However, it seemed stuck in my mind as I began to mull over what it really appeared to mean. As I pondered, I realized, that what this quote is offering gives no peace. The one who follows those words may run from what makes them miserable at the current moment, but what happens when something at their new destination makes them unhappy? What happens when hard times come? What about when a day turns from sunshine to rain? When plans go awry? Always running, chasing another fruitless cause, another hopeful wish, chasing a place to find some peace of mind. Always chasing, rarely finding. The promises that the enemy of our soul offers us may not appear harmful, or may even be appealing, at the onset. However, they are promises that are empty. They are promises that will never bring true joy. So what is our solution? How can we find peace and stop chasing vain things? How can we stand strong in the midst of adversity? How can we keep our smile when our day turns to sour? How can we chase things that will last? There is only one answer to all these questions, dear reader. And that answer is: All our vain pursuits can be put to rest. Our hopeless endeavors can be given over to Him. Our life can be built upon something that will last. In Christ, we find: How good it is for the soul to find rest and to be refreshed. No more aimless running. No more dreary running. He will never allow anything to move us, as long as we rest in Him. What a wonderful comfort that is. No more burdened-down running. No more regret-filled running. Be not afraid of sudden fear, neither of the desolation of the wicked, when it cometh. For the Lord shall be thy confidence, and shall keep thy foot from being taken. Ponder the path of thy feet, and let all thy ways be established. Turn not to the right hand nor to the left: No more fearful running. No more lonely running. There is a hope that we can cling to, can rest upon, and can hold on to, no matter what else may rock our world in this life. No more hopeless running. Quit running for ourselves, and our own selfish aspirations. Our own lives will become more joyful. So come, and join me on this journey to run for His glory!

Meet Coach Tam Jewels for the Journey When the going gets tough it is my faith that strengthens and sustains me. My prayer is that these Jewels for the Journey will inspire you too. There is no law against behaving in any of these ways. And because we belong to Christ Jesus, we have killed our selfish feelings and desires. The weapons we fight with are not the weapons of the world. On the contrary, they have divine power to demolish strongholds. We demolish arguments and every pretension that sets itself up against the knowledge of God, and we take captive every thought to make it obedient to Christ. The Spirit is in you and is a gift from God. You are no longer your own. God paid a great price for you. So use your body to honor God. But I am well on my way, reaching out for Christ, who has so wondrously reached out for me. Let them be a living and holy sacrifice—the kind he will find acceptable. This is truly the way to worship him. The past is forgotten, and everything is new. Then you will know how to do everything that is good and pleasing to him. Let perseverance finish its work so that you may be mature and complete, not lacking anything. If any of you lacks wisdom, you should ask God, who gives generously to all without finding fault, and it will be given to you. But when you ask, you must believe and not doubt, because the one who doubts is like a wave of the sea, blown and tossed by the wind. That person should not expect to receive anything from the Lord. Such a person is double-minded and unstable in all they do.
