Ann Atom, Jeannette R. Hadermann, Mother Goose , Mrs. Walworth Daughter of Charles J. Her father was a German political exile who came to this country in the s, after supporting the attempted formation of a German republic. Not long after Walworth was born, her family moved to Washington, Mississippi, where her father became professor of modern languages at Jefferson College. From the age of sixteen until the close of the Civil War , Walworth was a governess on Louisiana plantations. The desire for a writing career took her to New Orleans , where she wrote for the New Orleans Times under the name Ann Atom, earning little but attracting some interest. More lucrative endeavors soon followed, when two novels written while she was serving as governess were published. In New York , Major Walworth established a law practice and Jeannette wrote for magazines and newspapers and also published many novels. The Walworths returned to Mississippi, where he was editor of the Natchez Democrat and she continued to write. She lived with relatives in New Orleans following the death of her husband in These difficult times for both blacks and whites and the change from an agrarian life to one influenced by urban values are seen through her characters. Her forte is the realistic novel, not light romance, and she is adept at giving substance to her characters and the places where they live. Many of the same character types such as women who are noble, long-suffering, virtuous, and strong , reappear in her novels. They are not mere stereotypes, however, because she varies the patterns, and the major characters are often skillfully and at times powerfully developed. Walworth attracted considerable attention from critics and readers for her condemnation, in The Bar Sinister: A Social Study , of polygamy in Mormon Utah. It is somewhat different from her other novels in that she does not provide a happy ending for her protagonist, Anna Quinby, the legitimate wife of a Mormon convert. A Story of Uncertain Days in the South tells of a Yankee who goes South to check land titles for a firm that has bought 10 cotton plantations. Through a first-person account, the reader comes to know all the facets of life in the Delta country. There are good, insightful descriptions of the customs and folk-ways of the South, as well as a realistic portrayal of the post-war scene. Walworth wrote nearly 30 novels, most set in the South. They are often melodramatic, in the accepted style of the period, and display strict religious moralizing. There are villains in plentiful supply, but usually they confess their wrongs and repent and are compassionately forgiven by those who have been illused. Although the plots are somewhat obvious, Walworth uses a variety of characters from all levels of society, portraying them adequately and sometimes memorably. Matsy and I The Silent Witness A Strange Pilgrimage That Girl from Texas True to Herself The Martlet Seal A Splendid Egotist An Old Foggy Where Kitty Found Her Soul Three Brave Girls A Little Radical His Celestial Marriage n. Stories of a Southern Country n. Living Female Writers of the South Retrieved November 15, from Encyclopedia. In the Bible we read, "Whosoever is born of God doth not commit sin; for his seed remaineth in him: Why then, you might wonder, do many Christians still struggle with the bondage of sin? To fully understand the answer to this important question, we must first grasp the biblical concept of the old man and the new man. When people receive Jesus Christ as Savior through repentance and faith, God forgives their sins, places them "in Christ," and gives them the indwelling of His Holy Spirit. What exactly has passed away, and what has become new? It is the old man that passes away and the new man that is created anew in Christ, for "ye have put off the old man with his deeds; and have put on the new man, which is renewed in knowledge after the image of him that created him" Colossians 3: The Old Man The old man is patterned after Adam, the common ancestor of all mankind. Since the old man is bound by the "law of sin and death" Romans 8: More biblical truths concerning the old man can be found below: The old man includes a corruptible, mortal body flesh. Your flesh is your physical, human body and all its lusts, appetites, and habits. As is the earthy, such are they also that are earthy: The old man has an unregenerate darkened spirit. Your spirit includes your mind and heart. The old man is carnally minded and cannot receive the things of God. So then they that are in the flesh cannot please God" Romans 8: As you can see from the examples above, the old man is simply no good. The New Man The new man is patterned after Christ. Since the new man is free in the "law of the spirit of life in Christ Jesus" Romans 8: Because the spiritual seed of the Father takes on His sinless characteristics I Peter 1: More biblical truths concerning the new man can be found below: The new man includes an immortal, incorruptible body. Now this I say, brethren, that flesh and blood cannot inherit the kingdom of God; neither doth corruption inherit incorruption" I Corinthians The new man has a spirit that is quickened made alive by the indwelling of the Holy Ghost. Once again, your spirit includes your mind and heart, now enlightened to the truth and renewed through the process of sanctification. The new man is spiritually minded and feasts on the things of God. He also communes with the Father and the Son through the Holy Spirit. Now we have received, not the spirit of the world, but the spirit which is of God; that we might know the things that are freely given to us of God" I Corinthians 2: The old man, then, is patterned after Adam and is "bent" toward sin, while the new man is patterned after Christ and can never sin. Since those who are "in Christ" can sometimes sin, there must be some of the old man still remaining. However, your flesh, which is your physical body earthsuit with all its programmed habits and lusts, did not change "not yet, that is. You still await a new, glorified body to completely put on the new man! But until then, you are called to walk by faith in the Spirit of the new man while bringing your flesh under subjection to the Lordship of Christ, "as obedient children, not fashioning yourselves according to the former lusts in your ignorance" I Peter 1: Only then will the old man be "as good as dead. The more you submit to the sanctifying work of the Holy Spirit, the less power your flesh will have over you. Crucified and Risen with Christ By faith, our old man is crucified with Christ, while our new man is raised up with Christ by a "new and living way" Hebrews Paul proclaimed, "I am crucified with Christ: Paul knew that by faith, his old man was crucified with Christ and his new man was alive in Christ. Therefore, Paul died daily to his flesh leftover from the old man so that the life of Christ could live through him. This does not necessarily mean that Paul struggled with sin; rather, Paul dealt with the natural weaknesses of the flesh fatigue, illness, pain, grief, desires, etc. Even Jesus faced the weaknesses of the flesh in His humanity, yet He overcame all of those weaknesses through the power of the Holy Spirit, just as Paul experienced later in life. So, is it possible for those who are new creations in Jesus Christ to sin? Yes, if they choose to walk according to their old man flesh and carnal mind rather than walking as who they are in Christ. This is known as double mindedness, and the Bible tells us that a double minded man is unstable in all his ways James 1: Paul said, "If ye then be risen with Christ, seek those things which are above, where Christ sitteth on the right hand of God. Set your affection on things above, not on things on the earth. For ye are dead, and your life is hid with Christ in God. When Christ, who is our life, shall appear, then shall ye also appear with him in glory. Mortify therefore your [bodily] members which are upon the earth" Colossians 3: Brothers and sisters in Christ, our outer man is just a shell which will one day wear out and be sown in death like a seed. As long as we are on earth, dying to our selfish ways and flesh patterns must be a daily process. Jesus said, "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow me" Luke 9: Therefore, taking up your cross means bearing the instrument of your death. This indicates total commitment to Jesus, because in dying to ourselves we exchange our fleshly desires, selfish pursuits, and earthly comforts for the life of Jesus. His life becomes our life, His desires become our desires. We partake in His persecution, His suffering, and His power. Paul explained this truth further when he said, "Always bearing about in the body the dying of the Lord Jesus, that the life also of Jesus might be made manifest in our body" I Corinthians 4: Paul rejoiced in having a cross to bear. He said, "But God forbid that I should glory, save in the cross of our Lord Jesus Christ, by whom the world is crucified unto me, and I unto the world" Galatians 6: But Jesus said, "He that loveth father or mother more than me is not worthy of me: And he that taketh not his cross, and followeth after me, is not worthy of me. He that findeth his life shall lose it: Taking up your cross, dying to self, and walking the narrow path of faith and obedience is, in fact, what identifies you as a true disciple of Jesus. This is a lonely walk, for few will walk it with you see Matthew 7: Yet, it is also a walk of deep fellowship and intimacy with the Savior Philippians 3:

Perhaps because she was a journalist with more than casual knowledge of society beyond her own household, Walworth provides a kind of synthesis of the average postwar citizen's view of things.
