This time I read it using an online service which you can subscribe to here. I highly recommend it as a painless way to read though the CCC in a year. You only receive emails during the week; two days off for week-ends. Even if you get behind you can catch-up later just by saving the email notifications. They also offer a similar service to learn the Popes in a year. The papal in This was my third full time to read the Catechism all the way through, though I have read many parts of it piecemeal. The papal information often verged on the silly to me, but I suppose that was to lighten the serious subject nature. I found it irksome. The Catechism material is presented in a straightforward manner, no silliness. It is not in lieu of reading the actual Catechism, however. It is just a question and answer about a section of the material. Then you are encouraged to go to the actual text and read more. Effective way to study this important document for all Catholics. The first time I did it on my own with a video series. I wish I could say it was. For years I approached the Catechism tentatively and with trepidation, as though it would be much too difficult for the average Catholic such as myself to understand, failing to appreciate as most people do that the average Catholic is precisely who the book is written for and to. The advantage of the on-line versions are the almost infinite number of links! And much sooner than I expected to. My review is going to take a little while however as I want to go back over my highlights and margin notes before writing anything. So glad I read it! Thanks Nicola for the quotes! I have highlighted so many good ones in my own copy. Need to go back when I finish and enter at least some of them! Nov 23, Update: Oct 26, Update: Have finished the first 5 Parts in "The Pilgrimage of Faith" study and they are excellent, but the Catechism itself is the real treasure. Little did I know then the long arduous process this book had to undergo to make its way to that bookstore. My other thought was, "Vatican II ended in Why has it taken almost thirty years to publish a new catechism? Now I have this study guide called:
