This ESL basic grammar and writing course bundle provides an introduction to the basics of American English grammar and writing. We'll be covering the following topics in detail: review the basic English structure in the form of nouns, verbs, prepositions, adjectives and adverbs.

We offer a variety of courses and schedules so that each student can enroll in a program of study that fits their calendars as well as their needs. In addition to designing programs that fit the needs and schedules of students, CISL helps students to be capable users of English through its commitment to small class sizes. All CISL group courses have a maximum of either four or eight students per class. Small classes help students to feel more comfortable and confident, provide students with a lot of individual attention from instructors, and allow instructors to get to know students and their needs well. Students improve their general English language skills and, just as importantly, they learn how to be better communicators, how to use English in different situations, how to interact with people from different cultures, and how to be better language learners. Monday – Friday, 9: Students in the English in Use Course are assigned a collaborative project to complete each week. Each collaborative project assignment is designed to give students the opportunity to put their English knowledge and skills into practice. Monday – Thursday, 1: Maximum 8 students per class Required level: Students in the course focus on building vocabulary and perfecting pronunciation with lessons that emphasize useful vocabulary, targeted pronunciation practice, and conversational application. Students will be able to use English to express ideas, give opinions, participate in conversations and have discussions with their classmates. Students learn communication skills required in business settings, how to confidently discuss popular topics in business, and how to communicate with business people from other cultures with tact. Students may enroll solely in private lessons or add them to any other course up to 30 per week. Over 20, universities, employers, and governments around the world accept Cambridge English exams. OR 28 lessons per week San Diego Only: The TOEFL is recognized by colleges, universities, and agencies in more than countries around the world. Students in the course will receive guided help in developing their academic skills in listening, speaking, reading, and writing as well as using effective strategies for taking the official IELTS exam. The course is divided into four three-week units; students can take one, two, three, or four units of the course. The committed instructors are experienced in both English education and the business world and will challenge and guide the students through this rigorous program. The Global Success Course curriculum is based on the needs and goals of the students currently in each class, so students can gain the English skills they need quickly. There is an instructor available to assist students who have questions. Students can work on English homework, read an English text, or do some other activity related to their English studies. Students with an F-1 student visa must be enrolled in a full-time course 18 or more hours per week in order to maintain their visa status. F-1 students who enroll in a lesson-per-week course are required to attend Study Hall for 1. It is popular with recent high school graduates taking a gap year and with students who want to attend an American university. Ambitious students who want to experience American college life can appreciate the adventure of studying in a college in a new country with the support of CISL along the way. CISL helps students to prepare for their semester academically, personally, and linguistically. Before the college semester, students have already made friends at CISL, honed their general and academic English skills, and received guidance and advice from the CISL staff so that they can enjoy their college experience without stress. Morning Courses Monday – Friday, 9: The CISL Pathway Program waives the English proficiency admission requirements at partner schools, but students still must apply for admission to the college or university. Contact the partner schools directly for admission requirements and application instructions. This is not a job training program. Placement is subject to a successful interview. Students provide their top three choices of desired fields and should have prior education or experience in those fields. We offer the following program options: I love the way we learn English here. Teachers are very positive and their methods are really nice. My classes are so great! When I wake up in the morning, I am happy to go to school here. Subscribe to our mailing list.
