

1: 4 Refreshing Summer Team-Building Activities | Smart Meetings

Summer Smarts: How to Stay Cool (& Safe) When the Weather Heats Up. The summer season is approaching quickly, and while that tends to inspire a carefree lifestyle in all of us, we shouldn't forget our health in the process.

Many team-building activities have been done over and over, so why not try something different? Attendees everywhere will appreciate the chance to try new activities, escape the meeting room and get a glimpse of the great outdoors. Here are four summer team-building activities that capture the essence of the season.

Night hikes Night hikes present an interesting twist on standard hiking activities. With the shift from day to night, participants are challenged to step out of their comfort zone and experience their environment in an entirely new way. Omni Bedford Springs Resort in Bedford, Pennsylvania, takes night hikes for groups to a whole new level by adding blindfolds. Because participants are blindfolded, they must complete the hike with a rope in one hand and the other hand firmly on the shoulder of the teammate in front of them. The activity aims to help colleagues develop a vision for the workplace and experience greater sensory awareness.

Wine blending Invite employees to cool down at the end of a corporate retreat with a relaxing glass of wine and a competitive wine-blending challenge that harnesses their creativity and cooperation skills. One of their most interesting options is the wine-blending challenge, which can accommodate up to 60 participants. Groups are divided into teams of up to 10 members. Each team receives six different varietals of wine and other materials for bottling and labeling. After learning about wine-blending methods, each team creates its own custom wine blend. The winning wine is selected based on taste, quality and creative labeling.

Rock climbing Rock climbing is one of the most adventurous options for team building. Participants work together, support each other and solve problems to scale a wall. Planners can opt for an activity that combines an obstacle course with rock climbing. The two courses present participants with a variety of mental and physical challenges.

GPS scavenger hunts Scavenger hunts are a common activity for corporate retreats everywhere. Attendees get to work on their leadership, teamwork and problem-solving skills while bonding and having a good time. Using technology such as mobile apps and GPS is a great way to enhance scavenger hunt activities. Teams of 15 or fewer are equipped with a GPS unit, camera, map and clues. With these tools and their creative-thinking skills, the teams work together to find hidden caches and complete additional challenges. More From Smart Meetings.

The cool basement gyms are a great place to be during the hot July. The art time was far more engaging than most camps offer. I did not drop my daughter and our neighbour off yesterday but after only one day, Toby greeted both girls by name and even knew my name having never met me. I was extremely impressed. Thank you Kiera, Sharon, Cole, Ella and others for making my daughter feel so cared for and safe at her first camp experience. Your extra effort to ease her anxiety went a long way and was appreciated. She had FUN at your camp while learning math, without constant judgement summative tests. The daily physical exercise was actually a bonus - which I at first took to be the main objective. Jan Wilcox - S. I was very impressed right from day one with how smoothly everything ran, and how organized everything was. Our daughter was somewhat timid, and your staff was fabulous! They quickly made her feel welcome and included. We really like the mix of active sports with math and art. My daughter really enjoyed her week with you. Weeks later, she is still talking about it! My only regret is that I did not register her for longer we are busy for the rest of the summer. Next year we will definitely sign her up for a longer period! Wendy Gillanders - S. Our policy is therefore inclusive for all families equally. A family with two or three children can save substantially if they register prior to April 7th. Arts and Crafts as well as educational toys and games are used to round out a programme that is both cost effective and educationally sound. Our staff is comprised of Ontario qualified teachers, University students seeking B.
