It lasted approximately three hours. Tables were turned and revolvers were drawn. And when the smoke had finally cleared, there was a situation. To blame for this uneasy situation was a young damsel named Serra Hirsch. You will soon meet Serra not only in photos, and not only in words, but also in a short documentary film that resonates the love and passion we all have for creating homemade costumes. Serra Hirsch is our winner this year for her original Photo Strip costume! no, for her Prisoner in a Visiting Booth costume! yes, for these two costumes and others, each deserving of our Grand Prize. After days of contemplating a costume idea, they found inspiration from the framed picture right above their bed. You either convince the little tyke to do something else, or, you give it a shot. Probably, this awesome illusion costume will have many variations in the years to come. Also, Patricia wrote such a detailed and candid account of her motherly trials and tribulations, that it is no less captivating than the costume itself. For three weeks during the evenings and weekends these parents toiled over turning scraps from their garage into the well-known Star Wars robot. Especially relevant, Kaleena shares with us her original adaptation of this colorful prehistoric bird, meticulously documented and skillfully executed. Inspired by Pringles cans and the TV show Deadliest Catch, David transformed himself into the crustacean he so loves to catch. One of our long-time partners, BuyCostumes. Another year gone by. Another home made costume contest wrapped up. Many of the costumes not mentioned should have easily won a prize. You are all a true inspiration and your homemade costumes will continue to inspire others who visit this site for many years to come. So the total sum of prizes doubled and more costumes won more prizes. Our biggest Halloween home made costume contest to date! And yes, only cash prizes. This year we decided to stash away the gift certificates and award all the winners hard, cold CASH. Meet Austin from Fountain, Colorado and his amazing Werewolf costume. During Halloween Austin and his wife drove all the way to Vegas 13 hours straight through to compete in some of the home made costume contests being held there. But most of the time, it was just cheering from the audience. These turn into popularity contests instead of costume contests. So often, these just become about who has the most friends on Facebook that will vote for them, and not about the costumes. I think the only way to do it fairly, is the way you do it "with judges. This is where our judges got a chance to be creative with prize categories. His excellent step-by-step video and meticulous attention to detail will have the folks over at NASA envious. From the pictures, it seems like Danielle had as much fun creating the costume as her son did wearing it. Leslie sent in 20!! Michele from West Lafayette, IN created gorgeous Butterflies with wings even real butterflies would be jealous of. Both costumes very artistically crafted. Peters, MO for his Cuckoo Clock costume. Due to such an original idea, the costume really soars. Thanks to all the winners and thanks to everyone who took part.

This one can also transition very easily to Cleopatra Queen of the Nile. The fun you will bring to the party will be truly legendary, it will have the whole party walking like an Egyptian. Homemade Cookie Monster Costume thejoyoffashionblog If you are hosting a party for children this cookie monster costume is perfect. I got the felt that had built in adhesive, so you simply draw your shapes and stick them to an old t-shirt or leotard. I had an old Easter basket that I attached feathers to with some fun cookie monster eyes and filled it with cookies. Easy Scarecrow Halloween Costume thejoyoffashionblog The easy scarecrow is my favorite last minute costume idea by far. This works with any boho accessories you may have, floppy hats, denim, boots, plaid shirt, bits of straw, I used old raffia from a gift bag, really anything goes here. Just look on Pinterest for a guided makeup plan and you can pull this together in less than an hour. You could be part of a Wizard Of Oz group costume as well with this, the easy scarecrow will not disappoint. Fruit Salad Group Halloween Costume brit. My friends and I wanted to go to a Halloween party that required a costume, we did not have much time so I suggested we just go as the cheerful bunch on the Fruit Of The Loom ad It was a simple DIY project that took us less than an hour. Some of us used pom poms and made headpieces, but the very simple ones looked wonderful as well. The best part is that all your friends can bring their own personality and their own style. The loot sacks make excellent trick or treat bags for the young and young at heart. This awesome costume is for all ages. Bubblegum Machine Costume makeit-loveit My daughter is so great at DIY crafting, she came up with this brilliant concept gumball machine costume. She made a felt skirt with a small hula hoop at the hemline. Would you believe she won first place at her school for ingenuity? Her Dad and I were so proud. Queen Of Hearts Costume thejoyoffashionblog You will be dressed to the nines at your Halloween party in this lovely queen of hearts costume. Perfect to meet that special someone all dressed in red with your lucky cards arranged as a collar. You can do a beautiful glamour makeup with red lips and feel very elegant without the worry of being overdressed because its that one big night of the year you can try something totally different. I wore this last year and got a lot of compliments, its super classy and fun. If you want to be super cozy and b able to run around the neighborhood unfussed, this is a fabulous DIY idea. Audrey Hepburn Costume thejoyoffashionblog I was looking for something glamorous to wear for Halloween and a store-bought costume was not an option. I am a real DIY girl who loves all things related to crafts. I used my simple black dress and high heels with a few minimal props I bought at a local costume shop for under ten Halloween Costume Contest Elimination Game When the guests arrive at the party have them write down their costume on a piece of paper and it is dropped into a bowl, plastic pumpkin, witches hat or container. Then announce you are going to play Halloween Costume Contest Elimination where you pick a costume name from the bowl and if you are wearing that costume you are eliminated from the game. Basically, if there are 3 witches and witch gets pulled out then all the witches are out of the game. The Winner of the Costume Contest is the last person left in the game. You can also use this until you have 5 guests remaining and then have judges or the audience decide the winner. Easy, fun and random and all ages can play. Place an Halloween image in 4 corners, play music and the guests choose a corner when the music stops, randomly select one image and all the people standing by that image are out of the game. Continue until you have 1 winner or a small enough group of 5 or less and then judges or audience choose a winner.

Halloween Costume Contest Match This takes a lot of planning. This is a Halloween Costume Game for kids adults could play too and those with a computer, camera and printer. This game can work if you have a helper, so consider asking someone to help you with this during the party. When guests arrive take a picture of them in their costume. Once you have the photos go to the computer and quickly resize them so they will fit on a playing card. Once resized, I like copying 4 " 8 photos on a word document and printing a sheet. Cut out the photos and attach to the number side of the playing cards with tape. You can use colored construction paper however kids tend to bend it and that makes it easy to remember what costume was where. Card are sturdy and are a good size to work with. Now double check to make sure you have 2 cards for each child, if a child is missing or late you can always write their name on a piece of paper and attach or quick go take their photo. Once you have all the cards, mix them up and lay them flat on a large table Halloween costume photos face down. Have the kids come over and tell them that you are going to play Halloween Costume Contest Match. One at a time a child will select one Halloween costume card and then select another costume card hoping to match the first one they turned over. If the cards do not match the next person goes and tries to match a set of costumes. If the cards match, the person in that costume is out of the contest and that same person goes again. If the person matching costumes matches themselves then they are out of the game! So be careful not to match yourself. The game is played until there is one person left in the game " That person is the winner. These should be you a mix of Halloween Contest Ideas for kids and adults.
