Princeps gloriosissime caelestis militiae, sancte Michael Archangele, defende nos in proelio et colluctatione, quae nobis adversus principes et potestates, adversus mundi rectores tenebrarum harum, contra spiritualia nequitiae, in caelestibus. Veni in auxilium hominum, quos Deus creavit inexterminabiles, et ad imaginem similitudinis suae fecit, et a tyrannide diaboli emit pretio magno. Proeliare hodie cum beatorum Angelorum exercitu proelia Domini, sicut pugnasti contra ducem superbiae Luciferum, et angelos eius apostaticos: Sed proiectus est draco ille magnus, serpens antiquus, qui vocatur diabolus et satanas, qui seducit universum orbem; et proiectus est in terram, et angeli eius cum illo missi sunt. En antiquus inimicus et homicida vehementer erectus est. Transfiguratus in angelum lucis, cum tota malignorum spirituum caterva late circuit et invadit terram, ut in ea deleat nomen Dei et Christi eius, animasque ad aeternae gloriae coronam destinatas furetur, mactet ac perdat in sempiternum interitum. Virus nequitiae suae, tamquam flumen immundissimum, draco maleficus transfundit in homines depravatos mente et corruptos corde; spiritum mendacii, impietatis et blasphemiae; halitumque mortiferum luxuriae, vitiorum omnium et iniquitatum. Ecclesiam, Agni immaculati sponsam, faverrimi hostes repleverunt amaritudinibus, inebriarunt absinthio; ad omnia desiderabilia eius impias miserunt manus. Ubi sedes beatissimi Petri et Cathedra veritatis ad lucem gentium constituta est, ibi thronum posuerunt abominationis et impietatis suae; ut percusso Pastore, et gregem disperdere valeant. Adesto itaque, Dux invictissime, populo Dei contra irrupentes spirituales nequitas, et fac victoriam. Te custodem et patronum sancta veneratur Ecclesia; te gloriatur defensore adversus terrestrium et infernorum nefarias potestates; tibi tradidit Dominus animas redemptorum in superna felicitate locandas. Deprecare Deum pacis, ut conerit satanam sub pedibus nostris, ne ultra valeat captivos tenere homines, et Ecclesiae nocere. Offer nostras preces in conspectu Altissimi, ut cito anticipent nos misericordiae Domini, et apprehendas draconem, serpentem antiquum, qui est diabolus et satanas, ac ligatum mittas in abyssum, ut non seducat amplius gentes. O glorious Archangel St. Michael, Prince of the heavenly host, defend us in battle, and in the struggle which is ours against the principalities and Powers, against the rulers of this world of darkness, against spirits of evil in high places Eph 6: Come to the aid of men, whom God created immortal, made in his own image and likeness, and redeemed at a great price from the tyranny of the devil Wisdom 2: Fight this day the battle of the Lord, together with the holy angels, as already thou hast fought the leader of the proud angels, Lucifer, and his apostate host, who were powerless to resist thee, nor was there a place for them any longer in Heaven. But that cruel, that ancient serpent, who is called the devil or Satan, who seduces the whole world, was cast into the abyss with all his angels Rev Behold, this primeval enemy and slayer of man has taken courage, Transformed into an angel of light, he wanders about with all the multitude of wicked spirits, invading the earth in order to blot out the name of God and of his Christ, to seize upon, slay and cast into eternal perdition souls destined for the crown of eternal glory. This wicked dragon pours out, as a most impure flood, the venom of his malice on men of depraved mind and corrupt heart, the spirit of lying, of impiety, of blasphemy, and the pestilent breath of impurity, and of every vice and iniquity. These most crafty enemies have filled and inebriated with gall and bitterness the Church, the spouse of the Immaculate Lamb, and have laid impious hands on her most sacred possessions Lam 3: In the Holy Place itself, where has been set up the See of the most blessed Peter and the Chair of Truth for the light of the world, they have raised the throne of their abominable impiety, with the iniquitous design that when the Pastor has been struck, the sheep may be scattered. Arise then, O invincible prince, bring help against the attacks of the lost spirits to the people of God, and bring them the victory. The Church venerates thee as protector and patron; in thee holy Church glories as her defense against the malicious powers of this world and of hell; to thee has God entrusted the souls of men to be established in heavenly beatitude. Oh, pray to the God of peace that He may put Satan under our feet, so far conquered that he may no longer be able to hold men in captivity and harm the Church. Offer our prayers in the sight of the Most High, so that they may quickly conciliate the mercies of the Lord; and beating down the dragon, the ancient serpent, who is the devil and Satan, do thou again make him captive in the abyss, that he may no longer seduce the nations. The above mentioned formula was not meant as a rite for exorcising a particular person but "for general use" to combat the power of the evil spirits over a community or locality". The complete prayer to Saint Michael Archangel is officially called as Exorcismus in Satanam ed Angelos e apostaticos [17] [18]. Exorcism against Satanam and his angels apostate , with the mandatory use of the Sign of the cross by one hand during some signed points of this worship with or without Sacramental such as the Holy water and the Christian cross. The prayer to Saint Michael that was included in this general exorcism had in fact been published and indulgenced two years earlier, in , two years after the insertion of the more familiar Prayer to Saint Michael into the Leonine Prayers. Weller gives the following translation:

Catholic and Orthodox views[edit] Roman Catholic Church doctrine supports intercessory prayer to saints. Intercessory prayer to saints also plays an important role in the Eastern Orthodox and Oriental Orthodox churches. This practice is an application of the Catholic doctrine of the Communion of Saints. It is understood that some of the early basis for this was the belief that martyrs passed immediately into the presence of God, and could obtain graces and blessings for others. A further reinforcement was derived from the cult of the angels which, while pre-Christian in its origin, was heartily embraced by the faithful of the sub-Apostolic age. Jerome , "If the Apostles and Martyrs, while still in the body, can pray for others, at a time when they must still be anxious for themselves, how much more after their crowns, victories, and triumphs are won! It is good and useful suppliantly to invoke them, and to have recourse to their prayers, aid, and help for obtaining benefits from God, through His Son Jesus Christ our Lord, Who alone is our Redeemer and Saviour. Protestant views[edit] With the exception of a few early Protestant churches, most modern Protestant churches strongly reject all saintly intercession, which they believe is contrary to biblical teaching. Protestant churches believe they should follow the teaching on prayer given by Jesus as related in the Gospels: One day Jesus was praying in a certain place. When he finished, one of his disciples said to him, "Lord, teach us to pray, just as John taught his disciples. Neither Jesus nor any of the Apostles ever gave instruction to address prayers to saints. On the contrary, Paul states "For there is one God and one mediator between God and mankind, the man Christ Jesus, who gave himself as a ransom for all people" 1 Timothy 2: The Augsburg Confession emphasizes that Christ is the only mediator between God and man, and that he is the one to address prayers to. In ancient Judaism, it was also popular to pray for intercession from Michael in spite of the rabbinical prohibition against appealing to angels as intermediaries between God and his people. There were two prayers written beseeching him as the prince of mercy to intercede in favor of Israel: The main conflict is over a practice of beseeching a tzadik who has already died to make intercession before the Almighty. It strongest opposition is found largely among sectors of Modern Orthodox Judaism, Dor Daim and Talmide ha Rambam , and among aspects of the Litvish Chareidi community. Those who oppose this practice usually do so over the problem of idolatry , as Jewish Law strictly prohibits making use of a mediator melitz or agent sarsur between oneself and the Almighty. Those Jews who support the use of intercessors claim that their beseeching of the tzadik is not prayer or worship. The conflict between the groups is essentially over what constitutes prayer, worship, a mediator melitz , and an agent sarsur. This section does not cite any sources. August Main article: Tawassul Tawassul is the practice of using someone as a means or an intermediary in a supplication directed towards God. An example of this would be such: Serer religion In the religion of the Serer people of Senegal , the Gambia and Mauritania , some of their ancient dead are canonized as Holy Saints, called Pangool in the Serer language. These ancient ancestors act as interceders between the living world and their supreme deity Roog.

The issue of Catholics praying to saints is one that is full of confusion. It is the official position of the Roman Catholic Church that Catholics do not pray to saints or Mary, but rather that Catholics can ask saints or Mary to pray for them. The official position of the Roman Catholic Church is that asking saints for their prayers is no different than asking someone here on earth to pray for us. However, the practice of many Catholics diverges from official Roman Catholic teaching. Whatever the case, whether a saint or Mary is being prayed to, or asked to pray, neither practice has any biblical basis. The Bible nowhere instructs believers in Christ to pray to anyone other than God. The Bible nowhere encourages, or even mentions, believers asking individuals in heaven for their prayers. Catholics view Mary and the saints as "intercessors" before God. They believe that a saint, who is glorified in Heaven, has more "direct access" to God than we do. Therefore, if a saint delivers a prayer to God, it is more effective than us praying to God directly. This concept is blatantly unbiblical. They cannot mediate our prayer requests to God. With Jesus Himself interceding for us, why would we need Mary or the saints to intercede for us? Whom would God listen to more closely than His Son? With the 2nd and 3rd members of the Trinity already interceding for us before the Father in heaven, what possible need could there be to have Mary or the saints interceding for us? Catholics argue that praying to Mary and the saints is no different than asking someone here on earth to pray for us. Let us examine that claim. Many Scriptures describe believers praying for one another 2 Corinthians 1: The Bible nowhere describes anyone in heaven praying for anyone on earth. Mary and the saints are not omniscient. Even glorified in heaven, they are still finite beings with limitations. How could they possibly hear the prayers of millions of people? In the one instance when a "saint" is spoken to, Samuel in 1 Samuel It is clear that praying to Mary or the saints is completely different from asking someone here on earth to pray for us. Asking people on earth to pray for us has a strong biblical basis; asking the saints or Mary to pray has no biblical basis whatsoever. God does not answer prayers based on who is praying. God answers prayers based on whether they are asked according to His will 1 John 5: There is absolutely no basis or need to pray to anyone other than God alone. There is no basis for asking those who are in heaven to pray for us. Only God can hear our prayers. Only God can answer our prayers.

What are the prayers of the saints in Revelation 5: God established incense as a part of the sacerdotal system and therefore as symbolism in Exodus. The prayers of the saints in Revelation 5: The prayers of the righteous are pleasing to Him. Prayer is linked to the incense in the temple in other passages, as well. There are certainly different types of prayers. But there are other types, too, like the prayers of imprecation. Psalm: God considers prayer-at-large as incense—a sweet aroma to Him. The term saint in Scripture implies parity, not hierarchy. We are all one in Christ Galatians 3: The saints are all believers in Jesus, living or dead, saved by grace through faith. Whom are these prayers of the saints for in Revelation 5: If you pray for the safety and relief of people after a natural disaster, that prayer is in the bowl. If you pray that God would conform you into the image of Jesus Christ, that prayer is in the bowl. Such prayers are well-pleasing to Him. The dead have already sealed their fate, for good or for evil see Luke: There is no post-mortem plan of salvation. Now is the day of salvation 2 Corinthians 6: After death, a person faces judgment, not further opportunity Hebrews 9: So, if you pray that God would save or relieve someone who has already died, that prayer would not be in the bowl. Such prayers are futile. The living creatures and elders sing a hymn of praise to the Lamb:

5: What are the prayers of the saints in Revelation ?

Some people ask "why say prayers to saints? Shouldn't all our prayers be to God?" Praying to the saints is praying to God, in a fundamental way. We're praying to those who can ask God to help us in our various needs in accordance with His will.

He loves us and knows our needs, and He wants us to communicate with Him through prayer. We should pray to Him and no one else. As we make a habit of approaching God in prayer, we will come to know Him and draw ever nearer to Him. Our desires will become more like His. We will be able to secure for ourselves and for others blessings that He is ready to give if we will but ask in faith. The power of our prayers depends on us. As we strive to make prayer a part of our lives, we should remember this counsel: Make our prayers meaningful. Use language that shows love, respect, reverence, and closeness. The application of this principle will vary according to different languages. If we pray in English, for example, we should use the pronouns of the scriptures when we address God—"Thee, Thou, Thy, and Thine, rather than the more common pronouns you, your, and yours. Regardless of the language, the principle remains the same: When we pray, we should use words that appropriately convey a loving, worshipful relationship with God. Always give thanks to Heavenly Father. As we take time to remember our blessings, we will recognize how much our Heavenly Father has done for us. We should express our thanks to Him. Alma counseled his son Helaman: Remember the needs of others as we pray. We should ask our Heavenly Father to bless and comfort those in need. Seek the guidance of the Holy Ghost so we will know what to include in our prayers. The Holy Ghost can teach us to pray and guide us in the things we say see Romans 8: When we make a request through prayer, we must do all we can to assist in its being granted. Heavenly Father expects us to do more than merely ask Him for blessings. Our prayers for guidance will be only as effective as our efforts to be receptive to the whisperings of the Holy Ghost. If we have a difficult task before us, Heavenly Father is pleased when we get on our knees and ask for help and then get on our feet and go to work. He will help us in all our righteous pursuits, but He seldom will do something for us that we can do ourselves. Personal, private prayer is an essential part of our spiritual development. At least every morning and every night, we should find a place that is free from distractions and kneel in humility and commune with our Heavenly Father. Prayer is two-way communication. As we close our prayers, we should take time to pause and listen. At times, Heavenly Father will counsel, guide, or comfort us while we are on our knees. We should never give in to the idea that we are not worthy to pray. If we do not feel like praying, we should pray until we do feel like praying. Throughout each day, we can maintain a constant feeling of love for our Heavenly Father and His Beloved Son. We can silently express gratitude to our Father and ask Him to strengthen us in our responsibilities. In times of temptation or physical danger, we can silently ask for His help. Family Prayer In addition to commanding us to pray in private, the Savior has exhorted us to pray with our families. Every morning and every evening, we should kneel together in humility, giving each family member frequent opportunities to say the prayer and uniting in gratitude for the blessings Heavenly Father has given us. We should also unite in faith to plead for the blessings we need and to pray for others. Through regular family prayer, our family members will draw nearer to God and to each other. Our children will learn to communicate with their Father in Heaven. We will all be better prepared to serve others and withstand temptations. Our homes will be places of spiritual strength, a refuge from the evil influences of the world. Public Prayer At times we may be asked to offer a public prayer, perhaps in a Church meeting or class. When we receive this opportunity, we should remember that we are communicating with Heavenly Father, not giving a public sermon. We should not worry about what others may think of what we say. Instead, we should offer a simple, heartfelt prayer. Heavenly Father hears our prayers. He may not always answer as we expect, but He does answer—in His own time and according to His will. Because He knows what is best for us, He may sometimes answer no, even when our petitions are sincere. Answers to prayer come in many ways. They may come in the circumstances of our lives or through the kind acts of those around us. As we continue to draw near to our Heavenly Father through prayer, we will recognize more readily His merciful and wise answers to our pleadings.

When you ask someone to pray for you are you worshiping that person? They are not the focus of our worship, God is. In this regard, it is worth noting that many compilations of prayers to saints also include prayers by them as well, to our Lord. The important thing to remember is that all these prayers have the same Divine destination, for our salvation. In the saints we have as advocates members of what is called the Church triumphant those already in heaven. We on earth are part of the Church militant. In addition, with the Church suffering those in purgatory we all make up what is known as the Communion of Saints, part of one glorious mystical body of Christ in His Church. We are truly all in this together! Note that the saints had their weaknesses and struggles just we do. But they also had a tremendous devotion to God. They became canonized that is to say, officially recognized as Catholic Saints after their deaths. This was usually done after a lengthy review of both the holiness of their lives and miracles associated with them. What is comforting is that with the saints we have so many members of our Church in heaven to look out for us! Do you ever feel some days like you need all the help you can get? You can ask one of many patron saints for their assistance. These saints are considered our protectors as well as our intercessors. Patrick is the patron Saint of Ireland, for example, and people get their throats blessed on the feast day of St. Just as a reminder, a feast day in the Catholic Church is a day to give special honor, that is to say recognition, to God, saints, doctrines, or sacred events. Many saints are patrons of more than one occupation or cause, such as St. Joseph, who, besides being a Universal Patron of the Church is also considered a patron saint of fathers, carpenters, and social justice. Therese of Lisieux, the "Little Flower," known for her great humility in her "Little Way", is patron saint not only of florists but also of missions as well. The Blessed Virgin Mary is also considered a patron saint and has been given quite a few names as one, including many for places she has appeared as in Our Lady of Fatima, Our Lady of Lourdes, and Our Lady of Guadalupe. For example, people pray to St. Anthony for lost items; to St. Jude or perhaps St. Rita for lost causes; to St. Gerard for motherhood; to St. Peregrine for Cancer victims; and to St. Dymphna for those with mental or nervous disorders, or epilepsy. For many years the prayer to St. Michael the Archangel was included at the end of Mass for his help in defeating Satan. Keep in mind that God also calls on us to be saints. This prayer from St. As we read in the wonderful prayer of St.
