Feb 12, Tricia rated it it was ok Put it down for months, only to pick it up back up and skim the remaining chapters. Evans had never been my favorite travel writer, not sure why I keep coming back to her. Lots of history, but a bit dull. I do admire her adventurous, easy-going spirit though! Jul 16, Pam Lindholm-levy rated it liked it More riding and less Argentine history. The descriptions of the countryside made me want to go there, especially to Patagonia. Evans is a tough cookie to have taken so many buses, eaten in small towns, and been a novice rider when she undertook the trip to Argentina. I admire her grit if not totally her writing. Oct 05, Hilary Ellis rated it it was ok I wanted to like this book, I wanted to be riveted, I wanted to smell the leather, feel the Argentinian wind in my hair along with the author Pleasant enough in a mildly interesting kind of way. More like "Round Argentina at a Trot" in my opinion. The book covers are good though! Dec 31, Barbara rated it liked it Recommends it for: Evans always works some personal challenge into her travel. Some people are observers, some participate, some feel the need to point out all the icky or unpleasant stuff, others treat travel as a university course. I think Polly Evans combines the best of observation and participation with a little of the rest in small doses. Bring on the sled-dogs and the frozen north! The first place she stays she learns how to ride and she then proceeds to ride at many of the different places she visits all over the country. She explores the country from top to bottom and is in small villages and big cities staying in a variety of accommodations and riding many different horses. She includes a lot of history about Argentina, has great descriptions of the areas she visits and does it all with a little hum Polly travels to Argentina to do a little touring and ride some horses. She includes a lot of history about Argentina, has great descriptions of the areas she visits and does it all with a little humor.

2: On a Hoof and a Prayer: Exploring Argentina at a Gallop by Polly Evans

In December of , I attended the open house of a new horse rescue in Evansville Indiana. It's name is A Hoof and a Prayer, located at Old State Road, Evansville Indiana,

Their FaceBook page is located at: Right now, A Hoof and a Prayer needs money. We are in the midst of a drought, and crippling heat. If you can, please make a donation to help these horses. We have a PayPal account: Or feel free to send a check or money order by mail. Here is info for sponsorships copied from the FaceBook page: We survive solely on support from the community, both financially and otherwise. Any kind of donation is always appreciated, and nothing is ever too small. That being said, we have had several inquiries about financially sponsoring care for your favorite horse, and now we are able to offer that opportunity! Here are your options! Sponsor a horse for 1 month - Cost: You can choose whichever horse you would like to sponsor. Sponsor a farrier visit for a horse - Cost: Sponsoring farrier care for a horse covers the cost of getting their hooves trimmed, which helps keeps them sound and comfortable. Horses need a trim about every weeks. Sponsor teeth floating for a horse - Cost: Sponsoring a teeth floating session ensures that your horsey pal can comfortably do what he loves most--eat! Sponsor a load of sawdust - Cost: Those of you who have been out to volunteer know that we heavily regulate how much sawdust we use. Sponsor a load of water - Cost: Those of you who have been to the barn know that the only thing we value more than horses and volunteers is water. With summer heat still to come, horses are drinking more, and water is disappearing faster! Sponsoring a load of water or two! Sponsor grain for a month - Cost: If you want to instantly make 50 new best friends, pull the grain wagon around the barn at dinner time. Our horses LOVE their grain, as they should! You will also get the undying gratitude of all the horses as they eagerly inhale the food you so generously provided for them. Just like dogs and cats, horses need to be protected from worms as well. They need to be wormed about every three months. We will put your name under their picture as the wormer sponsor for that cycle, and the horse you choose will appreciate not having to spend valuable grazing time finding somewhere to do the itchybutt dance. Call us to find out how many we currently have to find out the cost! Our horses are vaccinated twice a year against many common horse diseases. Sponsor a gelding surgery - Cost: Any stallion that comes into the barn is separated from the herd until they can be gelded. It makes them sad and lonely, especially when one of our pretty little mares walks by. Help them think about something else by contributing to our gelding fund! If money were no object, there would be no limit as to the amazing things we could do. Unfortunately, it is an object, and something that threatens the existence of most non-profit groups. This may not be a feasible amount for you to do on your own, but perhaps your business, church, or organization would like to sponsor the barn for a month. It never hurts to ask! There are a ton of ways to do it! Stop by the barn! We have a donation box by the volunteer sign-in sheet! Just make sure to let us know what the sponsorship is for, and which horse if applicable! Mail it to us! Use our new PayPal account! Then send us an email info ahoofandaprayer.
