

1: Queen Latifah - Biography - IMDb

Queen Latifah received a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame in . Latifah's work in music, film and television has earned her a Grammy Award, an Emmy Award, a Golden Globe Award, three Screen Actors Guild Awards, two NAACP Image Awards, an Academy Award nomination and sales of over two million records.

He gave the recording to Fab 5 Freddy , the host of Yo! Her songs covered topics including domestic violence , harassment on the streets, and relationship problems. Latifah was also a member of the hip-hop collective Native Tongues. On July 11, , Latifah sang at the famed Hollywood Bowl in Los Angeles as the headlining act in a live jazz concert. Before a crowd of more than 12,, she was backed by a piece live orchestra and three backup vocalists, which was billed as the Queen Latifah Orchestra. Return to hip-hop[edit] In , Latifah was asked if she would make another hip-hop album. The following year, in , she released her album Persona. She also has a song with Missy Elliott. Film and television[edit]

” Early career[edit] From to , Latifah had a starring role on Living Single , the FOX sitcom, which gained high ratings among black audiences; she also wrote and performed its theme music. Her mother Rita played her mother on-screen. She began her film career in supporting roles in the and films House Party 2 , Juice and Jungle Fever. She had her own talk show, The Queen Latifah Show , from to and revamped in . Production of the series closed down, taking effect on December 18, , leaving new episodes that were broadcast until March 6, . Mainstream success[edit] Queen Latifah performing at the "Kids Inaugural: We Are the Future" concert in . Although Latifah had previously received some critical acclaim, she gained mainstream success after being cast as Matron "Mama" Morton in Chicago , a musical film that won the Academy Award for Best Picture. Blige , Best Supporting Actress, Mudbound. In , she starred with Steve Martin in the film Bringing Down the House , which was a major success at the box office. Since then, she has had both leading and supporting roles in a multitude of films that received varied critical and box office receptions, including films such as Scary Movie 3 , Barbershop 2: The Meltdown her first voice appearance in an animated film , and appeared in the drama Stranger Than Fiction. The summer of brought Latifah triple success in the big-screen version of the Broadway smash hit Hairspray , in which she acted, sang, and danced. The film rated highly with critics. She starred with Dolly Parton in Joyful Noise . The show will undergo a reboot with a new cast and Brett Matthews serving as show runner. In addition, Shakim Compere and Yaneley Arty will also be credited as executive producers for the series under Flavor Unit Entertainment. She possesses a two-octave vocal range. Queen Latifah is a contralto , and she has the ability to rap and sing. Products and endorsements[edit] Latifah is a celebrity spokesperson for CoverGirl cosmetics, Curvation ladies underwear, Pizza Hut , and Jenny Craig. She also dedicated Black Reign to him. In her autobiography, Ladies First: In , Latifah was the victim of a carjacking , which also resulted in the shooting of her boyfriend, Sean Moon.

2: Queen Latifah to receive Marian Anderson Award

Queen Latifah was certainly not the first female rapper, but she was the first one to become a bona fide star. She had more charisma than her predecessors, and her strong, intelligent, no-nonsense persona made her arguably the first MC who could properly be described as feminist.

Latifah has had amazing success in Hollywood and became the first hip-hop artist to get a star on the Hollywood Walk of Fame in . She is the surrogate mom to Star newcomer Jude Demorest , who came up in the foster care system. Queen as Carlotta in an upcoming episode of Star Courtesy of FOX Carlotta owns an Atlanta beauty salon, has a past in music and has a transgender daughter. In this interview Queen talks about her character, goals for the show, Paris Jackson guesting as an internet social media diva and more! Everybody wants to know. Did you get to spend time with her? Did you share any scenes with her? No, but I was very, very excited to know that she was doing this role. This is such a fun role. But, this character that she plays gets to give them the business and be funny at the same time. I came in the next day after Paris shot, and everyone told me she knocked it out the park. They said she was fantastic. I hope this is the beginning for some great things for her. What do you like most about your Carlotta character? What part of her really drew you in? Yet, she still has a huge capacity to love, and she never gives up. She still wants to be redeemed in many ways. She always keeps trying to challenge and grow and change. Is she fun to play? One of the fun things about your character Carlotta is she owns a hair salon and changes hair color and style a lot. Can you talk a little bit about that? Carlotta is not a stereotype. She is someone we know, but the women we know love to spend time on their hair. Hair is very important, particularly in the black community. She does have a lot of expression and difference inside of her that she kind of gets to let out through these wigs. This is still a way of her feeling special even in the midst of everything going crazy around her. Do you personally have a song that you consider your personal theme song? So, I think Bob would be my go-to if I were to say what artist is my go-to. That was also one of the big draws to play Carlotta is the fact that she has a trans daughter. The topic of being trans or having a trans child or becoming trans later in life, is very topical. We wanted to show the conversation. How is that going to change their relationship going forward? But, they come with the baggage they come with and they also greatly care for each other. All of these truths are going to make it a lot more messy. I think she tried to protect that relationship to just hold on to this little piece of Heaven for as long as she could, but now that things are starting to come out, she may be surprised by his response to it. Is it up to our television shows and movies to actually start to take on more issues or are they just for entertainment? I think music and art are one of the greatest ways that have moved the conversation along throughout history. Do you have a message for viewers out there? Stay positive by just taking a moment to breathe and remind yourself that we make our world. So, we can make it different. We can make it better. I always want to encourage people to not be afraid to just create a new future and hopefully a more positive one. Check local listings for time.

3: Queen Latifah Gives a Sneak Peek at New TV Show 'Star' | www.enganchecubano.com

Oct. 10, Broadcast: At the age of 17, Queen Latifah was an unknown rap artist in New Jersey who'd never even cut a record. But she quickly earned her title, becoming the queen of hip-hop, and.

But she quickly earned her title, becoming the queen of hip-hop, and then expanding her kingdom by becoming a movie star, a TV actress, an entrepreneur, a writer and a talk-show host. And she never stopped singing. But this time, as Correspondent Bob Simon reports, this year-old Queen of Rap is changing her tune. Dana, or Queen Latifah, is a devout Christian, but she chose to call herself Latifah when she was a child. But she could have fooled a lot of people. Her portrayal of the jail keeper, the merciless Mama Morton in the movie "Chicago," also won her an Oscar nomination. Is she really as supremely self-confident as she seems to be? It jumped off so quickly, totally accepted. And you will not look at me as a sexual object, on top of that. Or they are second-class citizens," says Latifah. I met a lot of women who lack self-esteem. Her brother, Lancelot, nicknamed Winki, was two years older. Her parents divorced when she was a child, and her mother, hard-pressed for money, had to move with her two kids into the projects. We were by the railroad tracks," recalls Rita Owens. Her mother held down two jobs, enrolled in college, and 11 months later, she took her kids out of the projects. They wound up in East Orange, N. Queen Latifah took 60 Minutes back to her old neighborhood. It really was a royal visitation. And in fact, basketball was her game. She was a high school star, but it was after school that she discovered the rap music that would change her life. Her mega-hit, "Ladies First," celebrated the role of strong women. And when the money started pouring in, she shared it with her family. She bought her mother a new home, and she bought her brother the motorcycle of his dreams for his 24th birthday. Two months later, he died riding it. It was like losing both your legs and both your arms. Now you have to - you can still live, but damn," says Latifah. Because she was absolutely spiraling out of control," says Rita Owens. And she was doing whatever it took to kill the pain. Her career was soaring. She agreed the crew at a motorcycle shop in New Jersey. Fast sports bikes are one of her passions. She says they provide an escape from the pressures of celebrity. I have worn a helmet most of the time. She got her big break when Spike Lee cast her in the movie "Jungle Fever. This led to a TV series, "Living Single," and then her own talk show and more movies, including "Chicago. She was a big-breasted, sexy woman that was a pistol! Queen Latifah insists that African Americans get to work on the set of the movies she makes, like "Beauty Shop," which is in production. And I hate that," says Latifah. Now you gonna stop following me around this damn store. Why does she think the press has been so obsessed with her figure?

4: From Music Queen To Movie Star - CBS News

“Queen Latifah was certainly not the first female rapper, but she was the first one to become a bona fide star. She had more charisma than her predecessors, and her strong, intelligent, no-nonsense persona made her arguably the first MC who could properly be described as feminist.

She came from a police family--both her father and older brother were cops, which would later influence her rhyming style and life philosophy. Her brother died in a motorcycle accident in Owens witnessed both sides of Black urban life in the USA while growing up. After a brief stint as a Burger King employee, she soon found herself making waves in the hip-hop music scene. Her debut single, "Wrath of My Madness," was released in A year later, her debut long-player, "All Hail the Queen," enjoyed favored reviews: The former Burger King employee maintained her early commitment to answer the misogynist armory of some of her male counterparts and, at the same time, imparted musical good times to all genders. Her name means "delicate and sensitive" in Arabic, but she has often been anything but in her rhymes and the messages she sends out through them. One of the most prominent female hip-hop artists on the scene for over a decade, Queen Latifah has also made tremendous inroads in movies, television, and artist management, with her management company, Flavor Unit, alongside her business partner Shakim Compere. A role model who takes the responsibility to heart, Latifah has carefully constructed a fine career for herself--one that is constantly moving upward. Arrested for carrying a loaded handgun and marijuana on February 3, Was the victim of a carjacking, which also resulting in the shooting of her boyfriend, Sean Moon. She still wears the motorcycle key around her neck. Co-founder of Flavor Unit Entertainment. First female rapper to be nominated for an Academy Award. Unfortunately, producers could not set up the film in time and this was delayed and recast. Was listed as a potential nominee on the Razzie Award nominating ballot. She was listed as a suggestion in the Worst Actress category for her performances in the films Barbershop 2: Back in Business , The Cookout , and Taxi However, she failed to receive a nomination. She was nicknamed "Latifah" Arabic for delicate and sensitive by a cousin while she was in her teens. Had not done any musical theatre since high school prior to her role as Matron "Mama" Morton in Chicago Volume , pages Gale, Cengage Learning, Under her birth name, Dana Owens, Queen Latifah and her longtime personal trainer, Jeanette Jenkins , bought a 2, square-foot, 3-bedroom, 2. Counts Timothy Snell as her favorite personal stylist. Quotes Amandla Stenberg as one of her heroines. Counts Boomerang and Forrest Gump among her favorite movies. Friends with Jada Pinkett Smith , and L. First woman to host the Independent Spirit Awards. Coincidentally, Latifah had experience as a nurse in The Bone Collector I love being able to take an idea and sell it to a studio. Or I disappoint myself. Discipline will be the hard part. I wish every woman would love herself and embrace what she was given naturally. I am not one to turn down macaroni and cheese, even late at night. I love Italian food. A refrigerator full of water and Gatorade? Hopefully, its mountains will be higher than its valleys are deep. I know things that are broken can be fixed. Take the punch if you have to, hit the canvas and then get up again. Life is worth it. It was a very vulnerable time going from being insecure about my body and who I am to becoming comfortable with me. I had to tune out what the hell everybody else had to say about who I was. When I was able to do that, I felt free. Dreams become reality when we put our minds to it. Every time I hail a cab in New York, and they pass me by and pick up the white person, then I get a dose of it. I grew up with that. If my brother and I wanted money in our pockets, we had to get jobs - my first was at Burger King. I want to be a role model. Make sure you shape it back.

5: Queen Latifah | Biography & History | AllMusic

Queen Latifah was certainly not the first female rapper, but she was the first one to become a bona fide star. She had more charisma than her predecessors, and her strong, intelligent, no-nonsense.

If we all elevate each other, it keeps going. We were taking care of our family. Latifah credits her family with instilling in her a strong sense of self at a young age. She points to the scar on her forehead, the result of tripping over a phone cord and hitting her head on the bathroom door when she was 3 years old. But she had bigger aims from the start. The transition from rapper to actor was a logical one in her mind. Fox and Kimberly Elise. Soon enough, other hip-hop stars began to cross over. Shortly after its cancellation, media outlets reported that she paid some staff members out of her own pocket through the holidays. It was bad timing, holidays were coming, and we wanted to make sure everyone would be OK through the New Year. And Bessie is not a victim in any way. She was so empowered. Though the project broke apart at the time, the Zanucks kept it percolating Richard died in , and Latifah would constantly check in. Then she would reach down and give us more. Latifah, who has been open about struggling with depression after the death of her brother in a motorcycle accident in , says she found common ground with Smith. All these things made sense to me. It has nothing to do with my life. She admits that before she was in the public eye, she remembers speculating on the sexuality of famous people. We act like sex is bad sometimes. We act like love is bad sometimes, or makes you weak somehow. She has a star quality that lights up the screen. While she adds that anything can be a Flavor Unit project, she and Compere gravitate toward the positive. Want to read more articles like this one? Subscribe to Variety Today.

6: The Dana Owens Album by Queen Latifah on Apple Music

Queen Latifah has been busy creating music, acting, producing her own television shows and is enjoying the success of her recent comedy movie "Girls Trip." After many years of talking about being a mother and wanting a family, the accomplished star finally told reporters when and how she will start her family.

7: Every Wig Queen Latifah Wore on STAR | TV Guide

Queen Latifah is credited as the first female rapper to become a bona fide star. From hip-hop, to movies, sitcoms, even her own talk show, she has touched on it all.

8: Queen Latifah Talks FOX's TV Show Star | Interview | Lee Daniels

Queen Latifah has never shied away from a battle. She was 16 years old when she told Michael Kenneth Williams that she wanted to be a rapper. She jokes that the actor didn't believe her, but.

9: Queen Latifah to star in Lee Daniels' new TV pilot - CBS News

Queen Latifah is an established rapper, record producer and flourishing actress. She has starred in such films as Chicago and Hairspray. Learn more at www.enganchecubano.com

Websters New World dictionary of science Science as a problem-solving activity Notes on the texts The chronicle of William, the son of George The Chesapeake Bay cookbook Material technology by op khanna Censorship of dissent One knee equals two feet Jean Aicardi 1. 2. 3. 4. 5. 6. 7. 8. 9. Cce books for class 8 The Pop Culture Collector Artillery of the world Jack russell savvy Miranda the Magnificent (Picture Story Books) Remote sensing book by basudeb bhatta Savitch java 8th edition Making wise health decisions Designing CMOS Circuits for Low Power (European Low-Power Initiative for Electronic System Design (Series The patient who cries From russia with love Brownfield redevelopment guidebook for Michigan The Life Portraits of Thomas Jefferson The last mammoth. Rise and fall of the Nicaraguan revolution. Montaignes essays in three books. With notes and quotations. And an account of the authors life. . Transl Art as style/style as art, and the problem with that Fables and tales from La Fontaine 2006 Brief Review in Global History and Geography The best of Fredric Brown How to Paint Watercolor Window Splashes Non-linear electromagnetic systems The Principles of Psychology Part One Parrot ar drone 2.0 manual World Almanac Book of Facts, 1983 The big book of health and fitness MUFFIN FIEND, THE Canadian daily math grade 3 The Janus murder case. Fate of Madame La Tour Impact of science and technology on human life