from Permanent Healing by Dr. Daniel R. Condron, copyright SOM Permanent Healing contains an extensive listing of diseases/disorders including the mental attitudinal cause and suggestions for the change that will bring about healing - permanently.

We all know that tension can cause headaches, fear can cause breathing restrictions, nervousness can cause sweaty palms, etc. It is clear that there is a definite relationship between our emotional and our physical self. Realizing this connection makes finding, or at least being aware of, the emotional roots of physical disease quite important if we want to truly heal. Some of Louise L. Finding the Connection Four books are available in which you can look up specific ailments and their probable emotional causes. They are listed below. All four books are also listed on my recommended reading page along with a short review. The fourth book is by far the most extensive in linking the physical and emotional. It does not include positives to replace the negatives with. It contains strong language so there is a warning on the back that it is for mature readers only. One way or another this book is a fabulous reference book! If you would like to know probable causes for one or two physical issues that you have, I would be happy to look those up for you and e-mail what I find to you. Just contact me and let me know as specifically as you can the nature of the problem or where it resides in the body. If it is in the books I will give you an answer, but realize that not every disease or ailment is there. She then gives three or four positive emotions after each one to replace the negative. The Reference Guide is a ring-bound mini-version of that chapter in the book. It includes the script for processing, a list of negative emotions with possible positive replacements, and physical ailments with their possible emotional connections. Heal Your Body contains only the section from the book on the physical problems and probable causes. Lincoln A very comprehensive book in describing underlying emotional factors. The author is pretty opinionated in his description and pretty much everything according to him comes from being in a dysfunctional family. That may be true, but it is not the answer for everything. It is a fabulous resource non-the-less. Here is a version with the top 50 items looked up in the full book. Note sure what the difference is between this one and the Top Applying the Connection Take what you have collected from the four books and then see how it might fit into your situation and the feelings that you have. Problems can now be tackled from a couple of different directions; 1 from the physical end and 2 from the emotional end. The emotional healing techniques that this website refers to are the best and simplest techniques that I know of. Most of them can be used for the actual physical pain as well as for the underlying emotional triggers for the physical ailment. Get out and explore and see where it takes you. Other Reference Books Amazon carries other great books to do with the emotional connection to physical diseases. It would be well worth your time to check into more possibilities if you are interested in further information.

I also enjoy talking to people in these areas because each experience is an education. Today, there are many different fields that anyone can investigate in order to learn about the wholistic approach to healing. Since each individual is unique, their needs are also unique. Various fields may provide relief to some, while others may benefit more from another field of healing. Naturopathy, naprapathy, herbology, acupressure, acupuncture, foot reflexology, nutrition, and homeopathy are all areas that attempt to aid the person to find relief so he can lead a more productive life. I also love history. In high school, history was my favorite subject. I enjoy reading about the history of chiropractic. I enjoy reading the history of osteopathy. Although I am not a homeopath, I enjoy reading about and discovering more of the history of homeopathy. It seems that during the latter half of the nineteenth century and the early part of the 20th century, homeopathy was a very predominate area of the health and healing field. At that time over one-fourth of all practicing doctors were homeopaths. In fact, there were even homeopathic hospitals. History is full of examples and in many ways is a record of the efforts people have made to improve their way of life. The field of healing is no exception to this. Acupuncture, although it has existed and been used productively in China for many thousand of years, is now available in the West because it offers relief from suffering in ways that some individuals had not been able to find before. Civilized man had until recently forgotten about the beneficial effects of these. I appreciate and applaud these individuals who are making this knowledge available to the common man. Therefore, your thoughts affect your whole life and the physical reality around you, not just your physical body environment but your outward environment too. Fortunately, for most people, the manifestation of their thoughts is not instantaneous. Thoughts require lag time to become a part of our physical lives. There is usually a delay between the time you think a thought and the time it occurs in your life. This delay time affords you time to prepare your Self for the repercussions of your thoughts. If you think thoughts of hate, those thoughts will become stronger each time you dwell on hate. Eventually, the thought will become so strong that it affects your emotions. You will become emotionally irritable. You may react with anger or Self pity easily. Gradually, the anger or related emotion will become so strong that your emotions can no longer contain it. It then must move out into your physical body as illness or disease. From here, it may affect your whole life reducing your productivity, driving away friends and costing you your job. The physical body is the second line of resistance to unproductive thoughts. The first line of resistance is your emotions. The third line of defense is those around you. All fields and studies of healing fall under this category of treating these lines of resistance or defense. The closer they get and the farther they go to treating first cause, which is thought, the more directly they effect permanent healing. How can we aid the body to repair itself? The speed or quickness of repair depends on what has been learned concerning the causal factor of the illness. In order to have a healing that is lasting we need to treat both the specific illness and the whole system. The specific illness gives us the first indication, like a meter reading, of what is occurring both with the physical body and mental attitudes. For example, suppose you are preparing to drive a car. You look at the speedometer noticing it reads 0 miles per hour. The speedometer gives an indication of the speed of movement of the car. Now, imagine you have your foot on the accelerator, you press down and the car goes forward. I have discovered the cause of the car moving forward. Upon further investigation it is discovered that the spark plugs are corroded and need to be replaced. Accomplishing this, you find the car accelerates very well. I understand how to fix it and make it run fast so I know the cause of a car running fast is good spark plugs. You engage the transmission, putting the car into gear, and you hear a sound that goes clank-clank-clank. You help them to fix the transmission in order to save yourself some money. In the process you learn all about transmissions. Your transmission is fixed and the car runs smoother than it ever did before. They work together to cause the tires to move and propel the car. Now I understand why the car goes forward. What is the cause? Which one of these is the cause and reason for the car traveling at high speed? Is the driver the cause? You can go into a junk yard and sit in a car. Put your foot on the accelerator and see if you travel at 55 m. Are you the cause in this case? Are you the cause of driving a working, functioning car? Does the driver determine how fast the car will travel? If this is so will your car travel at miles per hour? Only if you possess a car that will travel that rate of speed. If we wanted to search for original cause, we might research the early pioneers of the automobile industry. We could discover that before the automobile was developed, the bicycle with a chain drive was invented. The older type of bicycle with the front wheel larger than the back wheel was more like a two wheeled version of our modern day tricycle. The earliest cars used the technology that preceded them. So instead of a transmission, these earliest cars used a chain drive like the bicycles that preceded them. In fact, the earliest cars looked like buggies without horses. They were referred to as horseless carriages. Instead of being propelled by a horse, they utilized the internal combustion engine. Nowadays we refer to the power an engine develops as horsepower which is the unit of measurement for that power. The factors that lead to the development of the automobile began before the horse and buggy, the bicycle, and many other inventions. Your physical body is not a car, yet, it does have many working parts. In order for you to experience health, all these parts must be in working order and functioning in harmony with the whole system. Just as the modern automobile is the result of over one hundred years of evolution and contains thousands of parts working together, so the human body is a product of millions of years of evolution and product development. To perform efficiently, the body and its constituent parts need to be in peak working order. There were hundreds and perhaps thousands of inventions developed before an internal combustion engine could be developed to propel the automobile. Why is a book on permanent healing presenting the history of the automobile? The answer is a car is a vehicle that you use to move your physical body from one locale to another while the physical body is a vehicle the soul or inner Self uses to move from one locale to another for experiencing, learning, and growth in our physical life. There is a cause for you, the thinker, having a physical body. Evolution is this process of development. We read the records the anthropologists discover concerning the bones and fossils of ancient man and the records the biologists present of DNA and the genetic code. We continue to discover that the evolution of the physical body as we use it today has been in the process of developing for many millions of years. So it is with the automobile. The similarity is the automobile for the past one hundred years has been undergoing a process of evolution and development to meet the needs of a developing humanity. You can abuse or mistreat your car as you can refuse to take care of your physical body. If you refuse to drink water or some type of liquid then in a very short time your body will not be able to perform for you, the thinker. In looking to discover the mental cause of physical illness or dis-ease, look at the thoughts a person has about their physical body and taking care of it. Now suppose you are given a car for the first time. You call somebody to fix it and, believe it or not, this is the way most people are. My investigations show that cause always proceeds from a mental attitude. An outside virus carried by someone else is the cause of your current malady. But just like the car, pushing on the accelerator, it seems like the cause, but there is a deeper cause. You need to look at the engine. After all, mankind has spent millions of years developing this body to be able to withstand viruses. So there seems to be a cause, an attitude, that relates to the defense system breaking down. The last time I went to a chiropractor, he put some needles in me and then, at the end, he adjusted my neck, never touching my back or spine. There is a reason for vertebrae to shift out of place, out of alignment.

In your session, I will connect with your unique inner voice by intuitively and energetically accessing the A-Field or Akashic Field. It is the womb from which everything ultimately returns. It is the dynamic field of all reality and the record of all that is, has ever been, and will be. These causal energies will then be deleted from your energy field, allowing your natural life enhancing programs to come forth and making it easier for life changes to flow and manifest. How many sessions are required to clear an issue? This depends on the issue and your investment in holding onto it. Openness to receive healing is required and your level of receptiveness to the process helps to determine the number of sessions required. Many seemingly difficult dis-eases can be resolved quickly – sometimes in one or two sessions; others, not so quickly. Again, it is determinant upon each individual and their level of consciousness and willingness to take action from a new paradigm of wholeness. This process is homeopathic, which means, as the old programs are processed out of your system, you may experience exacerbated symptoms, which may include: It offers a method of holographic repatterning which is firmly grounded in the principles of quantum physics Bohm, Watson, Tiller, Taggart and is based on the knowledge that human beings are comprised of an energetic system of frequency patterns. Simply put, life experiences - trauma, pain, unresolved emotion - cause the depletion of life energy within the subtle energy bodies that surround and interpenetrate the physical system. These non-coherent frequencies or energies lose their optimal pulsation, or coherent state, causing the external expression of "problems" or dis-ease in our daily life. This process returns the holographic human system to its healthy state of being. How does a long distance session differ from an in office session? In the office, I will access your energy field directly to identify and clear causal energies. I will use this information to intuitively access causal information in the A-Field and then diffuse or delete those energies. You may also, for an additional charge, request a telephone consultation following the diffusion process; regular office rates would apply. The metaphysical historians say the alchemists were attempting to transmute the base - lower consciousness - to the golden higher consciousness of enlightenment. His EMCS sessions aids the client to help themselves by clearing off the lower consciousness that creates disease, thus revealing the higher, healthy wholistic consciousness of a self realized being.

He needed the kind of education that told him about and helped him to understand himself. For 30 years he has been immersed in the study of Self and Mind, as well as discipline, service and teaching. In this capacity he taught two lab classes each week for a semester. Daniel Condron has taught continuously since then, his chosen field being development of the Mind and human potential. Condron teaches how to create peace through the Still Mind. He uses the venue of organic biodynamic gardens at the College of Metaphysics. In this organic-biodynamic garden, students are taught the secrets of life. Condron has taught the essentials of knowing the mind for over 30 years. These essentials include concentration, visualization, dream interpretation, life force-breathwork, memory and listening. Many of these are chronicled in his book Superconscious Meditation and Permanent Healing. His Book, Permanent Healing, is the standard for understanding the mind-body connection. Condron currently serves on the Board of Governors for the School of Metaphysics, a c 3 not-for-profit educational and service institute of higher learning. He oversees the functioning of the School of Metaphysics and its satellite campuses in 16 cities around the United States. He also resides on the College of Metaphysics campus where he teaches every day. Condron is the creator of the University of Sharing, an online campus dedicated to the ideal that to create universal peace worldwide, sharing must be accepted universally. After 28 years of intense concentration and meditation, he developed a Still Mind and realized the still mind is the key to developing an open heart and for being in the present moment. Condron has been an instructor in the School of Metaphysics since Condron began supervising four schools in Colorado including two in the Denver metropolitan area and in Ft. Collins and Colorado Springs. In , Condron became a regional director with three schools in the Chicago area and three in the Detroit area in adtion to this He opened schools in Kenosha and Madison, Wisconsin and in Indianapolis, Indiana. In , he was elected President of the School of Metaphysics and served in this capacity leading the School of Metaphysics to open branches in Dallas, Texas and Louisville, Kentucky. He improved the coursework in the School of Metaphysics. His address was titled Permanent Healing and was enthusiastically received. The address was based on his widely acclaimed and groundbreaking book Permanent Healing and the Quantum Mechanics of Healing. In , he authored The Universal Language of Mind, a universal interpretation and explanation of the book of Matthew in the Bible. In , he authored The Secret Code of Revelation, a universal explanation and interpretation of the Book of Revelation from the Bible. The Secret Code of Revelation reveals secrets of the Book of Revelation brought to light after years. In , he wrote The Dhammapada Intrepreted and Explained, an explanation of the teachings of the Buddha. Condron realized that the Bible could be understood and explained using pictures as metaphorical symbols for the true reality. Since that time, he has come to know that pictures, symbols and pictographs are the keys to unlocking the meaning of dreams and Holy Books. Presently, he teaches these truths daily at the College of Metaphysics and has appeared on dozens of radio and television shows including The Today Show. Condron has supervised the construction of eight-foot tall tetrahedrons, cubes, octahedrons, icosahedrons, and dodecahedrons of copper. Working with the faculty, staff and students of the School of Metaphysics, he has supervised the construction and planting of these sacred forms at the intersection of ley lines around and on the acre campus located in the Ozarks near Springfield, Missouri. This is a higher form of ecology that actually feeds and heals mother Earth. He has discovered how to create world sacred sites. Condrons diretion has become a scacred site. Books written by Dr.
