The other player is assigned the other suit. Balls pocketed on the break shot are not used to assign the suits. Once the suits have been assigned, they remain fixed throughout the remainder of the game. In order to win the game the player first designates which pocket the 8 ball will be pocketed into and then successfully pockets the 8 ball into that pocket. If the player knocks the 8 ball off the table then the player loses the game. If the player pockets the 8 ball and commits a foul or pockets it into another pocket than the one designated then the player loses the game. For regional amateur variations, such as fouling while trying to pocket the 8 ball resulting in instant loss despite not pocketing the 8, see "Informal rule variations" , below. In short, a World Standardized Rules game of eight-ball, like a game of nine-ball, is not over until the " money ball " is no longer on the table. This rule may be unfamiliar to some bar and league e. APA players, for whom such a foul normally means losing the game. Winning[ edit ] Any of the following results in a player winning the game: No ball comes into contact with a cushion or is pocketed, after legal cue ball contact with the first object ball or 8 ball, if shooting for the 8. If an attempt is made to pocket a ball, and the ball hits the pocket, bounces out and lands on the ground, the ball is placed in the pocket and the game continues. The shooter does not have at least one foot on the floor this requirement may be waived if the shooter has a relevant disability , or the venue has not provided a. The cue ball is pocketed. The cue ball is shot before all balls have come to a complete stop from the previous shot. The cue ball does not strike any ball. The cue ball is struck more than once during a shot The cue ball is jumped entirely or partially over an obstructing ball with an illegal jump shot that scoops under the cue ball. The cue ball is clearly pushed shoved slowly, rather than struck , with the cue tip remaining in contact with it more than momentarily. The shooter touches the cue ball with something other than the tip of the cue. The shooter touches any ball with body, clothing or equipment , other than as necessary to move the cue ball when the player has.
