The phrase "as it is written" is used by the writer to add emphasis or to support their argument or teaching. In the New Testament, the only Bible they had at the time was the Old Testament. The entire Bible wasn't completed until A.D. 96 with the book of Revelation.

The fact is every way suggestive. A prominence was thus given to that portion of the book, which made it an essential part of the education of every Israelite. The words which our Lord now uses had, we must believe, been familiar to Him from His childhood, and He had read their meaning rightly. With them He may have sustained the faith of others in the struggles of the Nazareth home with poverty and want. And now He finds in them a truth which belongs to His high calling as well as to His life of lowliness. In so losing His life, if that should be the issue, He is certain that He shall save it. As this act of faith throws us back on the training of the childhood, so we trace its echoes in the after-teaching of the Sermon on the Mount Matthew 6: The experience of the wilderness clothed the history of the bread from heaven with a new significance. Pulpit Commentary Verse 4. Some portion of Deuteronomy Deuteronomy 6: Possibly, though there is no evidence upon the subject, the neighbouring portions were often added. It is equivalent to "Man lives, not necessarily by natural means, but by even supernatural means, if God so wishes. The words of Deuteronomy are paraphrased in Wisd. Matthew Henry Commentary 4: But if the Holy Spirit witness to our being adopted as children of God, that will answer all the suggestions of the evil spirit. Christ was directed to the combat. If we presume upon our own strength, and tempt the devil to tempt us, we provoke God to leave us to ourselves. Others are tempted, when drawn aside of their own lust, and enticed, Jas 1: In the temptation of Christ it appears that our enemy is subtle, spiteful, and very daring; but he can be resisted. It is a comfort to us that Christ suffered, being tempted; for thus it appears that our temptations, if not yielded to, are not sins, they are afflictions only. Satan aimed in all his temptations, to bring Christ to sin against God. It is one of the wiles of Satan to take advantage of our outward condition; and those who are brought into straits have need to double their guard. Christ answered all the temptations of Satan with It is written; to set us an example, he appealed to what was written in the Scriptures. This method we must take, when at any time we are tempted to sin. Let us learn not to take any wrong courses for our supply, when our wants are ever so pressing: Nor are any extremes more dangerous than despair and presumption, especially in the affairs of our souls. Satan has no objection to holy places as the scene of his assaults. Let us not, in any place, be off our watch. The holy city is the place, where he does, with the greatest advantage, tempt men to pride and presumption. All high places are slippery places; advancements in the world makes a man a mark for Satan to shoot his fiery darts at. Is Satan so well versed in Scripture as to be able to quote it readily? It is possible for a man to have his head full of Scripture notions, and his mouth full of Scripture expressions, while his heart is full of bitter enmity to God and to all goodness. Satan misquoted the words. This passage, De 8: This promise is firm and stands good. But shall we continue in sin, that grace may abound? Satan tempted Christ to idolatry with the offer of the kingdoms of the world, and the glory of them. The glory of the world is the most charming temptation to the unthinking and unwary; by that men are most easily imposed upon. Christ was tempted to worship Satan. He rejected the proposal with abhorrence. Get thee hence, Satan! Some temptations are openly wicked; and they are not merely to be opposed, but rejected at once. It is good to be quick and firm in resisting temptation. If we resist the devil he will flee from us. But the soul that deliberates is almost overcome. We find but few who can decidedly reject such baits as Satan offers; yet what is a man profited if he gain the whole world, and lose his own soul? Christ was succoured after the temptation, for his encouragement to go on in his undertaking, and for our encouragement to trust in him; for as he knew, by experience, what it was to suffer, being tempted, so he knew what it was to be succoured, being tempted; therefore we may expect, not only that he will feel for his tempted people, but that he will come to them with seasonable relief.

2: As It Is Written

This book, As It Is Written, is designed in particular to contrast the differences between the "Framework Hypothesis" interpretation of the Genesis account in light of a "Literal six, twenty-four hour Creationist" interpretation. Dr.

Your work really is a brilliant book which lived up to all my expectations so many thanks for that. I do hope that my few words will encourage others to buy your book which really does deserve to be read widely! Hope to get my hands on some more of your stuff soon. And, no doubt, Dr Gentry and all who agree with him will be ridiculed as "science deniers" for holding to what the Bible says in Genesis chapter one. Dr Gentry helps us to do just that with his well researched and well written defense of the literal six day creation. Valdez on 6th Apr I just wanted to tell you that I read your new book and I loved it! The topic of the paper was: It was very well recieved. I highly recommended your book! In addition, I would like to travel with your book and make it available as part of the resources we offer. Although I disagree with the Young Earth approach, Gentry did a good job of examining the Framework Hypothesis method of interpretation. On the other hand, if we understand the perspective or Frame of Reference of the creation narrative, then we will understand the revelation of the events which are accurately given in sequential days in the order they actually occurred. The progressive creation of the universe parallels the progressive historical redemptive plan of Scripture. If you believe this, then you might call yourself a Progressive Postmillennialist. Please reference Navigating Genesis Dr. Gentry for your eschatology. I highly recommend this book Posted by L. This certainly reveals something significant about the importance of reading the Bible. Peter said every believer should be ready to give a defense of our hope in Christ as Lord, yet to do it with gentleness and respect I myself have failed many times to be gentle and respectful and have felt a lot of shame as a result. The apostle Paul wrote one of his strongest defenses of the gospel against those who were teaching that they had to keep the Law and become Jewish to be saved. He said, "not that there is another one, but there are some who trouble you and want to distort the gospel of Christ. But even if we or an angel from heaven should preach to you a gospel contrary to the one we preached to you, let him be accursed. As we have said before, so now I say again: If anyone is preaching to you a gospel contrary to the one you received, let him be accursed. So Paul was very upset because they were actually changing the message of salvation. And that is why we have the practice of apologetics today in the Church. For example, the early Christians believed what Jesus taught about having the freedom to eat any kind of food as long as we give thanks to God for it. They also warned against the popular teaching of that time that said we must avoid eating certain things in order to be holy or pleasing to God. In 1 Timothy 4: For everything created by God is good, and nothing is to be rejected if it is received with thanksgiving, for it is made holy by the word of God and prayer. This means God really wanted us to know that in the last days people would start leaving the truth for other beliefs. Paul even said that false beliefs are from "the teachings of demons. Another teaching was that they would require people not to eat certain foods, and he adds, "that God created to be received with thanksgiving by those who believe and know the truth. Another area that the New Testament makes really clear is our need to discern the difference between true and false teachers. Jesus warned that many false teachers would come in His name, but that we should not follow them. The way Jesus taught us to tell the difference was by their message and their lifestyle. He said you can judge a tree by its fruits. A good tree makes good fruit but a bad tree produces bad fruit. We just have to know what it is. A simple way to do that is to just know the gospel really well and know who Jesus is according to the Bible. The Bible shows that most deception involves a distortion of who Jesus is and what the message of the true gospel is. Since the it teaches that Jesus is God in human flesh John 1: Oneness Pentacostals, such as T. Jakes and others, deny the doctrine of the Trinity, which can be seen on almost every page of Scripture. The reason it is so important is because the letter of 1 John makes our belief about who Jesus is one of the tests of true faith. The other problem that comes up is the message of the gospel. We are made new in Christ, so that we live for Him and His eternal Kingdom now. All of those things are good and necessary when properly used. But none of those can make it possible for us to go to heaven, because that is a free gift. Yet that is precisely what many false teachers denied back then and still deny today. I used to go to a church in Pittsburgh that denied salvation by grace through faith alone. James chapter 2 also warns us about those who say they have faith, but who do not have good works to back it up. He taught that our faith is rather proven to be genuine by our life of humble obedience, love for others, and good works, though they do not earn our salvation. There are other ways the truth is denied by false teachers, but these are some of the most important ways the Bible warns us about. Peter said that the "ignorant and unstable" distort the Scriptures 2 Peter 3: Jude said they pervert the grace of God into immorality and deny Jesus Jude v. Jude may have had Exodus That was because all authority is given by God. Even though many authorities might not be just or act rightly, they are still to be spoken of respectfully in fear of God. But false teachers usually reject the authority of good Christian pastors and teachers, and they speak badly of them, and often set themselves up as their own authority. Most of the New Testament was written in response to these very problems. And thank God He gave us all this information ahead of time, so that we know exactly how we can please Him and bring glory to His name by an assured faith! It is so wonderful that we know these things, because the more we stand firm in the truth delivered to us, the harder it will be to distract us from glorifying the Lord Jesus by our lives, and

God will be praised! Some people are easily led astray by conspiracies, and we can all be affected by them if we are not careful. A verse that has been a good encouragement to me in confusing situations is Isaiah 8: But the LORD of hosts, him you shall honor as holy. Let him be your fear, and let him be your dread. Of course, no church is perfect, but neither are we. So I wrote all this because I hope it will encourage you not to let many of the confusing things out there get you down. I also know of many other ways our hope in God and His Word can be hindered by Satan through false teachings, but I wanted to write to warn you of those things which can quickly make us forget how the Bible says we already have everything we need in Jesus Christ our Lord!

As it is written, There is none righteous, no, not one: As it is. Romans God forbid: yea, let God be true, but every man a liar; as it is written, That thou mightest be justified in thy sayings, and mightest overcome when thou art judged.

This phrase is often overlooked and taken for granted, but what does it mean? Why did God use this phrase so often in the Bible? The Bible is our instruction manual. God could have just made a statement and not emphasized what is being taught with a reference to another Scripture; but He chose to quote Scriptures. Jesus continually quoted the Bible, as in Matthew 4: It is important to notice that Satan attacked Jesus all three times by twisting the meaning of the Bible, and Jesus resisted the Devil all three times by accurately quoting the Bible. We see here the importance of knowing our Bible well. No wonder Jesus commanded in John 5: We read an interesting passage of Scripture in Isaiah For precept must be upon precept, precept upon precept; line upon line, line upon line; here a little, and there a little. I have attempted through my online ministry to keep things as simple as possible, to provide basic information to get people started in their quest for knowledge and wisdom, to point people in the right direction. The more I learn, the more I realize how much there is still to learn. For men shall be lovers of their own selves, covetous, boasters, proud, blasphemers, disobedient to parents, unthankful, unholy Ever learning, and never able to come to the knowledge of the truth. Could not God be an alien? Yes, of course, by every definition of the word. I marvel how men can believe in aliens, but not a God. There is a God, and He authored the Bible. God has preserved the King James Bible in English for these Last Days, as English is fast-becoming the universal language of the world. God knew that when He gave to us the inspired King James Bible. Truth begins with the acceptance of Jesus as the Christ, the only begotten Son of God Who came into the world to save sinners. Truth begins with understanding that Satan is the god of this world 2nd Corinthians 4: Evil has found a willing servant. These are the basic understandings that you must possess when you begin a journey into the occult, Luciferianism, Satanism or the New World Order, for they are all synonymous at the most basic levels. Ultimately there is only God and Satan in the spirit world, and Satan is already a defeated being Revelation When I began this ministry back in , I wanted to create an online database of truth. I wanted to publish a website that gave people the truth about everything, to glorify God by helping people learn the truth.
