There are many relations like son, daughter, brother, sister, father, mother and many other. But one best relation which is very important is friendship. Friendship is love between friends. There are many sayings and quotes about friendship, you can share with your friends. True friendship should go long with life. You should take care of your friends. It will increase your friendly nature. Who do you run to whenever you feel sad, your friend? Who do you call whenever you need something, your friend? With whom you share your victory, your friend? Who can you trust blindly, your friend? Friendship day Quotes For Best Friends Answer to all these questions is only one; it is your friends only who you look upon to as they look upon to you in the time of need, happiness, sadness or whatever the situation may be. Of course, in all these situations, your family stands by your side because they are your family and sometimes they have to be there for you. But when it comes to your friends, they stand by your side because they are your friends; you share this beautiful bond of friendship with them that binds you for a lifetime. We cannot choose our family because we do not have a choice as where we take birth, it becomes our family and it is not in our hands to take birth at a place of our choice. But God has given us the privilege of choosing a friend. Friends are the family that we choose and treasure for our whole life. Not all friendships are made of choice, some are the result of situation and such friendships are no less than a blessing as you never knew when someone would become a friend for life. Friendship is not about whom you have known the longest and with whom you share the most. It is about who came and never left your side no matter how good or bad life was. It is about the people who know the real you and never leave your side even if you are wrong sometimes. They always stick around and offer their hand whenever you are down. Friendship needs no promises, no demands, and no expectations. It just needs sincerity, loyalty and trust. If you fail to find a good friend, then be one so that when someone finds you, at least their search of a good friend can finish. The only way to have a friend is to be one. Do not forget to treasure all such people in your life as they are the precious gems that nothing can replace. Be a good friend and enjoy your day with your friends. 3: The Best Friendship Quotes - 1 to 10

Friendship Quotes organized by Most Popular Happiness comes in many formsâ€”in the company of good friends, in the feeling you get when you make someone else's dream come true, or in the promise of hope renewed.

One true friend adds more to our happiness than a thousand enemies add to our unhappiness. It is then burst into flame by an encounter with another human being. We should all be thankful for those people who rekindle the inner spirit. Glasgow The friend is the man who knows all about you, and still likes you. Think up something appropriate and do it. A man should keep his friendships in constant repair. Lawrence Friendship is unnecessary, like philosophy, like art It has no survival value; rather it is one of those things that give value to survival. Lewis Constant use will not wear ragged the fabric of friendship. But the best ship of all is friendship. She gather me, man. The pieces I am, she gather them and give them back to me in all the right order. Not the saying but the never needing to say is what counts. The holly is dark when the rose briar blooms, But which will bloom most constantly? Such a friend is true, and all he says is true; and he loves you even if he hates you in other mansions of his heart. We must not be enemies. Though passion may have strained, it must not break our bonds of affection. The mystic cords of memory will swell when again touched as surely they will be by the better angels of our nature. We are friends and I would miss you, do miss you and think of you very often. Those you need, and those who need you. The friend who can be silent with us in a moment of despair or confusion, who can stay with us in an hour of grief and bereavement, who can tolerate not knowing, not curing, not healing and face with us the reality of our powerlessness, that is a friend who cares. Full friendship is the selfishness and the unselfishness, at once, of two, bound into twinship fair of soul and spirit. Seek you then for friend one whom you understand down to the depths, up to the heights, of being, whose soul meets yours with the same understanding. Then may you say, "I have, he has, a friend! Martin, A Dance with Dragons, Friendship is a sheltering tree. Montgomery, Anne of Green Gables A journey is best measured in friends, rather than miles. Oh, the comfort â€” the inexpressible comfort of feeling safe with a person â€” having neither to weigh thoughts nor measure words, but pouring them all right out, just as they are, chaff and grain together; certain that a faithful hand will take and sift them, keep what is worth keeping, and then with the breath of kindness blow the rest away. Her Story," A true friend unbosoms freely, advises justly, assists readily, adventures boldly, takes all patiently, defends courageously, and continues a friend unchangeably. They let you relate to other human beings in a way that goes beyond being physically together and is often more profound. The hand of an old friend. A single soul dwelling in two bodies. Women treat it like glass and it goes to pieces. Bury the carcass of friendship: The fact is, one grows out of people, and the only thing is to face it. Before him I may think aloud. I am arrived at last in the presence of a man so real and equal, that I may drop even those undermost garments of dissimulation, courtesy, and second thought, which men never put off, and may deal with him with the simplicity and wholeness with which one chemical atom meets another.
