

1: What's Gnawing At My Heart?

The basic material here--a couple of crucial days in the life of a black college senior--is more suited to a short story than full-length fiction. But Branch has filled out the few incidents with a flood of mini-flashbacks, and the result is a decent, if undistinguished, first novel: intensely.

No matter how well we eat or live or how much attention we give to staying fit and healthy, eventually, everyone dies. That being said, I ache when I think of this world without you. There will be a hole in the hearts of many when you are gone. However, there is something else gnawing on my soul. And honestly, it is a question I should have asked you long ago: When I say ready I mean are you prepared for eternal life? Do you know, beyond a doubt, that your eternal destiny is heaven? I recognize that there is a lot of debate nowadays about the afterlife. Some think we simply cease to exist. For them, life on this planet is all there is and all that matters. Some believe our eternal destination is determined by our works. Others believe that all men go to heaven. Of course, neither can I. Nevertheless, Morgan, as controversial as this issue may be, the Bible is, in fact, very clear. Anyone who clings to me in faith, even though he dies, will live forever. The Apostle Paul, who wrote nearly half of the New Testament, made the path to our salvation clear as well: For it was only through this wonderful grace that we believed in him. Nothing we did could ever earn this salvation, for it was the gracious gift from God that brought us to Christ! So no one will ever be able to boast, for salvation is never a reward for good works or human striving. So how does anyone get saved or know eternal life? By believing and receiving. We believe that Jesus is the way, the truth, and the life John We believe that He is the only one who can save us from our sins Acts4: And we believe that He lives today, preparing an eternal dwelling for those who are His John And then we receive. But I have one more thing to say. What do you potentially lose if you still choose to believe and receive Jesus as your Savior? What if there is a path to eternal life but you reject it? What do you lose then? My friend, I want to spend eternity with you. I want your kids and grandkids who do believe to be with you forever. How tragic would that be, my friend? Yes Jesus, I accept what You did for me on that cross. Yes, I want to spend eternity with you. If so, eternity with God and your kids and grandkids is at stake, and this is something worth thoughtfully considering. Please know I am praying for you. But above all, know I long for you to belong to Jesus, now and forever because you chose to believe. In His grace and hopefully yours,.

It only laughs in my face. It seems as though God Allows me just enough peace To make me thirst for more. I beg for more, But the pain sets in again. I know He hears me; Why is he doing nothing? Or do I just not see His actions? He hugs me, but I refuse to feel it; Emersed in my habitual self-pity. He kisses me on the cheek; But I just stare at Him. Confused by emotions unable to be controlled. You lift me up only to throw me back down Or is that my clumsy faith that tosses me? I then realize my reliance is not in Him. It finally dawns on me How selfish I have been. When I truly accept his grace, His smile beams on me; Like a ray of sunlight. Warming my soul that I had let grow so cold. The pain lessens and His joy floods my soul. He dreamed he was walking along the beach with the Lord. Across the sky flashed scenes from his life. For each scene, he noticed two sets of footprints in the sand: When the last scene of his life flashed before him, he looked back at the footprints in the sand. He noticed that many times along the path of his life there was only one set of footprints. He also niticed that it happened at the very lowest and saddest times in his life. This really bothered him and he questioned the Lord about it. But I have noticed that during the most troublesome times in my life, there is only one set of footprints. During your times of trial and suffering, when you see only one set of footprints, it was then that I carried you.

I walked into the building yet again with the same feeling of dread. Day and here I was, a graduate with honors from a top university, showing up for another day of my internship. The feeling gnawing in my soul was more about God and how He failed me. I knew without a shadow of a doubt that serving with this ministry was a step that the Lord led me to take. It was hard to believe that a new city miles away could become a home where I would grow to feel loved like never before. Oh, how it did. I was able to tell them about my deepest fears and my worst mistakes. I could fall apart as I shared things that I had never told anyone before. I loved having a community that I could rely on and trust. I was able to present my true self to my teammates, and they still loved me. I also loved serving under well-respected leaders at Louisville Rescue Mission, the fourth oldest rescue mission in the country. I learned how to better serve a population that is often overlooked or disregarded unless their situation was a butt of a cruel joke. It was a place where I could learn from seasoned leaders whose honeymoon phases in ministry had ended, so they were well-versed in how to handle messy and hard situations that came up. I valued that real and practical steps where Gospel transformation was pursued was the answer instead of handouts. Two of my supervisors at my service site were only three years older than me, yet it felt like we were worlds apart. They were each in prominent positions at a well-respected established nonprofit, married and already started having babies. Here I was still in an internship after graduating from college and trying to figure out what the heck I was supposed to be doing with my life. How self-righteous of me to think that I was able to tell the God of the universe what He owed me. I was growing bitter towards the Lord because He had failed me. I am able to see things clearer now and how the Lord was carefully guiding me. There is an incredible freedom when you acknowledge that both God is good and the specifically designed roadmap for your life is to ultimately bring Him glory. I am learning that in hard seasons with perceived setbacks, it is absolutely key to focus on and be grateful for the sovereignty of our God. It is an acute and probably needed reminder that God is God and you are not. But what He will reveal is ultimately for my good. His kingdom up till this time was the world. Now God is taking back the kingdom to Himself. The answer is in the Word of God! This was also the law of the U. Now they say it is a sin to teach the Bible. These are haters of God and all humanity. Homosexuality was, until recently, even against the law of the land, yet these devils are making it legal, and making marriage at puberty, which is legal, illegal. As I was saying, someone reported to me that Judge Jim Hudson, the one who did all these evil things to the Word of God, our parents, our children, and me, is gnawing his tongue for pain as he is in the hospital with cancer. He was grinding his teeth so badly that it sounded like he was cracking walnuts. The website is www. Judge Hudson passed away. However, that never will happen. Do it now by saying this prayer to God. Prayer My Lord and my God, have mercy upon my soul, a sinner. I know because Your Word, the Bible says so. Your second step is to deny yourself and take up the cross daily for the purpose of mortifying yourself, that is, for putting to death your own will, your soulful self, and the world with all of its lusts. All these must be baptized into the death of Christ. Step three is your resurrection from the satanic life of Adam unto the sinless life of Christ. Step four is your ascension into a position of authority to reign for God on earth, and the fifth step is to reign for God on earth to the end for the purpose of bringing about the kingdom of Heaven on earth.
