Double or Nothing is a multimedia content platform founded by Skye Parrott and Erin Dixon.

You know, the revoltingly disgusting, singing type of pony that usually awakens the homicidal maniac in me and stuff? Oh yes, edible ponies! Thanks for cluing me in, Ridiculous Man in Silly Costume! My loaning Daniel to Caitlin is temporary, and will only last while I am otherwise engaged with a certain Butcher of Merida. And that, my Little Barnacles is a scientifically proven fact. Mobsters and demons and magician hats and drug wars and hippo men and murder by time travel and playing cards and knife-wielding rats and magic wands and heists and amoral everyone and everything, oh my! Gasping non-stop I am! MY Daniel Faust is now a spoiler spoiler spoiler!! You are quite welcome. Woot woot woot, yay yay yay, hip hop hip hurray and stuff! This is the seventh instalment in this series. But any other author Craig Schaefer is not. Ergo, into this most pathetic trap fall he did not. Wait till you read this book. There are much, much, much, MUCH more versatile, deadlier niftier knives out there. The utter fabulousness of what follows shall therefore be totally lost on you. This is my beloved, abominably vicious cat Medea. Because some things are just not done and stuff. Just so you know. Stun guns are underrated.

Other The Double or Nothing is a sidestyle yo-yo mount that is the basis for many sidestyle yo-yo tricks. If the mount is thrown so the first loop goes round the thumb of the non-yo hand instead of the index finger it is referred to as a Houdini mount. Double or Nothing is basically a Man on the Flying Trapeze with one extra wrap around both hands. Contents Getting into a Double or Nothing Step 1: Start with a Breakaway and let the yo-yo swing over to your free hand. Put your free hand index finger in the path of the string and let the yo-yo swing around it. Compared to Man on the Flying Trapeze , the yo-yo is a lot farther away from your index finger. Let it continue upwards The image shows how the segment between the two hands is not really taut here. This lets the yo-yo continue almost freely in a parabolic trajectory. Triple or Nothing Step 1: Triple or Nothing 3or0 is a variation, where the yo-yo is swung once more around the two index fingers. It starts at Step 7 of Double or nothing. Let the yo-yo once more round your free hand index finger Step 3: When it rounds the finger, move your hands even closer together, resulting in a little slack in the three segments between the hands. Again over your throw hand index finger Flyaway dismount Now, how do you get out of this wrap? This is very similar to the flyaway dismount with a trapeze. Pull your hands apart. As this catapults the yo-yo up, drop the string loops from your two hands. The yo-yo starts to draw them out of your hands. Here goes the first loop from the free hand See how the yo-yo The windmill dismount will leave you in a trapeze. Shown here for a 3or0, the same method applies for 2or0. Drop the loops from Now pick up some swing By now the windmills around your index finger are gone and the yo-yo swings Absolute Zero Dismount Step 1: This dismount is the beginning for the yo-yo trick Absolute Zero. It should be done with an unresponsive yo-yo. This one works nicely for Double or Nothing, but is not recommended for Triple or Nothing. Toss up the yo-yo while dropping the first loop around your free hand index finger. Note, that the loop around the throw hand index finger stays put. This is a bit confusing in this picture. The yo-yo flies up Drop the loop from your throw hand finger. Bring your hand further apart
