

1: My Best Friend Is Invisible by R. L. Stine | Scholastic

In this book you see Maddy inviting her best friend Victor over for meatloaf. Victor is an alien and very polite. He brings present with him and has a casual night with Maddy's family and enjoy each others comp This book is quite interesting.

Show summary[edit] The series revolves around Evie Ethel Garland - a young girl who discovers on her thirteenth birthday that her father Troy is an alien from the planet Antares Prime, in the Scorpio Galaxy. Troy who married her mother and "merged lifeforms" to create Evie. Most of the episodes revolve around Evie misusing her powers and causing some trouble, which she spends the rest of the episode fixing. Only Evie and her family know about the alien side of her family; many episodes depict their efforts to hide her secret from other characters. After four seasons, the series ended on a cliffhanger: Troy came to visit and Donna took his place by accident, ending up on Antares Prime while Troy was stranded on Earth. Characters[edit] Evie Ethel Garland Maureen Flannigan – Evie is a half-human, half-alien girl who lives with her mother in Marlowe, California a fictional analogue of Carmel-by-the-Sea , in a house overlooking the sea. She is an only child. Evie attends a school for gifted children run by her mother and achieves good grades there. Her mother had always told Evie that her father was a secret agent, but on her thirteenth birthday Evie developed superhuman abilities; it was then revealed that her father is a native of another planet. When she claps her hands together, time resumes as normal. She can also "unfreeze" individuals by touching them while time is frozen. She later gains the power to gleep, which allows her to manifest objects using only her mind. Her father describes her as "the perfect child: The series follows Evie through her teenage years, from her thirteenth birthday in the pilot to her eighteenth birthday in the final episode. Although she was the leading character, Flannigan was billed last in the credits. In the first season, she received the billing "And Introducing Maureen Flannigan". Starting with the second season, she received a different billing: Described by her husband as "an ambitious working mother with a career", Donna runs a school for gifted children, which Evie attends. Toward the end of season 3, Donna becomes the mayor of Marlowe. Donna is very protective of her daughter, often to the dismay of Evie, who would like to be more independent. Troy is a human-looking extraterrestrial, with many special powers, from the distant world of Antares Prime. He is an astronaut where he comes from. The two fell in love and were married in ; two years later, Donna gave birth to Evie. The year after that, Troy was recalled to participate in a war which raged on Antares. Since then, Troy occasionally visits Earth In the series finale, when Troy arrives on Earth, he is seen in a silhouette with stars from the galaxy. Troy was credited as "himself" in the opening credits from Season Two onwards. Beano has a large appetite and runs a diet clinic known as "Waist-a-Weigh", which is later renamed after him. He last appears in season 4, episode Kyle is a good friend of the family, but "the mayor" punishes even the smallest offenses. He clings to his former TV glory as the star of "Mosquito Man" and many long forgotten mainly Western movies. Towards the end of season three, Kyle is appointed police chief by Donna, who takes over from him as mayor. He speaks with an unknown accent, and is prone to bizarre behavior. Donna sometimes resorts to him for help, more often than not regretting it. She and Evie spend a lot of time together drinking milkshakes at their local diner, the "Goodie Goodie. He is introduced as a new student and good basketball player in the season one episode "Evie Get Your Basketball". In Season Four, Chris says Evie was and always will be his girl. Incredibly handsome, basically picking where Chris left off after going to college, Jeffrey soon begins dating Evie He is a clumsy, goofball Antarean who provides his own brand of comic relief whenever Evie and her friends stop by the restaurant. He was military intelligence for Antares until he chose to stay on Earth, his memory erased of all Antarean things. He is a former rock musician. The Cube[edit] Evie was able to communicate with Troy through a special genetic communication device known as the "cube," which he gave to her when she turned thirteen. The cube effectively functioned as a telephone line to Antareus – it could even be used to leave Troy an "answerphone" message, as seen in the episode "My Little Evie. When the cube was activated, the top half of it would open up on a hinge with a magenta light pulsing inside, with a "spacey" sound effect. The ambient lights in the room would usually dim as well. Originally, even though everyone was able to hear Troy through the cube, Evie was the only one whom Troy could hear, as the cube was described to be "genetic. As a result, Troy could then hear Donna and they could talk back and forth. Guest stars[edit] The series featured several celebrities who made cameo appearances on the show, occasionally as themselves. In chronological order of appearances:

Has this poem touched you? Thank you for always being there for me, and I hope we will stay together as friends forever. From your friend, Vanessa by Joolia 1 year ago I send these poetic lines to my lovely friend, and she was very impressed with this poem. I was very happy that she loved this. I hope he stays with me for the rest of my life. Jacob, if your reading this I love you in a friend way! She was nice to me, and then we started playing with each other. We had so much fun. We have been friends since. WE are in grade 6 now and we are best friends still. We ride out bikes together, we play together, and she has a friend named Michelle. I know she really cares about me. Smile and be a friend to others, and I am sure someone will see that you could be their best friend. Leanne by Erica Quijano 1 year ago I have a two best friends. I am really thankful for them because they will always be there for me. I really love them deep down inside my heart. I love you so much, Bevelou and Danilyn. Today is her birthday. I read this to her on her birthday, and she smiled and laughed with me. Happy birthday, best friend! Can you give me suggestions on how to be a great friend to Stacey? She is there for me when I need her and I am there for her when she needs me, when I am sad or not acting like myself she cheers me up and she has such a beautiful personality. I love her so much I hope we can be best friends forever. I used to have a close friend like yours. We lost everything, but I hope everything goes back to normal like it used to be. Faith is my best friend When I see her going through this tough time right now, I cry because she deserves so much better. I feel like I need to die for her every time that she cries. When she is hurting I feel like killing that person that made her cry. The one that made her cry says "stay out of this, Kaitlyn. She is the most important person to me. She helped me get my first car, helped me to present myself better, and was my mentor during my work experience placement. I have two best friends. Both are my soul mates. Whenever I need someone, they are always by my side no matter what the situation is. If ever I feel low, they are the very first to approach me to raise me up. I feel blessed to have both of them in my life. It had not been even a year for us to be together, but still I can very surely say that our friendship is very much unending. Nothing or no one could ever create misunderstanding among us because our bonding and trust upon each other is so much that we cannot even listen to any bad words against each other. I wish our friendship goes far and forever. We have been inseparable for nearly ten years. I can tell her I need her and she will be there for me no matter what. Even through our little disagreements, I know that nothing or no one could ever tear us apart. The bond we have is so strong. More than best friends, more like sisters. I can tell her anything with no judgment and she always gives me the best advice. She is the sunshine in my life. She is the type of friend that no matter where we are in life, she will always be there. I wish I could hug her. I feel like I have known HIM forever though. Anyways, HE is the best thing that has ever happened to me. We make time to see each other through the day. Over the couple of months we have really become closer. And now, without even holding back, I know that HE is the one that I would want to spend the rest of my life with. My soulmate, I love YOU. Our family claims that we are sisters no matter what. She been there through it all. She knows me like a book. Yeah we argue and stuff but that same day we make up and we are still friends. I love my bestfriend to the fullest always and forever. I know a lot of people. None of them are exactly alike, but there is one that stands out from the crowd. He is my very best friend. If people bother me he tells them to leave me alone. He is always there for me when I need a friend. He tells me what he thinks if I ask him something. For all of this I am glad he is my best friend. I could not thank him enough.. He has been there for me when I needed a friend the most. Without him, nothing appears to be good. He is always there for me whatever the situation may be. He is my soulmate, and best mentor and motivator. It feels so good when we have someone who cares for us without having any selfish motives. And it is he, who makes me complete. Thanks for being such a part of my life. Hope to be like this always. Were you touched by this poem? Share Your Story Here. All stories are moderated before being published.
