Business law case studies involve a dispute between two legal entities regarding such issues. The students of law schools are given such situations of dispute in order to come up with possible legal solutions. Any law student will vouch for the fact that such legal case studies are exciting and at the same time challenging. Here are some of the broad areas of dispute which can also serve as subjects for potential legal cases. Why are business law cases a nightmare for students? Students need help to write business law case studies since such case studies are quite complex and challenging. A case may invite various legal precedents. Several overlapping laws might be applicable to a single case. All these are issues which need to be considered while writing law case studies. Can someone help with these business law cases? Have a look at the exceptional features that differentiate Myassignmenthelp. A sneak peak into business law cases for students that we assist with: Banks are financial institutions which are regulated by legal statutes. Such laws may operate both at the state level as well as at the federal level. Banking laws control interest rates, operations of checking accounts, receipt and transfer of checks and other negotiable instruments, insurance amount for deposits etc. Bankruptcy laws provide for reduction and elimination of dischargeable debts and can also provide timeline for the repayment of certain non-dischargeable debts. Disputes arising between consumers and credit card companies are dealt under such laws. A contract is a legal agreement between two people, that creates certain obligations which are enforceable by law. Disputes arising out of breach of contract are quite common. Tenancy laws govern the agreements between tenants and landlords for residential and commercial property. Disputes regarding terms of tenancy contract can be encountered every now and then. A mortgage involves the transfer of a landed property as a security for loans from banks and other financial institutions. Transactions for the sale and the leasing of goods are governed by sale laws. Most of the disputes are related to the terms of the sales agreement. Have a look at the business law case examples we help you deal with: Here are examples of business laws from a variety of legal scenarios. All these examples have been taken from actual case studies given to students at legal schools. Consumer law example Mr. George Tillman recently returned a leased car to GM. However, they charged him for not returning the service history and the manual with the car. Tillman is not willing to pay anything back to the company since he claims that he has not received any service history or manual from the supplier from whom the car was leased. Give legal advice to Tillman. Case brief A legal dispute between GM and George Tillman for not fulfilling the legal obligations under the lease agreement between the two. Legal rationale Under the lease agreement Tillman and GM, the former is liable to pay for any damage or loss caused to the property of the company. However, Tillman claims that there has been no violation of law since he has not received any service history or manual from the supplier. He has a written proof of that. Further, under consumer law, Tillman has a right to protect his consumer interests. Legal advice Tillman should write a letter to GM stating that he was unable to return the service history and car manual since he has not received them from the suppliers. Further, he has a written proof of them. He must also write to the supplier stating that if the case goes up to the court of law, then he is under law to implicate the supplier as the primary party responsible for the dispute. The software company gave a total estimate of 10, dollars for a total work of 20 days. It was agreed between the two companies that HDC would be paying SDC 30 percent before the beginning of the work, 60 percent after the initial version and 10 percent on completion. After 10 days, of work SDC wrote a letter that the work will take more time since their chief software developer has left the company. After 15 days SDC wrote back saying that they would be only able to deliver the source codes and would provide an assistant developer who will finish the rest of the work. After 20 days, when HDC asked for the final version, SDC told them that it can provide them with 80 percent of the work and would like the 60 percent as promised. However, fearing non-completion of the project, HDC canceled the contract and asked for a full refund. Our law assignment services have proven to be immensely beneficial for our students.
