A Journey of Discovery Uncover the mysteries of this key time in our history through ancient spiritual knowledge and new scientific research.

Practicing spirituality brings a sense of perspective, meaning, and purpose to our lives. When I can turn my brain off and just pay attention to what is right in front of me- I can feel a sense of peace and tears will stream down my face with joy. I feel a power greater than myself move through me. Curiosity is what keeps me seeking and engaged. Where do I find Meaning? How do I feel Connected? How do I want to Live? Spirituality is the process of personal transformation and exploration. There can be an overlap of religion and spirituality, one does not need to exist without the other they can be separate. Some people identify as spiritual, some religious, some both. What is true and false? What is right and wrong? Religion is an organized structured way to connect with God and put our faith into action. As someone who struggles with rules, I often times felt shamed if I broke the rules. I became more comfortable as a Cafeteria Catholic- picking and choosing what felt right and leaving the rest. I identify as someone who has a strong connection to many different flavors rooted in spiritual practice. The journey of spirituality is long lasting, ebbs and flows, and may be stronger at different points in our life. If we want a spiritual foundation, we need to work at it-on a daily basis. Here are some suggestions of activities I engage in to strengthen my understanding of something greater than myself. I hope this will help you get started as you begin or continue to explore your deeper understanding of spirituality. Being emotionally intimate and vulnerable in my relationships. Sitting by the ocean awakening my senses-listening to the waves, seeing the beauty, smelling the air, feeling the sun and wind on my face. This is when I truly feel alive. Traveling, learning about other cultures, serving the poor, experiential learning. Just sitting and breathing. Listening to music and connecting with the words and rhythm. I encourage you to ponder these questions and spend some time in meditation. Write your answers down in a journal. What are you longing for? How do you fulfill your spiritual drive? What is your spiritual journey? Be gentle with yourself, just BE and you will start to have greater experiences of connection. It comes from our soul. No one is born with religion. Everyone is born with spirituality.
