Sheet music from $ 10 Used from $ 1 New from $ The words and chords to 17 of their greatest hits.

A sample song is available in menu Help - Sample Song. Song List Songs are structured in categories. Categories are similar to folders on your computer. You can group songs in categories to help you organize them e. Just like folders on your computer, deleting a category will delete all songs in it. In addition, songs can also be organized in playlists and filtered by tags. Marked songs are displayed in grey. Marking also applies to all playlists in which the songs appear. When you restart the SongBook application, all songs are unmarked again. Song View The song view displays the current song with lyrics and chords. Click on a chord to look up the chord definitions. Chord, lyrics and tab font and color can be changed in Tools - Options - View. When you select View - Zoom - Auto-Zoom, SongBook will try to show the song as large as possible so it still fits on the screen without scrolling. To reset the font size select View - Zoom - Normal. Select View - All Song Chords to get an overview of all chords that appear in the current song. Initially, the most simple fingering of a chord is displayed the one in the lowest fret. Click on a chord to cycle through all definitions. Full Screen Mode To make maximum use of screen real-estate, SongBook can display a song in full screen mode where the whole screen is used to display the song. Menu and toolbar will be hidden. To switch off full screen mode, type ESC. When the line with this pause statement reaches the top of the screen, auto-scrolling will pause for this amount of time. You can also put that directive at the top of the song to delay the auto-scroll start. The Windows screensaver is suppressed while the song is auto-scrolling. Transposing With menu Tools - Transpose or the transpose buttons on the toolbar, SongBook lets you transpose a song to a different key by automatically adjusting all chords. Use the "All b" and "All " menus to convert all chords to their b equivalent or vice versa. The transposition is only temporary. To permanently change the tune, select menu Tools - Transpose - Save Transposed. You can use menu Tools - Transpose - Capo to define a fret for a capo. This works just like a transpose down the same number of steps, but will show a Capo: Note that if the song contains special chord definitions, these will usually no longer be valid after transposing. Use Tools - Play Music to play the linked music with a built-in mini music player. Alternatively, you can insert a link to an arbitrary file into the song drag the file from Explorer into the song editor , then click the link to open the associated program. This will only work on Windows, though. Note that PDFs cannot be edited, tagged or transposed. Zooming and scrolling is limited by the Acrobat Reader control. Song Edit You can edit songs or add new songs. The Edit - Chordpro menu lets you easily enter the most common chordpro control statements. There you can also find keyboard shortcuts for faster input. If you apply [] on a line with multiple words, each of them will treated as a chord and wrapped in []. Use Edit - Chordpro - Convert Tab To Chordpro to convert the current song or selected text from tab format where chords are on separate lines above the lyrics into the compact chordpro format used by SongBook. If you select exactly two lines of text, the first line will always be treated as chords, i. Tags To further organize your song collection, you can assign arbitrary tags to any song. Klick the Tags button in the main song list screen to filter songs by tags. When you remove a tag, the song is not deleted. However, if you delete all songs that contain a certain tag, that tag will disappear from the list of tags. Unlike with categories, songs can have several tags assigned. Playlists Playlists are collections of songs for a special purpose, e. You can add songs to multiple playlists, and one song can occur multiple times in one playlist. The playlist dropdown box will show the number of songs in that playlists in parentheses. To add songs to a playlist, right-click on a song in the list and select Add to Playlist To create a new playlist, right-click on a song in the song list, and select Add to Playlist To remove a song from a playlist right click on the song in the playlist and select Remove Playlists can automatically transpose songs to different keys. To store a different key for a song in a playlist, open the song from the playlist not from the song list , then transpose it as usual, but do not save the transposed song. If a playlist song has a different key then the original, the key will be shown inverse in the list. Playlists contain only references title and subtitle to the real song. If you delete the song, it is not automatically removed from the playlists. Chords and Instruments SongBook comes with comprehensive chord libraries for guitar, ukulele C and D tuning , mandolin, piano and others. To see the chord view, click on a chord in a song, or select Tools - Chords Chords are sorted by base pitch tone and name. Each chord can have several variations. SongBook knows about identical pitches e. You can add your own chords File - New Chord Right-click on a chord to find identical chords with different names or to add this specific chord definition to the song. To remove a custom chord from the database, click on it to edit and select Remove To change the currently used instrument, select it from the Instruments menu. This instrument is used for all chord lookups. Chord Edit You can change any chord in the chord database. Select the base fret in the dropdown to the right, then click on the finger boxes. If a string does not sound is muted , select the x above the string. You can edit it with a text editor. If you want your extra chords appear in the built-in SongBook chord libraries, please send us this file. License You can try SongBook Windows before you buy it. When you continue to use SongBook after an initial trial period, you must purchase a license key. Licensed users will receive free updates and support. Feedback Do you have a song that is not rendered correctly? Is an important chord missing in the chord database? Please let us know.
