Meet the Webbers of Philadelphia. [John J Loeper] -- Chronicles the history of a free Black family in Philadelphia during the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries, focusing on Amos Webber who became a musician, property owner, and abolitionist.

Neat Floorstand The client, Neat, came to us for a solution to support a marketing initiative at Staples. We came up with an eye-catching floorstand made using a four-color full-litho label on B flute – all designed, produced, assembled and packed out by Weber. The display propelled the success of the Neat Scanner, meeting all goals for the marketing initiative. Constructed primarily of EB double-wall with point four-color graphic panels and placed on a plastic custom pallet, the display was featured in stores during the busy Black Friday selling period. Kind Dump Bin This all-purpose telescoping display was a first for Kind. Designed to be used with a wide variety of Kind products, it can be deployed in a number of retail channels, while the telescoping feature allows for greater shipping efficiencies. The graphics are a combination of litho and direct print. Krave Generic Merchandiser Krave needed a generic merchandiser to promote its very popular jerky product – specifically, it required a display design that could be placed in a variety of channels. We came up with a versatile wire rack that was accepted into numerous retailers, including drugstores, club stores and mass retailers. The rack incorporated corrugated graphic panels that could be interchanged depending on the product or retailer. Bionaire Club-Channel Display When searching for a cost-effective way of promoting its new air-purifying system in the club channel, Bionaire came to Weber for a solution. The flashing red button encourages the consumer to interact with and learn more about the product. The diorama incorporated motion activated lighting and also allowed consumers to rotate one of the Titanfall models degrees. We used four-color digital printing in the front label, and styrene headers to illustrate the features of the unit. Featuring a combination of materials, including plastic, wood and metal, the resulting display achieved its goal of informing the consumer of the benefits and features of the G3H while increasing sales in the club-store channel. Our facility encompasses , square feet including offices and manufacturing space, and employs over people. Weber is the longest ongoing operating corrugated packaging and display manufacturer in the city of Philadelphia. David Weber was an innovator in our industry and developed several patents in corrugated packaging. These patents, on display in our office today, were instrumental in converting the way products are shipped - from the wooden containers of the past to the corrugated boxes of current day. Through the years, we have established ourselves as one of the most respected and successful companies in our industry. Our reputation has always been built on a commitment to service and a pride in providing quality products to our customers. This formula for success makes for a promising future for our family of customers and employees. Examples Our state-of-the-art DRO allows us to print six colors in-line with the option of either aqueous varnish or UV. The need for print and die-cut registration often comes with the detailed printing we do here at Weber, and we rely on our Bobst die-cutter to solve die cutting challenges of easy open Retail Ready Packaging and other corrugated designs. Our laminator allows us to label sheets anywhere from inches wide, providing you graphic options for all sizes of cartons. Our flexo folder gluers provide quick set ups, and high run speeds, along with the ability to die cut in line, and four color print capability. Our post specialty gluer allows for a wide range of glued die-cut interiors and specialty shipping cases. The result is less labor and lower costs for our customers. The uniting of manufacturing and fulfillment services allows for a timely and cost-efficient experience. Whether filling Weber-produced displays or re-kitting graphic sets, we can handle and prioritize the production of the display to meet customer demands. Contract Packaging Our PakSafe facility supports any form of retail product through marrying customer products with the packaging materials required by the buyer or retailer. Through hand assembly, pallet wrapping, boxing and sealing, packing or palletizing, we create retail-ready products and prepare them for final shipment.

January 30, Clockwise from left: What a year was for theater in the Philly region, and judging by the next six months, the momentum continues. South Camden Theatre Company is celebrating female dramatists, and Azuka is celebrating new Philly playwrights. Those are some highlights for plays. Plays Copenhagen Through Feb. Sometimes called "the best play ever written about science," this crackling drama portrays a meeting of two towering minds, Werner Heisenberg and Niels Bohr, at the height of World War II. Science and much, much more. Quintessence just had its best season ever, and it hits the ground running for with our pals Vladimir and Estragon. Something different for the Walnut! This winner of the Tony Award for best new play is a real-time, real-place drama of not just any family Thanksgiving. Written over the course of 30 years, these three plays constitute a sweeping epic that has never, until now, been performed together in its entirety. It takes us from Civil War carnage to Utopian dreams to questions about the American future. Cold Harbor through Feb. Three- and one-day marathons available through May 6. A celebration of the best in Philly stage work, with the other arts dance, music, film in there, too, plus lots of occasions to eat, drink, see plays, be merry, and repeat. For a complete rundown and tickets: The Savannah Sipping Society Feb. The first of four plays in a laudable season celebrating female playwrights. Four Southern ladies meet at a happy hour, and boom! Love, Lies, and Taxidermy Feb. And an ice cream truck. And requited teenage love. And plenty of Irish laughter. A hate crime leads to a junior high school love affair "and white guilt breaks out. Six disaffected runaways from the noise of city life go off for a retreat on a vow of silence. The same guy wrote both this and Copenhagen? And yeah, you, too, Brutus. A university dean asks a psychology prof to retract his paper on female initiation rites in Africa. The Hedgerow bunch, however, are fond of doing it, and doing it well, in an intimate setting. With live electric band on stage. A musical pastiche based on Game of Thrones. The costumes alone should be worth the price of admission. A celebration of the s and s, in social change, fashion, and vintage pop music. Funny musical send-up of the days of rock star Will Shakespeare and his lesser competitors. Much admired, often passionate version of the Bronte classic. A Chicago girl goes to live with her aunt in South Carolina, and she learns all about church hats and womanhood. The original Nonsense with an all-male cast. April , Academy of Music. Irresistibly danceable bio-musical of Latina power-chanteuse Gloria Estefan. Vigorous, full of great energy and dance. National tour of one of the most beloved musicals ever. May July 15, Walnut Street Theatre. ABBA continue to sing the world into submission in this genial, world-beating show, settling in for a two-month run. Much praised musical about a couple who fall in love, and then out, over a half decade. She tells her story backward, he forward. National tour of the Disney favorite. Clever lyrics, wacky fun.
