Next Short story for children under five. For homework i had to write a story for kids under five. So can you please read it and tell em if you would read it to your kid, If not why? I should be king because I can fly the highest! I should be king because I can hide the best! Then he got an idea. All the other animals burst into laughter. The Other Animals stopped Laughing and stared at Rooster. Rooster pecked the ground once more. Who ever passes all the tests is king! The Four animals met again in the morning, Each with a test ready to give. With that Dragon, Tiger and Roost let out the loudest roar they could, But Lions roar drowned out the rest to just a squeak. Dragon smiled and jumped into the sky. He soared around the clouds and came swooping back down. Dragon flew up into the clouds, but everyone could see his scales glittering through. Lion His behind some bushes, but all the animals could see his tail poking out. Rooster ran behind a tree, but everyone would see parts of his body sticking out at each end. Finally tiger leaped into the top of the tree, He hid behind the leaves and no one could see him. The animals looked at rooster furiously! Rooster Jumped onto a log. Lion, you can be king of the savannah. Tiger, Your can be king of the jungle and dragon, you can be king of the sky! Lion and tiger Roared proudly, but Dragon eyed Rooster suspiciously. Dragon nodded and took off into the sky. Tiger leaped into the jungle and Lion raced onto the open plains. Rooster pecked the ground again, then strutted back to his farmyard. I can assure you this is my own work.

These kids stories emphasize basic developmental and emotional concepts such as sharing, compromise, and bedtime. "The Land of Words" series is an ongoing collection of alphabet stories which tackle moral lessons.

On a Likert scale of 1 to 10, with 10 being the highest amount of any such material that could be packed into one film and 0 being none, all of my Top Picks for young children would score either a "0" or a "1" in each of the categories listed above. These movies are also humorous and some may contain a lesson or a special message to be learned. Parents and children can enjoy these movies together. In addition to family viewing, I have shown these films at overnight indoor camps for young students. Their older brothers and sister and even some of the parents and grandparents have joined us and had a good time watching them. Even some neighbors have attended! I thought they sounded silly until a friend and his wife invited me over to watch some of the singing vegetables with their five children. I have never found out if this is intentional or not. Imagine vegetables with personalities. In one of their episodes, the Veggie reenact Hamlet as "Omelet. VeggieTales - YouTube Through hilarious storytelling, silly songs and lovable characters, VeggieTales presents meaningful lessons with faith-based values - like forgiveness, honesty and thankfulness - that are easy for kids to understand and that help guide them in their Veggie Tales has superheroes! Larry Boy and his Larrymobile. Source A Similar Set of Films A second set of half-hour computer animation stories from the same company is called Penguins and set in England, where three British astronaut penguins take a young girl and her bother on adventures in outer space to learn about concepts like telling the truth. It is hilarious all the way through and teaches a lesson without browbeating the viewer. Babe I think many kids love talking animals and the blind trio of singing mice Three Blind Mice in the corner of the frame from scene to scene sends me into gales of laughter. The sequel to this film, Pig in the City is just as good. Finding Nemo I have watched this one so many times that I have lost count. The seagulls shrilling "Mine, mine, mine! The film shows the importance of family and trust. This one also has a lady spider. My first grade teacher read the story to us in during classes. Parts of it made her weep and we found the story beautiful. As an adult, I have scene several stage productions of the story, including a well-done Greek Theater production performed with masks by a high school drama class. I completely enjoyed the movie and have recommended it for all children of elementary age and younger. The Last Rainforest This movie is beautiful. Parents can talk with youngsters about the importance of preserving nature if they choose to have their children watch this film. Robin Williams and Tim Curry have great voices for animated films. The Muppets, now owned by Disney, will be appearing in many more films. Balto Based on the famous dog that inspired the Iditarod: Not everyone supports the concept of running the Iditarod yearly, but Balto helped save many children from dreaded Polio with the vaccine he helped carry across the Alaskans wilderness. I am glad the story of Balto is being told.
