For to You I will pray. My voice You shall hear in the morning, O Lord. Everyone does it to one degree or another. There are some who pray continually. Others are often referred to as "prayer warriors". Some only pray when hard times come. When the pressure of life closes in to crush them under the weight of hopelessness. We may be serious about our praying. We may do it out of habit. Let me pose this question to you. What if a group of people began to take prayer seriously? What if they dedicated themselves to learn how to pray effectively. What if this group knew all too well the power and danger of living in the darkness of addiction? What if they were marshaled into an army whose soul purpose was to be intercessors between others who were in bondage to their addiction, and this God we claim has the power to deliver. I believe that such an army could stand in proxy before God for others still out there. I believe that such a group could be used by God to be a weapon against the kingdom of darkness. What if we learned, through our prayers, how to breath back through prayer His word? That we learned how to speak it on behalf of those who are slowly dying because of addiction. It takes a heart of faith that God indeed hears our cry and is moved to act upon our request. We line our hearts up with His will, praying back to Him what the Spirit has placed on us. What does that mean? Think of it like this. You have a concern for someone you know who is suffering. What we may not realize is that it is the Spirit of God stirring us to pray for this person, as prayer is the currency of heaven that moves God. So what do we do? We begin to pray. Not what we think we should pray As we pray, we ask God, "What is my part in this? Am I suppose to simply go and love on them? Am I suppose to go and confront them? The main thing is we keep praying, listening, and only acting when God instructs us to. I know this may sound weird, but I have found value in moving in this manner. Time is to short to stand by and watch others go over the abyss into hell. Not when we know a God who can save them and restore them. Have you read the Bible? Chew on this today and see what God tells you.

2: The Art of Prayer by Kallistos Ware

Praise for The Art of Prayer "I cannot commend The Art of Prayer too highly. Here at last is a book on prayer that transcends traditions. Timothy Jones has given us a book that is deep, yet accessible; serious, yet with wonderful flashes of humor and insight.

The Armor of God: Now we are standing in the power of His might. Immediately after describing the Armor of God [Eph 6: This is the ultimate use of the armor. Standing "in the power of His might", we must pray "in the Spirit". We are now ready to "pray in the Spirit". We are now fully in the presence of God. Now begin to make your requests known to God. We have entered the presence of the One for Whom nothing is impossible, and suddenly, everything seems possible! He in fact, begins to guide our prayer, by His Holy Spirit. It can denote deep pain and anguish of soul, as well as great rejoicing before the Lord. Bearing in mind that God is a God of order, that the spirit of the prophet is subject to the prophet [1Cor The order of the ACTS method is crucial, for two reasons. The second reason is more subtle. Our prayer seems more like whining, or even like impatiently ordering fast food at the drive-thru window. We are actually being self-centered, rather than God-centered. In this state of mind, we often miss the full impact of the truth that God LOVES us, and wants to answer our prayer, and "He that spared not his own Son, but delivered him up for us all, how shall he not with Him also freely give us all things? The key phrase here is "with Him", that is with Jesus. A deeper relationship with Him should be our first purpose in prayer. The Kneeling Christian wrote: It is also communion with God -- intercourse with God -- talking with not only to God. We get to know people by talking with them. We get to know God in like manner. The highest result of prayer is not deliverance from evil, or the securing of some coveted thing, but knowledge of God. While we ordinarily first bring our own needs to God in prayer, and then think of what belongs to God and His interests, the Master reverses the order. First, Thy name, Thy kingdom, Thy will; then, give us, forgive us, lead us, deliver us. The lesson is of more importance than we think. In true worship the Father must be first, must be all. The sooner I learn to forget myself in the desire that HE may be glorified, the richer will the blessing be that prayer will bring to myself. No one ever loses by what he sacrifices for the Father. This must influence all our prayer" In summary, let each time we pray, be first and foremost, a time of "seeking Jesus Himself, as our personal King", and of "returning to our First Love" [Rev 2: Prayer inspiring quotations , from great saints who have walked with Jesus, often put me on my face before God in an instant. Many sites are loaded with these just search for "prayer quotes". This link is to our "Elijah U" feature at justpray.

3: GREENE STREET LETTERS A Gift From Vineyard ReCcovery Church: The Art Of Prayer

They taught index prayers, or bullet point prayers, exactly like the form of Jesus' model prayer. These rabbi-taught prayers got to the heart of what the rabbi believed significant, and they encapsulated the topics he felt to be essential.
