Dr. Henry Feldman Henry Feldman, MD is an Assistant Professor of Medicine at Harvard Medical School at the Beth Israel Deaconess Medical Center in Boston. He currently holds dual appointments in the Division of General Internal Medicine in the section of Hospital Medicine and in the Division of Clinical Informatics.

Stanley was born on September 26, in Charleston, the son of Dr. Leon and the late Marilyn Feldman. Years later, clients would seek out Stanley to pay their respects. In recent years, Stanley developed a passion for drug court, where he helped facilitate rehabilitation and treatment for those charged with drug offenses. Riley Park prior to Charleston RiverDogs games. Whether he was attending in person or following from afar, Stanley loved the rhythms of the game. His love affair for baseball was never stronger than during the years he watched his son Aaron play as a member of the Tulane University varsity team, which made it to the College World Series in . During the years Aaron was on the team, Stanley returned frequently to New Orleans, a city he regarded as his second home. It was a place where he could let his heart run free. Anyone who accompanied Stanley down King Street could expect a friendly encounter every few paces. And when he traveled, Stanley made a pastime out of seeking out notable judicial and legislative sites to run their stairs. Though he loved to share with friends and strangers, Stanley never dominated a conversation. He had a vast amount of knowledge about a wide range of subjects, but was, at his very heart, a listener. He was an authentic man who had a unique way of helping people believe in themselves - and they were simply happier when he was around. Stanley is also survived by cousins, friends, shopkeepers, security guards, bailiffs at the Federal Court, clerks of court in every municipal and state court in the tri-county area, friends at the Charleston Police Department, bartenders and servers along East Bay, Market and King Streets, metermaids, mechanics, Apple Store employees, opposing attorneys, a generation of young lawyers who arrived in Charleston knowing no one whom he welcomed unreservedly, the grounds crews at College Park and at Joe Riley Park, fellow Tulane baseball parents, Omahans who sat alongside him at the College World Series, strangers the world over, and all the citizens of StanleyWorld. In lieu of flowers, donations can be made to the endowed H. Contributions can be made online to Tulane University at [http: Stanley Feldman Scholarship, P. Henry Bess 1 Yankee Misses, a female barbershop quartet, are the winners of the Sweet Adelines championship. This information was provided by Susan Hamilton, sister-in-law of one of the contestants. Henry "Googie" Morgan has returned from England having missed the first flight and is the first contestant before rejoining the panel. Gadman, Brooklyn, married 25 years today: One third of the cake is saved for their 50th. George Foster, Fort Worth: In the absence of a celebrity guest, the panel are asked to finish each of four sentences on paper and then guess which panelist wrote what. This segment is viewable on YouTube. Howard Millar, Murphysboro, AR: Has recently been photographed with all four panelists, but at the time none of them knew it was he. Carlton Ray, New York Aquarium: Carton contains "a live shark" sand tiger shark. Aquarium director Christopher Coates appears. In an attempt to change his look, tries on various hairpieces that are being judged by three women chosen from the audience Mrs. Rich " who resembles Betsy " and Mrs. All vote for a different one. Sammy Deep, 3, Macon, GA: Holtz and the Salvation Army Band. Sal Bonsignore The set is redecorated to add a "feminine touch. Some dresses are modeled, and then the models are revealed to have what at the time were male-dominated jobs. To "prove" this, Henry and Durward are provided with materials from which they are to design dresses for Carol and Bess. Charles Reinhard John Kip, Jr. Burns, all from Thomasville, GA: The panel are challenged to identify items using only one of their five senses and succeed in all cases. Smell only bottled scents: Sal Bonsignore Donald Carter, Jr. A shorter version that excludes the game portion is here. It appears as if Bridges is on stage wearing a diving suit, his voice being amplified through a loudspeaker. In fact, Bridges is in the audience and the man on stage is a lookalike, Vincent Rudolph, a doorman at the Hickory House. Bill guesses, going last. Henry guesses out of turn. Guest Olivia de Havilland: In preparation for the St. One panelist is to be chosen to do the remaining paint job. To find out who has the steadiest hands, the panel are given matchboxes to stack, without their knowing that they are competing to be the one who paints the street. In the end, a tie is declared and all four panelists are immediately sent out to a waiting limousine with paint cans in hand. Parr, East Norwich, Long Island: Afterward, Garry stands on a turntable holding a bicycle wheel by its axle. Spinning the wheel and tilting it causes Garry to turn, demonstrating gyroscopic action. He played the first contestant, John Lindquist. Henry guesses after Betsy disqualifies herself. To help decide what to get him, she ostensibly has appropriated some items from his apartment. The secret is that the items actually are from the homes of the other three panelists. See the episode immediately following. Their resident conductor Frank De Vol appears and breaks the 78 in half. Kenneth Brown, 8, Philadelphia: He plays excerpts from his "Israeli Rhapsody" on organ. Several dozen eggs are placed on stage. The panel then are blindfolded and paired off, and the men are given Easter baskets. The first team to gather 10 eggs wins Bess and Henry win. Delmar Gibbs, Salem, OR: Performs spring cleaning chores, which each panelist must take over doing after questioning. Needle and thread Betsy: Push broom and duster Henry: Producer Chester Feldman appears on camera. Courtney Metzger, Springfield, OH: The panel are tested on how easily they can recognize each other. Blindfolded Henry has to guess by touch which of three dancing partners is Betsy. Hazel Oxholm, Irma Reichert "Mr. X" Billy "Crash" Craddock: Lip-syncs to part of the record; Henry tries to remember the rest. Then it turns out Betsy was wrong; she thought they had won Nobel Prizes. Hazel Oxholm, Irma Reichert Margaret Boswell, columnist for the Southern Illinoian, wrote a nice column about the show and has been invited to watch from the stage. In the audience are three crew members Alan Steele, Jim Dixon, Jim Bennett from submarine Triton, which circumnavigated the globe in 84 days. While the panel are blindfolded, he and Garry rush around assembling the furniture. Bess guesses, going last. Charles Laughton was scheduled to do the same secret but is too ill to attend. Does a dramatic reading of a story Garry wrote, "Hugh the Blue Gnu. Shalleck Betsy is appearing on "U. Panel are given aptitude tests. Henry has to reassemble a Soma-like puzzle into a cube he succeeds. Bess has to identify which of a series of musical tones has been changed too easy. Bill tries to memorize a set of 15 made-up "translations" of English words. Florence has to start with the number and alternately subtract 7 and 6 she gets halfway through, down to Ostock was top man for all four years he attended West Point, a distinction shared only by Douglas MacArthur. During the questioning, Bill is inadvertently skipped. Coincident with its eighth anniversary, the show is moving out of the Mansfield Theater, losing most of its current crew. During the questioning, while the panel are blindfolded, the set is dismantled and everyone abandons the panel to go to the Delsomma Italian Restaurant next door for a farewell party. Charles Reinhard Jean Sutton, Pittsburgh: Will play a duet with Garry on his "pogo cello" and her "idiot stick. Bjorn Lingaas Garry spells , Brooklyn: Perrey then imitates other instruments: This segment is viewable on YouTube in two parts: The women did in fact know, because the dresses had no designer label and because they often select their dresses weeks in advance. Charles Reinhard Many towns immediately expressed interest in acquiring the footprints in cement from last week, a situation that will be properly addressed next week. Garry is sent away on vacation and leaves the stage during the questioning. Afterward, the panel draw straws to determine which of them will host the rest of the show. X" Burton Turkus, former D. He won on the word "eudaemonic.
