So if you are visiting from there, welcome to the wonderful world of film star dining and drinking! Baked Beans for Bette: So 21 pounds of baked beans and fresh scrod left Boston by plane so Bette can have fishcakes and beans at a party in Hollywood tonight. Scrod is apparently a young fish such as cod or haddock so why not rustle up some David Niven Fishcakes too?! With ice cream for dessert perhaps? Wash beans and allow them to soak overnight in cold water to cover. In the morning, drain and cover with fresh water. Cook slowly "just below the boiling point" until skins will burst. This is determined by taking a few beans on a spoon and blowing on them gently. When skins of these beans will break and curl back then the rest of the beans are sufficiently cooked. Fill bean pot with cooked beans. Some people also like to add a small onion, minced fine, at this point. Pour boiling water over the salt pork, scrape the rind until it is white, then score deeply at half-inch intervals. Press pork down into beans so that only the rind is exposed. Combine salt, molasses and mustard. Add the boiling water. Pour this mixture over the beans and add enough water so that beans are just covered. If necessary, add a little water boiling during baking period so that the beans will not get too dry. Uncover pot during last hour to brown the pork. Serve in the pot in which they were cooked. This was the very first film star recipe I tried way back in "life was very different then!
