5 www.enganchecubano.com Until , guns were unregulated in the United States. That was the year the National Firearms Act made it illegal to possess a machine gun without paying a $ excise tax to the U.S. Treasury.

Can you imagine that? April 21, at 4: Their own terms and testimonials which I have read and have no reason to doubt without proof have shown that they pay up front for retainers before a plea is even entered or charged. So, even if what you say is correct, then I still agree with it. Gun Fu Guru April 21, at 5: Your stating that shows that you do not fundamentally understand the basic legal concepts that most high school students know. If you shot at someone, then you committed a criminal offense. The legal system allows someone charged for that offense to state that he did so only in a justified manner. However, an ethical prosecutor will not file those charges if there is actual evidence to reasonably substantiate any possible claim of justification. USCCA will pay for what they say up front. Mystick That is not the case. It is only a criminal matter if a grand jury decides it is or if the AG decides to prosecute based on evidence. Gun Fu Guru April 21, at 6: Shootings are still criminal actions regardless of whether or not the action is prosecuted. The justifiability of it is merely an affirmative defense to preclude legal action by a prosecutor. Innocent until proven guilty. Now I tell you I am a paramedic, and they needed a needle decompression in order to relieve pressure on the lung- now what? Try not to build straw men. Dakota Raduenz April 22, at And spoke about how once you are charged with that criminal offense, you may THEN mount the self defense argument. That speaks to a misunderstanding of how our legal system works. Let me try to show what I mean, genuinely. You shot, it is a criminal matter, period. You may then argue your innocence. I find that wrong. This is no different from a cop using a firearm to stop a crime and someone else doing it and being charged and convicted. Same act, different results DaveGinOly April 22, at A prosecution takes place when it is not clear that the use of force was lawful, with onus for that proof on the state. Only the latter is always a crime. Jason Bourne Go back to Google and try again. Laws are not laws because a judge says soâ€¦ Basic civics dude.

3: BREAKING: USCCA Has Been Disinvited To NRA Annual Meeting -The Firearm Blog

NRA's got skin in the self-defense insurance game now. Looks like it's priced about the same as USCCA. Haven't sat down to compare the two systems, but it's probably almost the same deal.

Thanks for posting this. Didn't know coverage like this existed and I'm all about insurance. However, if the pool is k like they say on the site, and just making a WAG about the likely hood of payouts considering the size of the pool, it seems this coverage could be more like $ bucks a year as in your wife's 50% off cvg., instead of $ per year for the policy owner.

In a press release issued yesterday, it was revealed that the USCCA has been disinvited to NRA Annual www.enganchecubano.com press release comes less than two weeks from the show and cited no reason other than a wild guess as to the NRA's motives.

8: Mes recherches sur les armes Ã feu et la criminalit© aux USA et dans le monde

In comparing USCCA's sales video with Carry Guard's FAQ, though, it still "appears" (??) that USCCA might offer better initial support--having a case manager and having an attorney contact you, vs. connecting you with someone who gives you the contact info for an attorney.
