

1: Dead of night: "Nightfall" brings surprises to Green-Wood Cemetery | Brooklyn Paper

National Historic Landmark cemetery in Brooklyn, New York. Featuring tours, events, and more in a place of unmatched art, architecture, nature, and history.

Battle Hill, the highest point in Brooklyn, is on cemetery grounds, rising approximately 100 feet above sea level. It was the site of an important action during the Battle of Long Island on August 27, 1776. Minerva, was erected there in 1852. It was a popular tourist destination in the 1800s, and by the early 1900s it was drawing annual crowds second in size only to Niagara Falls. Green-Wood Cemetery is still operating with approximately 150,000 graves and trees spread out over 147 acres. The rolling hills and dales, several ponds and an on-site chapel provide an environment that still draws visitors. In 1900 it received 1,000,000 visitors. This incorporates a sculpture of the ship, half-submerged by the waves, as well as a Civil War Memorial. The gates were designed by Richard Upjohn in Gothic Revival style. The main entrance to the cemetery was built in 1852 of Belleville, New Jersey brownstone. Out of that total, unidentified victims were interred in a common grave at Green-Wood Cemetery. An obelisk near the main entrance at Fifth Avenue and 25th Street marks the burial site. More than two dozen identified victims were interred individually in separate sections at the Cemetery of the Evergreens in Brooklyn. One early regulation was that no one executed for a crime, or even dying in jail, could be buried there. Although he died in the Ludlow Street Jail, the family of the infamous "Boss" Tweed managed to circumvent this rule. It was designed by the architectural firm of Warren and Wetmore, who also designed Grand Central Terminal, the Commodore Hotel, the Yale Club and many other buildings. There was vandalism on August 21, 1900, one of the worst cases encountered in Green-Wood. Individual 10 was said to have jumped the fence and damaged about 50 monuments and memorials. On October 13, 1900, another Angel of Music, to replace the one vandalized in 1900, this one made by sculptors Giancarlo Biagi and Jill Burkee, was unveiled to memorialize Louis Moreau Gottschalk. These early graves have either sunk into the soil, been damaged, or have their markers erased.

2: Green-Wood Cemetery in Brooklyn, New York - Find A Grave Cemetery

Green-Wood Cemetery was founded in 1831 as a rural cemetery in Kings County, New York. Like other early rural cemeteries, Green-Wood was founded in a time of rapid urbanization when churchyards in New York City were becoming overcrowded.

3: Burial Search | Green-Wood

The Green-wood Cemetery was founded in 1831 by Henry Evelyn Pierrepont. The original layout for the cemetery was designed by landscape architect David Bates Douglass. The 147 acres have a varied terrain and feature both the highest point in Brooklyn (Battle Hill) and four glacial kettle ponds. It.

4: Green-Wood Cemetery, Brooklyn - TripAdvisor

Brooklyn's Green-Wood Cemetery - New York's Buried Treasure by Jeffrey I. Richman is full of interesting stories and anecdotes of New York's most colorful citizens. As the dust jacket so eloquently states: "Everybody loves a great story, and Brooklyn's Green-Wood Cemetery has many of New York's great stories to tell."

5: Brooklyn's Green-Wood Cemetery Celebrates 175 Years | National Trust for Historic Preservation

Green-Wood Cemetery was actually the original Central Park, in the sense that this was the green space for weary city-folk to come hang to commune with nature (and the dead). It could also be said Père Lachaise Cemetery in Paris is the original Green-Wood but we're not going back that far.

BROOKLYNS GREEN-WOOD CEMETERY pdf

6: Greenwood Heights, Brooklyn - Wikipedia

Deep in Brooklyn's interior lies Green-Wood Cemetery, one of the largest and most prominent burial grounds in the United States. In the 19th and early 20th centuries, Green-Wood was a premier.

7: Green-Wood Cemetery 25th St Brooklyn, NY Funeral Homes - MapQuest

I have been to the cemetery many times for many reasons. Some sorrowful, some educational and something fun. Come to Greenwood cemetery to memorialize loved ones or check out their website for educational historical tour, Birding or just a nice walk around.

8: Brooklyn's Beautiful Green-Wood Cemetery is a Crowd-Pleaser

A new cemetery, Green-wood, was proposed by Brooklyn socialite Henry Pierrepont and laid out (no pun intended) after the then-current English style of cemetery having an informal park-like setting.

9: Green-Wood | National Historic Landmark in Brooklyn, New York

Brooklyn's Green-Wood Cemetery is the subject of a new exhibit at the Museum of the City of New York.

Saint Patricks Day School Finance update MY MOM MADE ME GO TO CAMP (Little Rooster Book) Takeover of LIFFE (Holdings plc by Euronext UK plc Android application development basics Proceedings of the Regional Symposium on Harmonisation of Laws on Children in Eastern Southern Africa Blogilates 28 day meal plan The Halachot of the Ben Ish Hai: Volume Two: First Year Governance power and policy All Sorts of Advice The Raiders Bride The sources of political legitimacy New York insomnia Friends, No Matter What (Cover-to-Cover Books) Math assessment fifth grade Studies of behavioral quiescence in the nematode Caenorhabditis elegans David M. Raizen Be Rich Leaders Guide Models for drama management and interacting with stories The origins of the First Amendment and the question of original meaning What Lips My Lips Have Kissed Maker for windows 8 Home planners 250 homes Specialized techniques in psychotherapy The Most Difficult Journey Youll Ever Make: The Pilgrims Progress Causation of loss Yr Friends from Ses ST II-III. Complete prose works. Article by Howard T. Konig The Florentine dagger Arnold schwarzenegger pumping iron book Scripture tests of Christian discipleship The anatomy of an equivalent Macromedia Flash MX ActionScript First Aid for My Horse Cash for the Final Days Forget about everything you think you know about the statute of limitations Resurrection : past, present and future (15:1-58) Overlord vol 13 raw Amitav Ghosh (Contemporary World Writers) Collection and publication of tobacco statistics.