Leave a reply This is an article that I wrote in a column for the Sun Daily newspaper. In the last article we talk about the Feng Shui quality of a house. The best ones are those that prosper wealth and prosper descendants meaning good for career, wealth, relationship and health. There are many schools of Feng Shui and hence there are as many ways to determine the quality of a house. In the Xuan Kong Fei Xing method, the quality of a house is determined by the facing direction and period of the house. This quality is further enhanced or depreciated by the surrounding natural land form and man made structures. Most school however sub-divide each of the 45 degrees span into three smaller spans of 15 degrees giving a total of 24 spans of direction or 24 mountains. In the old days, each of these 15 degree span is given a Chinese name e. This is not easy to remember especially if you are not educated in Chinese. A popular and easy naming convention is to simply name the 15 degree span within each cardinal numerically i. N1, N2 and N3 in a clockwise manner. In addition, the Fei Xing school take the period of the house into consideration. To recap, the period of the house is derived from the date the house was completed and first occupied. A period spans 20 years and the current period is known as period 8. It starts from Chinese Solar year and ends in A house completed and first occupied during this period is known as a period 8 house. A house completed and first occupied in the 20 years period before is known as a period 7 house while a house completed and first occupied in the 20 years from will be a period 9 house. The quality of a house depends on the period and facing. Therefore a house with the same facing from different period may have different quality. In this series of articles, I will touch only on current or period 8 house only. Prosper Mountain Prosper Water Back to house quality. Land form is important too. Having the right facing and period is like having the potential. For such houses, this potential is enhanced if there is water at the facing and mountain at the sitting side. Water can be real e. Mountain can be real e. It is fine if the land at the sitting and facing is relatively level. However the potential of the house will be depreciated if the reverse is true i. Do not panic if you live in such a house. Some of the these facing are also influenced by other good patterns that reverses or improves the luck of the house. Subscribe to Buy House Guide The more important thing is to have the right landform features which in this case is the reversed of what you learnt earlier and that is there should be mountain at the facing and water at the side! So now you know. Water at the sitting is not always unfavorable! More from my site.

The House of Abinadab and the Ark of God. In consequence of the plagues that came on each city where the Ark was kept in Philistia, it was reluctantly returned by them to Israel. Arrived in Beth-shemesh, it was unloaded by Levites 1 Sam 6: After opening it and looking inside; the Beth-shemeshites incurred upon themselves the curse of God, in which 50, men were slaughtered 1 Sam 6: The people of Beth-shemesh therefore declined to open their homes to it. They sent to the people of Kirjath-jearim, who were slaves and serviced the House of God with water and wood, to come and fetch the Ark 1Samuel 6: The House of the Ark of God. The Ark remained in the house of Abinadab for 20 years 1Samuel 7: The area became the property of the tribe of Benjamin, and Gibeah the home city of Kish and his son Saul. And Kish fathered Saul. Thirteen years after the Ark was placed in the house of Abinadab, King Saul was slain by the Philistines in a battle on Mt. Gilboa bordering the valley of Armageddon. Abinadab was also killed in that battle together with his father Saul 1Sa This ended the 40 year reign of Saul. David succeeded Saul as King, and reigned in Hebron 7 years. Abinadab is no longer alive, but the Ark is still in the "House of Abinadab" 2Samuel 6: Dramatic tragedy takes place as the procession moves toward Jerusalem. Uzzah sees the cart lurch, and stretches out his hand to steady the Ark, and keep it from falling. Fire from heaven strikes him dead. It says that Uzzah literally exploded! This raises questions in the mind of the reader. The answers are to be found within the pages of the Bible. Kish is listed among the Levites 2Chronicles The sons of Kish married the daughters of Eleazar the Priest 1Ch Why did God strike Uzzah dead for trying to protect the Ark of the Covenant from falling off the cart? Only the Priests could approach the Ark. It was to be honored, and revered as the Throne of God, for here was where the Glory of God descended. David and Israel followed the Philistine method of making a new cart and attaching Oxen to it 1Samuel 6: It took King David three months to find out what the proper procedure was, and once they followed that, the Ark was safely brought to its place near the Holy City. If there is one thing we can learn from this story, it is that refusing to follow the directions God laid down, does not make God go away. God makes the rules, and we are blessed when we follow them. He owns as a general truth that God is righteous, "yet," he adds, I will speak or argue my cause literally, causes with Thee. He will question the divine Judge till his doubt is removed. And the question is the ever-recurring one, Wherefore doth the way of the wicked prosper? The "treacherous dealing" implies a reference to the conspirators of the previous chapter. Wherefore are all they happy. Pulpit Commentary Verse 1. Righteous art thou, etc. The prophet, however, cannot refrain from laying before Jehovah a point which seems to him irreconcilable with the Divine righteousness. The rendering, indeed, must be modified. Let me talk with thee of thy judgments should rather be, yet will I debate questions of right with thee. The questions remind us of those of Job in Job 21, Thus to have been the recipient of special Divine revelations, and to be in close communion with God, gives no security against the occasional ingress of doubting thoughts and spiritual distress. Wherefore are all they happy, etc.? The statement must be qualified by what follows. In the general calamity the wicked still fare the best. Matthew Henry Commentary When we find it hard to understand any of his dealings with us, or others, we must look to general truths as our first principles, and abide by them: The God with whom we have to do, knows how our hearts are toward him. He knows both the guile of the hypocrite and the sincerity of the upright. Divine judgments would pull the wicked out of their pasture as sheep for the slaughter. This fruitful land was turned into barrenness for the wickedness of those that dwelt therein. The Lord reproved the prophet. The opposition of the men of Anathoth was not so formidable as what he must expect from the rulers of Judah. Our grief that there should be so much evil is often mixed with peevishness on account of the trials it occasions us. And in this our favoured day, and under our trifling difficulties, let us consider how we should behave, if called to sufferings like those of saints in former ages.

Attorney Joseph diGenova and his wife, Victoria Toensing, and that he bragged of having blackmailed a high-ranking Japanese politician, Motoo Shiina. She also claimed that one of her military clients told her Spence was blackmailing him. Spence arrested in N. Highlights include his hint that Donald Gregg arranged the late-night White House tours. Spence also speaks of more significant secrets that he plans to take to the grave. The only story that received much attention. A male prostitute, identified by the alias Greg Davis, entertained clients in the apartment of Rep. Frank admitted having a relationship with the prostitute, but denied knowledge of the use of his apartment for illicit purposes. School used as base for sex ring," George Archibald and Paul M. Rodriguez, The Washington Times, August 25, Rodriguez, The Washington Times, September 1, In which Stephen L. Gobie, whose professional name in the underground prostitute trade is "Greg Davis," insists that Rep. Barney Frank knew of the use of his apartment as a base for prostitution. Gobie also reveals that one of his clients was Craig Spence. Craig Spence is found dead in a Boston hotel room. Near his body is a newspaper clipping that details legislative efforts to protect CIA agents called to testify before government bodies. Friends of Spence reported that he had claimed the CIA used the call boy service to compromise other federal intelligence officials and foreign diplomats. In which we learn how slow had been the federal investigation into the allegations swirling around Craig Spence. Spence himself had been handed a subpoena more than two months before his death, but was never called to testify. Officials of the Reagan and Bush administrations, identified in The Times as having used the call-boy service, had not even been contacted by law enforcement officials. Rodriguez, The Washington Times, February 2, Gobie also claims that Craig Spence was one of his clients and had tried to recruit him to help "in a sordid scheme to blackmail the powerful politicians invited to his lavish parties. I need boys and girls for people in government and high-level businessmen for my parties, for individuals, for whatever comes up. Returning full circle to the Mingo case, we find the newly appointed medical examiner of Mingo County arguing that the fact that she is a physician argues in favor of her having the position over the previous nominee, a funeral home owner. He would probably process the body for burial," she said. We also learn that his lawyer is the legal commentator Greta van Susteren. Truman Chafin, D-Mingo, was indicted on federal wiretap charges in his messy divorce, but was found innocent. Former Mingo Sheriff Gerald Chafin - no relation to Truman, and part of a rival Democratic faction - likewise was indicted on federal wiretap charges, supposedly stemming from an attempt to blackmail a "whistleblower" deputy, but likewise was found innocent. Next the commissioners gave the job to Dr. Diane Shafer of Mingo County, who previously was convicted of bribery in nearby Kentucky. They both were convicted of bribery, and he of bigamy, but the convictions were set aside. Shafer may - or may not - have married a former Mingo coroner, Henry Vinson, who was convicted of running a male prostitution ring in Washington, D. Vinson, also a mortician, had been ousted as Mingo coroner after he was convicted of making harassing phone calls to a rival funeral home director. Then he was accused in a paternity suit. Next he moved to Washington, where he was charged with operating "Dream Boy," a male escort service. While the Washington investigation was in progress, Vinson "died" and his obituary was printed by newspapers around West Virginia - but his sister in Mingo County said the obit had been phoned to papers as a hoax. But the next year, he pleaded guilty and got a five-year prison term. Reporter Maryclaire Dale who is white called Dr. The escort firm has relocated and - using a line Merlin computerized call-forwarding system - is still in operation while local authorities try to track down individual call boys with information gathered from seized documents. In its own investigation of the male escort service raided in February and again May 18, The Times has obtained extensive financial records that reveal how the homosexual network handled its credit card and check cashing needs by using legitimate umbrella organizations in the Washington area, Florida, Kentucky and West Virginia. Members of the law enforcement team investigating Professional Services, which includes the Secret Service and the Metropolitan Police, said a special federal grand jury is expected to hand up indictments based on violations of federal credit card statutes, mail fraud laws and banking regulations that bar illegal activities, such as prostitution. Operators of the male escort service under investigation denied in dozens of interviews that they have broken any federal laws. But credit card vouchers obtained by The Times reveal many instances of apparent double billing and what appear to be forged signatures. Call boys interviewed by The Times admitted that in the course of their work as "escorts" they regularly engaged in sex for hire with male clients. Clients and prostitutes said the amounts charged depend on the number of escorts procured some clients hire several for big parties, the length of time prostitute services are used and the type of sexual service provided. Credit card charges and checks were deposited in the Sovran account, while cash paid for escort services usually was deposited at other area banks, including Riggs, National Bank of Washington and First American. These accounts were usually in the names of the escort operators - principally Henry W. Vinson, a year-old owner-dispatcher for the services, and Jimmy Mako, 27, who pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor drug charge stemming from the February police raid on the switchboard headquarters, 34th Place NW. Chambers now funnels charge slips through another licensed credit card processing company, Executive Services, in Suitland. Part of the regional escort network is directly linked to employees at dozens of hotels in the area, those interviewed said. Besides helping to arrange "special" rooms for clients, these hotel employees also help to expedite guest requests for male and female sex. There also are special phone banks located in each of the hotels - some public pay phones and other private lines - reserved for the homosexual network. Telephone pagers are used extensively to send call boys from one liaison to another. Operators of the homosexual escort ring confirmed that female prostitutes were occasionally provided if clients requested such services. Among hundreds of charge vouchers obtained by The Times were those of about a half-dozen women who availed themselves of the male escorts. Gay clubs throughout the Washington area are used by call boys to pick up clients. Many call boys also work at these clubs - some of them "strip" joints - and typically are recruited there by the escort services. Solely to be used for the educational purposes of research and open discussion. A1 Friday, June 30, Craig J. We just thought, neat, we get a free midnight tour of the White House," the man said. Gray, the commandant of the Marine Corps. Arnaud de Borchgrave, editor-in-chief of The Times, went to dinner once at Mr. Efforts to reach Mr. Spence in the past week were unsuccessful. He contacted The Washington Times yesterday in response to a telefaxed message but hung up when queried about his activities. According to many current and former friends, Mr. Spence was a dangerous friend to cultivate. Several former associates said his house on Wyoming Avenue was bugged and had a secret two-way mirror, and that he attempted to ensnare visitors into compromising sexual encounters that he could then use as leverage. One man described having a limousine sent to his home by Mr. Spence and being brought to a gathering at which several young men tried to become friendly with him. Spence who was on the White House tour, said: He was taping people and blackmailing them. Gordon recalled being at a gathering at Mr. Trotta, contacted in New York City, yesterday confirmed Mr. Information Agency and is an open homosexual said he went to private parties at Mr. Another man, an Air Force sergeant who worked for Mr. Spence as a bodyguard, said: But he was recording what occurred there. Spence had bragged on several occasions that he had his house bugged and that conversations between guests often had been overheard. Spence often would come down late to parties he hosted and told close associates that he had been listening to what was being said about him. Several people also said Mr. Spence boasted about getting control of the million-dollar home on Wyoming Avenue by blackmailing clients in Japan. William Harbin, a former U. Foreign Service official who worked for Mr. Spence in the mids, said: He had represented this firm in Washington, the Policy Study Group. But he threatened to expose that they had transferred the money illegally, so it made the Japanese back down. Spence bragged about the Wyoming Avenue deal, saying he had beaten "a very rich, old-line Japanese family. Boyden Gray, the White House counsel, said he did not know why Mr. Snow referred The Times to him, adding that he was unaware that his office was required to release such information. Hundreds of credit-card vouchers, drawn on both corporate and personal accounts and made payable to the Washington-based escort service operated by the homosexual ring, have been examined by The Washington Times. Spence, a former ABC-TV correspondent who covered the war in Vietnam, was one of the biggest spending clients of the homosexual prostitution network, according to credit-card vouchers obtained by The Times. For example, on Oct. There were some months when Mr. A case in point is his relationship with former U.

5: Enterprise Prospers

Bridgeport Prospers is a new way of working together to create exceptional results for our young people and community. We are coming together around a shared community vision. We believe in working intentionally across the entire cradle to career continuum and using data and evidence to inform our decisions.

Why does it seem that people who do wrong prosper and those who try to do good never seem to receive as many blessings financial? But as for me, my feet had almost slipped. I had nearly lost my foothold. For I envied the arrogant when I saw the prosperity of the wicked. They have no struggles; their bodies are healthy and strong. They are free from the burdens common to man; they are not plagued by human ills. Therefore pride is their necklace; they clothe themselves with violence. From their callous hearts comes iniquity the evil conceits of their minds know no limits. They scoff and speak with malice; in their arrogance they threaten oppression. Their mouths lay claim to heaven, and their tongues take possession of the earth". Asaph had a problem that almost caused him to give up the life of devotion to God. If God was a God of goodness who helped the righteous and opposed the wicked, why did worthless people prosper while Asaph suffered want? It seemed to Asaph that the wicked enjoyed lives of ease and plenty, and then died peacefully without suffering. Yet their lives had been characterized by pride, cruelty, greed, trickery, scorn, oppression and boasting. Some of the godly were tempted to follow their example, for it seemed that God did not interfere with the wicked in their comfort. Looking back, Asaph now sees how foolish he has been to doubt God. Although he had acted like an ignorant animal, the everlasting God has not left him. Asaph sees now that in God he has riches and pleasures that are permanent and beyond value. They are far greater than the temporary riches and pleasures of the ungodly. He no longer envied the wicked; he finds his full satisfaction in God. When we are talking about blessings we seem to limit it to material blessing. It is important for us to note what Jesus said in his sermon on the mount The beatitudes. One may be rich in this world with all the wealth all across the world but without the blessing of the Lord. The scriptures say that the blessings of the Lord makes rich and add no sorrow with it. It is important that we should seek first the kingdom of God be poor in the Spirit dead to sins. After that, we are guaranteed that the Kingdom of Heaven is our portion to take. There is no how you look at it, eternity means life everlasting. Life that has no end. Almost everything has an end in this world; it is only eternity that the bible defined as life ever lasting! It is not correct. A child of God who diligently and honestly works will receive the blessings of the Lord. For you yourselves know how you ought to follow our example. On the contrary, we worked night and day, laboring and toiling so that we would not be a burden to any of you. We did this, not because we do not have the right to such help, but in order to make ourselves a model for you to follow. For even when we were with you, we gave you this rule: They are not busy; they are busybodies. Such people we command and urge in the Lord Jesus Christ to settle down and earn the bread they eat. And as for you, brothers, never tire of doing what is right. If anyone does not obey our instruction in this letter, take special note of him. Do not associate with him in order that he may feel ashamed. Yet do not regard him as an enemy but warn him as a brother. Jesus worked while he was on the face of the earth. It is important to stress that brethren should not indulge in laziness if they want the Lord to prosper them. Some of the unbelievers we compare with ourselves worked so much to earn their living. Although some of them do not get their income from the right source. But frankly quite a good proportion of them are sincerely working. I encourage every Christian man and woman to work to earn their living and expect the blessing of God upon their lives. God is looking for something in our disposal to bless today! Yet you rob me. You are under a curse - the whole nation of you - because you are robbing me. Bring the whole tithe into the storehouse that there may be food in my house. I will prevent pests from devouring your crops, and the vines in your fields will not cast their fruit, says the LORD Almighty. Then all the nations will call you blessed, for yours will be a delightful land, says the LORD Almighty. The principle of financial prosperity for every child of God is giving. Giving of the tithes and offerings. It has been a sure way through which God has been releasing His blessing upon His children including me. If you can practice this principle today, poverty will be far away from you forever. I remember a testimony from a brother in his church. The pastor made announcement that there was an urgent need for members to make. There was this brother who had some money in his wardrobe. The Lord told him to contribute the money since the money was not part of his working capital. Fire cut up with the entire money in the wardrobe without destroying any other thing but that money. The brother obeyed; crying and asking God for forgiveness. Do you see that? For we brought nothing into this world, and we can take nothing out of it. But if we have food and clothing, we will be content with that. Be in right relationship with your God today. Accept Jesus Christ as your Lord and personal Savior and you shall be saved! It is difficult to accumulate wealth and follow God at the same time. There have been, and still are, wealthy people who are living for God and use their wealth for the good of others. Such men are very rare because the effect of wealth is usually to corrupt the owner of it. Greed and self indulgence are frequent outcomes. That is why Jesus said that we could not serve two masters. We can either serve God, or we can serve mammon material wealth, but not both. Ye cannot serve God and mammon. It is not impossible for a rich man to enter heaven but it is extremely difficult. Mainly because being rich brings many more temptations than being poor. At night the main gates were shut against invaders etc. Anyone arriving from a journey late and wanting access to the city would be admitted through this little side door. It was big enough to admit a man, but anyone trying to get a camel through it was faced with a feat of camel engineering beyond the ability of most. The rich getting into heaven was likened by Jesus to getting a camel through this small door. Something His audience were all familiar with. Many who are poor yearn to be rich for the ability it would give them to yield to desires to drive a flash car, live in a mansion, not worry about bills, not have to work, indulge themselves with drink, women or men and song. There we have it. Thou shalt not covet. The love of money is covetousness and is the root of all evil. That is a damning statement, no wonder this human condition is abhorred by God. Please understand that the Kingdom of God is not of this world, neither is the reward of the Christian in this world, but the next. In this world we can not expect to fare any better than Jesus, our Master, did. He said as much: We have not been promised a smooth ride, just a safe arrival if we endure to the end. In this world we will know tribulation, not comfort and the life of luxury. We must through much tribulation enter the Kingdom of God, however, that tribulation tests and proves us, teaches us patience and to wait upon the Lord, teaches us dependence upon the Lord through trust and prayer. It is a refining process. This ministry receives on a daily basis prayer requests from people suffering tribulation of one sort or another. Many think because things are not going smoothly for them that they are being punished by God or alternatively, attacked by the devil. Whilst both of these things are possible, there is only cause to rejoice in either case. If God is chastising you, He is doing it because He loves you and wants to bring you into the Kingdom. And you will have deserved it If the devil is attacking, it means you have come to his attention as someone who can damage his cause.
