Now you have a blank slate to create a terrifically cute turkey! Shaving Cream Instead of painting on feathers with regular temperas, make your own puffy paint. Add water colors to shaving cream, mix and spread the paint across the hand-print turkey. You can also add Thumb Print Pumpkins Pour small pools of orange paint onto a paper plate. Repeat as many times as they want. Glitter Pumpkins Did you run out of time to carve your pumpkin? Paint it with clear-drying Thanksgiving Family Fall Leaf Craft Gather around the holiday dinner table and telling everyone what or who you are thankful for is a Thanksgiving tradition in many families. Start by gathering colorful fall leaves. With a few simple prep steps your kiddo can help the whole family to start a brand-new tradition that you can add to each year! Your child can add to the already colorful leaves by How much leftover Halloween candy do you have? After trick or treat night is over, your kiddos count their stash. So what can you do with the mountain of Halloween candy? Well you could throw it out. But that might not go over well with the kids. Or you can try one of these creative candy-eating alternatives. If candy corn is a holiday staple in your home, and you have plenty of leftovers, use the hardened excess sweets in a totally new way. Repurpose the candy corn, using it as an imaginative art material. Leave some as is and group the rest into several different piles. Place a piece of wax November 14th marks World Diabetes Day. And that means your family has the chance to learn about this chronic condition and help to raise awareness. Educating yourself and your family and raising overall awareness helps to build support for the growing number of people affected by this disease. How can you raise diabetes awareness? Support a Campaign Diabetes organizations across the country and around the world have various campaigns to raise both This October 16th day points out hunger-related issues, giving global life to the cause. While teens and adults can easily understand the issues surrounding hunger, younger children may need help to get the message. Why is it important for young children to understand hunger-related issues? Starting early helps the child grow into an adult who is compassionate and cares about global causes. How can you help your child to learn about science? Go outside and look for birds, bugs or different kinds of plants. The kids need costumes, you have to stock up on candy and there might be a holiday party to plan. Along with the festive fun, you also want your Halloween to be a safe one. With that in mind, check out these must-try safety activities for kids. Look Both Ways Trick-or-treat night is a time-honored tradition. Discuss looking both ways before crossing the street, practicing on a non-Halloween day. Get crafty with your family and create your own spooky version instead! Not only will you get a creepy cool holiday decoration from this activity, but the kids can flex their artistic muscles and enjoy the craft-making experience. Start with a cardboard base. Cut the board into a doughnut shape and paint it black and orange Halloween colors.

GM inline 4-cylinder 2. Variations in the design of these parts make different propellers suitable for different applications. The blade tip is the point of the blade furthest from the center of the propeller hub or propeller shaft bore. The blade tip separates the leading edge from the trailing edge. The leading edge is the edge of the blade nearest the boat. During forward operation, this is the area of the blade that first cuts through the water. The trailing edge is the surface of the blade furthest from the boat. During reverse operation, this is the area of the blade that first cuts through the water. At sea, it can mean your life. To keep your engine running right, you must follow a regular program of preventative maintenance. Part of any preventative maintenance program is a thorough engine tune-up. A tune-up is a series of accurate adjustments necessary to restore maximum power and performance. In addition, some ignition parts which deteriorate with use must be replaced. Engine tune-ups are generally recommended at 50 hour intervals. If the engine is used infrequently, a tune up should be performed at least once a season. Tune-up specifications are provided in Table 6 at the end of the chapter. Late model engines may have a decal containing the engine serial number and tune-up specifications Figure If so equipped, follow the specifications given on the decal even if they differ from those provided in Table 6. A tune-up consists of the following: Ignition system work c. Carburetor inspection and adjustment Subject:
