The accompanying book features Mary Ruth's knitting instructions written "just the way Grandma taught me," with all the basic techniques and directions for four projects: a Barkley Ball, Hotsy-Totsy Hat, Tasseled Skinny Scarf, and Kitty Comforter.

Once you get the hang of it, you will quickly become addicted. The click, click sound of knitting will become a constant in your life. When you first learn how to knit, a scarf is a great beginning project. It offers you easy practice, but also leaves you with a handmade scarf to add to your wardrobe. Gather your supplies before you start. I choose my knitting needles and yarn based on how they feel. You need to be comfortable with how they feel in your hands. Choose your products carefully and make sure you feel comfortable with them. You will want to use worsted weight yarn. When you first begin, you should choose one solid color later on you can use multiple and variegated colors. Make sure you touch all of the different yarns you like before buying. Knitting needles are available in many different materials, like metal, plastic, bamboo, resin, and different kinds of wood. I personally prefer wood or bamboo needles, and they are great for beginners. Again, choose something that feels most comfortable to you. It is helpful to have a crochet hook for picking up dropped stitches size H or close. You should keep a pair of scissors on hand to cut your yarn. This might seem like an odd material, but it is necessary. Wooden needles and the yarn absorb oils from your hands. You need to find a way to keep your hands moisturized while keeping your yarn clean. Knitting Terminology, Abbreviations, and Symbols After you learn how to knit, you will need to know the terminology to follow patterns. When you cast on you are creating a row of initial stitches on your knitting needle. This is how you begin your project. The knit stitch is the basic knitting stitch. The purl stitch is kind of like the inverse of the knit stitch. You often combine it with the knit stitch in many projects. This is the side of the garment that will show when worn. This side of the garment is the side that will be inside when worn. The side of the work closest to your right hand as you are working on it. The side of the work closest to your left hand as you are working on it. The asterisk is used to mark the beginning and end of a portion of instructions that you will do more than once. Parentheses enclose instructions which should be worked the exact number of times specified by the number following the parentheses. Knit 1, purl 1 twice means that you will complete the instructions between the parentheses two times before moving on with the instructions. Choose Your Favorite Yarn! Even the simplest stitches can make a spectacular scarf. Casting On Casting on is one of the most difficult parts of knitting to learn, but is easy once you get the hand of it. Because it is a bit complex, I recommend you read my article How to Cast On if you are a beginning knitter. This is an easy, illustrated, step-by-step guide to this beginning step to any knitting project. How to Knit Knitting is made up of two basic stitches, the knit stitch and the purl stitch. You can combine these two stitches to create a lot of different effects and textures. Ready to learn the knit stitch? Cast on 24 stitches. Hold the needle with the 24 cast-on stitches in your left hand. Insert the point of the right needle into the first stitch, from front to back under the left needle. With your right index finger, bring the loose yarn under and over the point of the right needle. Now, draw the yarn through the stitch with your right needle point. Slip the first loop on the left needle off, so you now have the new stitch on the right needle. You have completed your first knit stitch! Repeat these four steps in each stitch remaining on your left needle. When all of the stitches are on your right needle, with none left on your left needle, one row has been completed. Turn the right needle, hold it in your left hand, and use the free needle in your right hand. Work another row of stitches. Practice by knitting 10 more rows of knit stitch. Step-by-Step Photos Insert the right needle into the first stitch on the left needle, from front to back. Bring the loose yarn under and over the needle. Draw the yarn through the stitch with your right needle. Slip the first loop on the left needle off. The new stitch will now be on your right needle. Begin the steps over with the next stitch on the left needle. Insert needle and yarn over. Pull the yarn through the stitch. Drop the stitch off the left needle, leaving the new stitch on the right needle. Garter Stitch The pattern that forms when you knit every row is called the garter stitch. It looks the same on both sides. The difference between the knit and purl stitches is that with purl stitch, you insert your right needle point from right to left, in front of your left needle. You can cast on more stitches, or continue on with the 10 rows you knitted from above. Insert your right needle, from left to right, into the first stitch, and in front of the left needle. Hold the yarn in front of your work the side facing you, and bring the yarn around the right needle counterclockwise. Using your right needle, pull the yarn back through the stitch. Slide the stitch off of the left needle, leaving the new stitch on your right needle. You have completed your first purl stitch! Repeat these four steps in every stitch across the row to complete one row of purl stitches. Now, transfer the needle with the stitches from your right to left hand. Knit every stitch in the row. At the end of the row, transfer the needle with the stitches to your left hand, then purl every stitch in the next row. Knit another row, then purl another row. Step-by-Step Photos Insert right needle into first stitch on left needle. The right needle will be in front of the left needle. Bring loose yarn over the right needle, from right to left. Bring loose yarn through the stitch, then drop old stitch off of loose needle. The new stitch will be on the right needle. Here is a view of the purl stitch from further along the row. Stop and look at your work. When you alternate between knit and purl rows, you create a common stitch pattern called the stockinette stitch. Continue practicing the stockinette stitch until you feel comfortable with the knit and purl stitches. You can make a scarf of all garter stitch, all stockinette stitch, or follow one of the patterns below. The Ribbed Scarf This is a fairly basic scarf which will let you practice the two stitches you just learned: The ribbing on this scarf will make it skinnier than it will first appear on your needles. Work 2x2 rib across row, beg with K2 and ending with K2, turn. Rep last two rows until scarf is desired length. Cast on 38 stitches or 18 stitches if you want a skinnier scarf. Work 2x2 ribbing across the row by knitting two stitches, then purling two stitches, then knitting two stitches, etc. You will begin this row by knitting two stitches, and end the row by knitting two stitches. Turn your work, so the stitches will once again be on your left side. Continue the ribbing by working the stitches as they appear. Begin this row by purling two stitches and end with purling two stitches. Repeat these two rows until the scarf reaches your desired length. Bind off the stitches in rib. You can add fringe if you want. As the scarf gets longer, you will easily see the pattern.

Sitemap Beginning Knitting - How to Start Knitting For someone who wants to learn to knit, beginning knitting can seem confusing at first. You may be wondering just how to start knitting and what you need to get started. When you are just beginning knitting all you really need is a ball of yarn and some comfortable knitting needles. I can spend hours going through all the different types of yarn, the colors and those wonderful textures. And choosing the right ball of yarn for your knitting project can be puzzling. Make sure to pick out a nice light color too so that you can see your stitches better. Need help reading the yarn label? Here is how to read a yarn label. One note on picking out knitting yarns. Cotton yarns are wonderful though but give yourself some practice time first. Knitting needles are the next important tools for knitting. And there are loads to choose from. Needles come in many different materials like bamboo, wood, plastic, aluminum and so on. Every knitter has their favorites to knit with and over time you will too. Because you are beginning knitting and just starting out you may want to experiment with different needles to see which ones you like. After all you will need a few pairs in different sizes. Or you may even want to consider circular knitting needles. You can still knit flat with them and the great thing is they hold a lot of stitches for bigger knitting projects. I have two favorite interchangeable knitting needle sets I use and I love both. Denise and Knitters Pride. In all honesty though I use the Denise needles the most. Of course you can also buy a set of straight knitting needles too. Back to the different materials in knitting needles Bamboo or wood needles are great choices for beginning knitting. Plastic and aluminum can be slippery and your knitting stitches can slip off the ends more easily. It all depends on how you knit and what your preferences are. You may love the bamboo needles or you may like knitting faster with the plastic or aluminum. So which size knitting needles should you choose? I would start knitting with a medium size needle medium yarn, medium needles, around a size 7 4. These sizes are often used for medium weight yarns and they feel the most comfortable in your hands. I like these sizes too. Actually the size I use the most is a US 9 5. They range in length from 7 inches which is usually used for children, and go up from there; 8 - 14 inches. I find the shorter lengths less cumbersome and much easier to use than the really long ones. Even the ones for children are great while you practice. I have some short ones I really like knitting with for smaller projects. Just remember that when you start knitting bigger items you may need a longer length knitting needle in order to hold all the stitches. The size of the knitting needles and the size of the knitting yarn should compliment each other so: Really thin knitting yarn - really thin knitting needles and Really thick yarn - really thick needles I created a little page about knitting needle sizes here to help you understand about the sizing. Plus you can download a nifty knitting needle conversion chart as well. Maybe you already have your ball of yarn and knitting needles?

3: How to Knit on Circular Needles: 13 Steps (with Pictures)

Learn to Knit with Mary Ruth! Mary Ruth and her brother Jacob visit their grandma. Suddenly a storm strikes, and all the lights go out. No television! No computer! Grandma saves the day by teaching Mary Ruth and Jacob how to knit. In this box you will find two books about Mary Ruth and her.

I am both humbled and inspired by your interest. Cast on 14 stitches. Knit to desired length for placement of buttons. Knit two horizontal button holes. Continue knitting to finished length. Measure and sew on buttons. Guess I still need a little practice on the "finishing up" corner! I am so proud! This is my first start-to-finish knitting project. I never really knew how to finish things off and disengage the needles which, as you see above, will need a little more work to perfect! On a recent trip to Florida, I told my friend, Wendy, I wanted her to show me how to knit -- and so she did just that! Wendy says she learned to knit in the Girl Scouts, around the age of nine and has been knitting every since. My mother taught me how to cast on and knit when I was a kid, but I never got past those few wobbly rows. While we were knitting in warm, sunny Florida: D Wendy and I talked about a charming little knitting shop in our hometown that sold yarn, needlework supplies and offered knitting lessons. I loved that place -- The Knitting Nook -- though I never did more than buy pieces of angora we used to wrap around ring bands we made out of file folders. How kind those women were to cut gorgeous balls of angora yarn into inch pieces for a bunch of silly school girls! Wendy says she spent a lot of her babysitting money on yarn at The Knitting Nook, but never gained access to the circle of knitters who seemed to knit a lot on weekday mornings, and our stuffy high school never offered field trips for knitters! The grouping of comfy old chairs and couches making the knitters circle looked so inviting to me. I longed for a place inside that circle of women talking, laughing and nodding to passersby, while their needles never stopped clickity-clacking through big balls of yarn. And the bins stuffed full of yarns wrapped around the room like a big, cozy patchwork quilt. My fingers itched to feel the difference between a stout, no-nonsense wool and the frothy, romantic angoras. By the time I was old enough to be one of those women, I had moved far away and was a seamstress, rather than a knitter. Wendy and I shared those fond memories of The Knitting Nook last week, as she coached me along with the project she helped me to select at Knitting with Nancy in Naples, FL. Alas, there was no circle of chairs inviting us to settle in and knit for a while, but there was an impressive rainbow of yarns from around the world. And so many clever and adorable samples of patterns and projects. I would have been quite content to plop myself down on the floor and stay all day, gleaning all the knitting wisdom I could, but Wendy was working that night and we had to hurry home to get me started on my knitting. I came away from Knitting with Nancy with two sets of needles -- sizes 17 and After a few quick demos and pointers, Wendy went off to work and I knitted the scarf in the picture above. Somewhere along the way, I decided to turn it into a collar by adding buttonholes and some pretty shell buttons we found at a gigantic JoAnn Fabrics. I simply cannot follow a "recipe" completely, always changing something to suit my own taste. The Knitting Nook has been gone for a long time, but now that I am living back home and finally ready to be a knitter, I miss it all over again. I still look longingly through the windows where it was located and I imagine those women snuggled into that circle of comfy chairs, with the rhythmic click-clack of their needles. Oh, how I wish they were still there, so I could finally take my place among them -- the ladies who knit. Maybe some of you knit? Shall we pull up some chairs into a cyber circle and share our knitting stories and projects?

Learn How to Knit Choose a slide Learn how to knit your own mittens, hats, scarves, and more. Slip knitting needle through pretzel shape as shown, and pull yarn ends to tighten. Drape tail of yarn over left thumb and working yarn ball end over left index finger. Use your other fingers to catch yarn lengths in left palm. Insert needle upward through loop on thumb. Remove thumb from loop. Keeping yarn ends secured in palm, reposition thumb, and tighten new stitch on right-hand needle. Wrap the working yarn around your left index finger, and hold it in back of the left-hand needle. Insert point of right-hand needle from front to back into the first cast-on stitch on the left-hand needle, opening up a stitch. Catch working yarn with right-hand needle. Pull yarn through opened stitch. Slip cast-on stitch off left-hand needle while holding middle finger against second cast-on stitch to ensure it does not also slip off. The stitch on the right-hand needle is the newly formed knit stitch. Continue knitting across the cast-on row. When you have emptied the last stitch from the left-hand needle completing a row, exchange needles, returning the needle with stitching to your left hand. The working yarn is held in the front of the project instead of the back, and the needle is inserted from the back to the front instead of from front to back. Hold the needle with cast-on stitches in your left hand. Wrap the working yarn ball end around your left index finger, and hold it in front of the work. Insert point of right-hand needle, from back to front, into the first cast-on stitch on the left-hand needle, opening up a stitch. Lay working yarn over needle from front to back by moving left index finger downward. Push working yarn from front to back through cast-on stitch. The stitch on right-hand needle is the newly formed purl stitch. As a purl stitch faces you, it looks like a grain of rice; its reverse side looks like a V. Basically, you knit as usual but hold a few stitches in reserve on a cable needle until you need them. With the knit side facing you, insert crochet hook, front to back, into loop of dropped stitch. Use hook to catch the first horizontal "ladder," and pull it through loop to the front. Repeat until all ladders have been pulled through loop. Place the stitch back onto left-hand needle, with the right side of the loop on the front of the needle. To pick up a stitch dropped on a purl row, turn your work around, and follow the directions for picking up a dropped knit stitch. Thomas Straub 7 of 9

How to Join Yarn To join a new ball of yarn while knitting, simply stop knitting with the old ball leaving at least a 6-inch tail and begin knitting with the new one also leaving a long tail. The first stitch will be loose; pull yarn ends to tighten it. Insert left-hand needle into first stitch; lift stitch up over second stitch and 2 off the needle. Continue knitting stitches in this manner until all stitches have been cast off. Cut working yarn, leaving a 6-inch-long tail. Pull tail through last stitch to secure. Use a yarn needle to weave tail ends of yarn through backs of several stitches, picking up only surface loops. Simply fill out a card with color, gauge, pattern, and other relevant information for each project and store cards together in an easy-to-access place.

Join me and Sarah, our marketing graphic designer, as we show you that even beginner knitters can tackle these techniques and learn how to knit socks! The heel flap is the only part of the sock not knit in the round. Then work the other half of the stitches back and forth using just two dpns. With either method, the stitches on the holder or resting needles will be reserved for the front of the sock, while the ones worked back and forth will form the part of the sock that continues down along the back of your heel that is, the heel flap. Sock knitters have devised many ways to knit the heel flap, from basic to quite intricate. Turning the Heel I admit, the first time I read a sock pattern, the part about turning the heel had me a little perplexed. Knit X amount of stitches, turn, knit 2 together, knit some more and turn again. It did work out. Until you actually knit those short rows knit a partial row, make a decrease, turn the sock and work your way back without finishing the row, it sounds confusing or maybe even hard. But take a look at Sarah doing her first heel turn in this video. The gussets of a sock are those stitches along the inner and outer ankle. This is the part of your sock with the most stitches, giving you enough room to not only slip your toes into the sock, but also to pull the sock over your heel. Then work the stitches that were resting on your holder or spare needle. Finally, pick up more stitches on the other side of the heel flap. It may all seem a bit baffling now, but as this video shows, picking up the stitches is quite doable, even for someone like Sarah who has never knit socks before. Charlene offers several ideas for heel flap patterns. See just a few of the beautiful socks you can create in the photos at the bottom of this post. So, what do you think? Have you tried to master the heel flap, the heel turn, and the gusset? Did you succeed, or are you still trying? Tell us your sock story in the comments.

To knit on circular needles, start by making a slipknot on your right-hand needle and casting on stitches like you normally would according to your pattern's instructions. Next, turn your knitting project so that the working yarn is on your right and place a stitch marker between the first and last stitch so you can keep track of your place.

Besides these two stitches go together like bread and butter. The best part is, once you know how to knit and purl you can make practically anything. And the stitch patterns you can create are endless and so pretty. Think of purl stitching as the opposite to the knit stitch. You still hold your knitting needles the same way however you will hold the yarn in front of your knitting needle as you purl the stitches. Purl stitches tend to get looser so just give them a little tug when you are finished working the stitch or hold your yarn a little tighter. How to Purl Stitches Before you even begin to knit the purl stitch make sure you place the working yarn in front of your work. Insert the right needle down into the first loop on the left needle starting from the top and then move it up a little bit to catch that first loop. Then take the working yarn and wrap it around right needle counterclockwise. Snug it up a bit. Notice that with the purl stitch the right knitting needle is in front of left needle. With the knit stitch the right needle is behind the left needle. Now, with right needle and yarn still wrapped around it, slowly slide it down back through that first loop on left needle. Drop this first loop on your left needle. That stitch was just worked the new stitch is on the right needle so slide it off the needle. Just keep sliding the loop on the left needle off as it has been worked. The new purl stitch now sits on the right needle. To help you along, I have chosen two excellent purl knitting videos, using the English style and Continental style. Knit every row Row 6: Knit 5, Purl 25, Knit 5 Row 7: Knit all stitches Row 8: Repeat row 6 Row 9: Repeat row 7 Continue knitting row 6 and 7 until you have a square or as long as you like it to be. Finish by knitting 5 rows of garter stitch Bind off loosely and weave in ends. This little purling knitting pattern can also be your first practice dishcloth.
