After following the advice of an old woman known for her wisdom, a beleaguered young mother is finally able to quiet her crying infant--but then the rest of the town's babies start wailing.*

The products are primarily aimed at girls between the ages of two and eight. Baby Born[ edit ] Introduced in , Baby Born is often considered to be the most lifelike of the series due to the numerous functions that the doll can perform. These include crying, urinating and being quietened by a pacifier which makes the dolls eyes shut in later versions. All these actions can be performed without the use of batteries making it possible to bathe the doll. The most recent version includes nine functions and eleven accessories. Earlier versions included a Musical Potty and a magical Ice Cream which can make the mouth of the doll all messy. Varieties of this model include boy, girl and ethnic girl, each anatomically correct and having its own color style for hair and skin. A battery operated doll with hair, that has touch sensors all around the doll. My little Baby Born: This doll has a special sensor, and when placed in water the doll can swim around. It requires batteries, unlike the other Baby Born dolls. It is a squishy, and more softer version of the My Little Baby Born made for more younger children. Comes with 2 dolls, who can both interact with each other. The main function performed by the newer dolls Version 3 or newer is to let it drink water and when it cries, the water can come out of its eyes, making it look like the doll has Tears, and also to use the toilet. This doll could perhaps be classed as a "modern autonomous doll". Same as the "Rock a Bye Chou Chou" doll, except it sucks its bottle and can open and close its eyes when doing it. Similar to version 1, but more Interactive and has different sounds. This is more interactive than the Version 1 or 2, and is the first version to cry real tears and drink real water. This version can turn its head when hearing sound or if its name is said. But nonetheless performs the same actions as the previous versions. It also makes some of the same neutral sounds as Version 3. It cannot turn its head, but can interact with a sheep toy which can make sounds and make the baby happy. This is more bulky and heavy than the last 5 versions, mainly due to the fact it can move its arms. It also cannot cry real tears unlike the last 4 versions. This doll goes back to being like Versions , likely due to the negative feedback of the Version 6. It can cry real tears again and drink water again. Identical to Version 7, but with some extra accessories. Also identical to version 7 and 8. This version has a different design than the previous dolls, but does make the same sounds. My First Baby Annabell[ edit ] This range of dolls are smaller versions of the Baby Annabell doll made for younger children. My First Baby Annabell: This doll can be used to practise sleeping. It can sleep and close its eyes, and then after a short while it can wake up. It is a squishy, and more softer version of the My First Baby Annabell made for more younger children. This doll can move its arms and legs, just like a little baby. It is designed to be very realistic, having accessories to support role playing for children. Squeezing the body makes the doll laugh. Unlike other Zapf dolls the expression is more in the shape of a grin. Mommy Make Me Better: Comes in a yellow cap and baby girl outfit. This doll becomes unwell and the owner needs to make it better. Its heartbeat can be heard and it can be given medicine when it has a fever. It makes sounds such as slurping. Love Me Chou Chou: Comes in a pink baby cloths with attached hood. This doll can kick its legs when it is upset, open its mouth, crying and laughing sounds as well as slurping sounds when given a drink. It comes with an electronic necklace that the owner can wear, and whenever the baby cries and the user holds it, it cheers up and might even laugh! This doll represents a slightly older baby. When it develops a tooth, the doll cries and the owner has to make it feel better. It also makes other baby sounds such as laughing and slurping. This version of Chou Chou can talk! It utters basic phrases in English and Spanish and has sensors when to detect compatible accessories. It is available in normal and Ethnic Girl variants. Rock A Bye Chou Chou: This Chou Chou doll is different from the others as it can do features seen on the other Zapf dolls. It can be fed its bottle, goes to sleep and cries when woken up. It is also sold as the first version of Baby Annabell, except Baby Annabell makes sucking noises when it drinks its bottle. Learn to Walk Chou Chou: This doll can crawl by itself and can be encouraged to walk by holding its hand. The doll can trip up and cry when crawling, but it can try again.
