or company picnics. It boasts large covered patios, complete with a cooking and serving area that includes BBQ grills, electricity and running water. It also offers a small stage as well as nearby restrooms and parking. Marked by or given to artful subtlety and deceptiveness. Executed with or exhibiting ingenuity. Delicately pleasing; pretty or cute: Skill in deception; guile. Skill or adeptness in execution or performance; dexterity. Sly; crafty; clever in surreptitious behaviour. Knowledge; learning; special knowledge sometimes implying occult or magical knowledge. Practical knowledge or experience; aptitude in performance; skill, proficiency; dexterity. Practical skill employed in a secret or crafty manner; craft; artifice; skillful deceit. The natural wit or instincts of an animal. Wrought with, or exhibiting, skill or ingenuity; ingenious; curious. Crafty; sly; artful; designing; deceitful. Knowledge; art; skill; dexterity. The faculty or act of using stratagem to accomplish a purpose; fraudulent skill or dexterity; deceit; craft. Having knowledge acquired by experience or practice; having technical knowledge and manual skill; skilful; dexterous. Exhibiting or wrought with ingenuity; skilful; curious; ingenious. Characterized by or exercising crafty ingenuity; artfully subtle or shrewd; knowing in guile; guileful; tricky. Marked by crafty ingenuity; showing shrewdness or guile; expressive of subtlety: Curiously or quaintly attractive; subtly interesting; piquant: All these words suggest something underhand or deceptive. Artful indicates greater ingenuity and ability, the latter, however, being of a low kind. Sly is the same as cunning, except that it is more vulgar and implies less ability. The rabbit is cunning enough to hide from the dog; Mephistopheles is subtle. For the favorable meanings of subtle, see astute. For the good senses of shrewd, see acute. In its unfavorable aspects shrewd implies a penetration and judgment that are somewhat narrow and worldly-wise, too much so to deserve the name of sagacity or wisdom. Tricky is especially a word of action; it expresses the character and conduct of one who gets the confidence of others only to abuse it by acts of selfishness, especially cheating. Adroit, in a bad sense, expresses a ready and skilful use of trickery, or facility in performing and escaping detection of reprehensible acts. Wily is appropriate where a person is viewed as an opponent in real or figurative warfare, against whom wiles or stratagems are employed: A crafty man has less ability than a subtle man, and works more by deception or knavery than the shrewd man; he is more active than the cunning man, and more steadily active than the sly man; he is on the moral level of the trickish man. Intriguing is applied where the plots are secret arrangements made with others, perhaps against a third party, and especially of a complicated character. Knowledge; learning; special knowledge: Practical knowledge or experience; skill; dexterity. Practical skill employed in a secret or crafty manner; craft; artifice; skilful deceit. The natural wit or instincts of an animal: A variant of cony. More at con, can.

Serving and Reaching out to Your Community We at Excelerate believe very strongly in the power of serving the community to grow the church. Serving isn't some trick to create growth, or some way to tie God's hands and force Him to grow your church, serving is a way to treat people the way God wants to see them treated, and it's the very.

In a desperate gesture, she pierced her heart with a golden arrow and walked to visit him every day. On the thirteenth day, beautiful scarlet flowers bloomed along the path from every drop of her blood. Alteo fell in love with her, and her heart was healed. She cried, and turned body into a flower. She asked her husband Zephyr, the wind, to blow the clouds away so Apollo could shower her in sunlight. Fairies would hide in the bell blossoms and wear them as petticoats, caps and gloves. If you pluck the foxglove, it angered them and they may play tricks in revenge! With the magic gloves on, they could steal eggs without making a sound. However, he left her for another. When he deserted her, the princess became hopeless and committed suicide. From her ashes grew a tree. Unable to stand the sight of the lover who broke her heart, the flowers only bloom at night under the eyes of the moon, and she sheds them like tear-drops before the sun rises. Jealous Clythia told the king who, furious at the princess, buried her alive. Saddened, Apollo went back to heavens without a word. She lay on the ground distraught for nine days, watching him, hoping for a single glance. Clythia wasted away and became a flower, whose petals still follow his chariot across the sky each day, waiting for forgiveness. Her wish was granted, but when the flood waters receded she wept for the loss of lives. As her tears turned to stardust and fell to earth, the beautiful aster flower sprung wherever they landed. Zephyr fell in love with a beautiful nymph that served Chloris named Anemone. Jealous and angry, the goddess banished her to keep them apart, and Anemone died of a broken heart. Zephyr resurrected her as a flower. She withers every winter but returns every spring to greet Zephyr with open petals. She wrote a poem to the goddess of flowers asking her to make everything bloom that night instead of waiting for spring. The next morning, all flowers flourished except the peony, which refused to bloom out of season. She was offended and banished it. Once gone, it bloomed beautifully. Furious, she ordered it to be burned – however the next year, the burnt peony grew back. Due to a storm, Pele was gone for a very long time. When she returned, she found flowering vines had grown over the baby to shield her from the sun. With the help of Persephone, he was successful. The spittle of the beast dripped upon the rocky earth, and from it sprang the first aconite plant. She acted as the link between the heavens and earth, where she left irises of many colors, the three upright petals symbolizing hope, valor, and wisdom. If purple Irises were planted over the graves of women, it would summon the Goddess, who would guide the dead in their journey.

Now is the Time to Help Yourself by Helping Others: 10 Ways to Serve Your Community Performing community service is a worthy endeavor that brings people and communities closer together and improves the wellness of those volunteering their time and effort.

Church Volunteer Scheduling Serving and Reaching out to Your Community We at Excellerate believe very strongly in the power of serving the community to grow the church. Of course, the hardest part of serving is figuring out what to do. Community Service Idea 1 "A Free Store The idea is that you collect new and gently used clothes, or really anything else you want to include, from your church members and from donations from the community. Then, once a month or so, depending on your supply, go to a poor neighborhood and allow people to come in and select a set number of items. Also, remember to contact local stores and ask if they have any donations. Or, better yet, local clothing manufacturers. Just be warned that some donated items will be ready for the trash heap when they arrive, so plan in advance how to politely decline or dispose of those items. And, I would suggest disposing of poor quality items rather than just hoping they get taken fast. You want a reputation for amazing service and love, not as a place to get stuff no one will ever wear. So, find areas where people like that would pass by and tell the doctors or staff working there that you would love to help and that they should feel free to give out the contact information to the church to anyone interested in scheduling a ride somewhere. That way, the doctor or the manager of the store will get to know you and can vouch for you as a safe person to rely on. Community Service Idea 3 "Bring Gift Baskets to the Police and Firefighters of Your City Tons of people go feed the homeless on Thanksgiving or send thank you cards to military personnel stationed overseas who are away from loved ones, but few people remember that there are police officers who are working and risking their life while their child is having their first Christmas. When you bring them gift baskets or candy to share around the office, it means a lot. Jude Hospital in Memphis. Jude is a hospital that specializes in cancer research and focuses primarily on helping young children who have cancer. Naturally, everyone is eager to do something for the kids and their family, especially during the holidays, but no one ever does anything for the doctors, nurses, and staff of the hospital. I doubt they mind too much, since they want to see the kids happy, but when our team showed up and said they came to serve the staff, it touched a lot of people because they never expected to be remembered and even doing something small for them really had a huge impact. Other people that are often overlooked would be: You can find forgotten people everywhere. You will need a sign saying no donations accepted, and people will try to donate, but just tell them you only want to serve. This may not give a lot of publicity, but God wants to see the sick healed and sinners forgiven, so when you line your heart up with His and ask Him to do the things He wants to see happen anyway, your church will move forward, and the community will be changed. Community Service Idea 7 "Sack Lunches for Day Laborers Depending on where you live, sometimes day laborers will congregate in various areas waiting for people to come by and hire them. If that is common in your city and it probably is if you live in a medium or large city, you just have to find where , consider packing sack lunches for them and then going out that morning before the laborers get hired and giving them all a lunch to take with them. It could be something as simple as making more of a conscious effort to smile at others which we all try to do around Christmas, even when we are angry over the mall parking , or feeding the homeless, or donating gifts to the less fortunate there are birthdays to consider, after all. Set up tutoring once a week. Do you have doctors? Ask a store if you can set up a table where people can get advice on dieting issues. Do you have college students? Call local high schools and offer to come in once a month so juniors and seniors can ask questions about the college application process. Community Service Idea 11 "Collect School Supplies to Donate to Local Schools This is a great way to serve because even the smallest gesture seems huge to the recipient. Most are trivial, but, over time, they wear teachers down and make them feel unappreciated. You can also help people with the paperwork needed to apply for unemployment and other government assistance. Get a group together, use bottled water, and find an intersection with a median you can stand on and be out of the way of traffic. Many radio stations aimed at audiences that are primarily comprised of immigrants will be happy to carry an ad for these services for very little cost, and anytime my church has advertised their English classes on the radio, one ad run two times has been enough to get around fifty new students. Another great source for filling these classes is local businesses. Many employers will be more than happy to encourage their employees to attend your classes and will work with them to make it happen.

A key component of wellness is embracing and celebrating that we are part of a larger community. We can all make a difference in changing and improving the lives of others -- while improving ourselves and serving as a role model for others. How do you get started performing community service? Or maybe you thought community service was only for young people. Or just maybe you felt like you did not have the time to commit to serving. The good news is there really is a plethora of opportunities to serve your community, from very small one-time gestures to massive efforts -- and you can decide how much and what type of service works best for you. So, here are 10 ideas to help you reach out to those in your community, and in doing so, improve your overall wellness and well-being. Before jumping into your community service plan, remember to think about a few issues, such as how much time you have to commit, the skills you can provide, and the types of volunteering you most desire. Reach out to a neighbor in need. Every neighborhood has people or families in need, from elderly or handicapped shut-ins to struggling single-parent households. Perform an act of random kindness. Pay the tolls for several people behind you. Give an umbrella to someone stuck in the pouring rain. Learn more ideas here: Random Acts of Kindness Foundation 3. Mentor children at your local school. All organizations that deal with children need adults of any age to work with the children in a variety of ways, from after-school tutoring to recreational and sports activities. Serve at a local soup kitchen or food bank. There is no greater gift than helping feed those in your community who are down on their luck and would go hungry if not for the service provided to them. You can help save the life of one or more people simply by giving a pint of your blood at your local blood bank or during bloodmobile visits to your community, school, or office. Volunteer at the local animal shelter, rescue group, or humane society. The animals are part of our communities too, and many of these shelters and rescue organizations need much help to achieve their missions. Visit a volunteering-related Website to find multiple opportunities to serve. One of the greatest benefits of the Internet is the amount of Websites that can help connect people with local organizations that desperately need help. Pick up trash along the road, at a local park, or along the banks of a river, stream, or lake. Many times there are organized efforts to clean some of these locations, but there is nothing stopping any of us from picking up litter when we see it. Put the butt in the trash, not on the ground. Help build a home with Habitat for Humanity. Working with Habitat not only literally builds the community, but also helps welcome a needy family who would not have a home without the help from people in the community. No building skills are necessary to volunteer. These and other local aid organizations are clearinghouses for many opportunities to serve in your local community, making a difference in the lives of your neighbors. Final Thoughts on Community Service Helping people in your community makes that community stronger and healthier -- and makes you stronger and healthier in the process. Performing community service is a very worthy endeavor that helps bring neighbors and others together, helping us all see the bigger picture of life we often miss in living our daily lives. By helping better others, you may end up bettering yourself in ways you never imagined. You may also learn new skills and obtain additional training -- all of which could help you discover a new career or find a better job. One other source for brainstorming ideas for community service: Community Service and Volunteering Quotes To keep you inspired, motivated, and involved, here are just a few inspiration quotes about volunteering and community service. For as much as government can do and must do, it is ultimately the faith and determination of the American people upon which this nation relies. You only need a heart full of grace. A soul generated by love Martin Luther King, Jr. It is one of the most beautiful compensations of this life that no man can sincerely try to help another without helping himself. Loving is the art of caring. Caring is the art of sharing. Sharing is the art of living. If you want to lift yourself up, lift up someone else. Infuse your life with action. Don't wait for it to happen. Make it happen. Make your own future. Make your own hope. Make your own love. And whatever your beliefs, honor your creator, not by passively waiting for grace to come down from upon high, but by doing what you can to make grace happen yourself, right now, right down here on Earth.
