

1: JOCHEBED: A PORTRAIT OF A GODLY MOTHER (Exo) | Flaming the Revival Fire

A Portrait of a Godly Mother. Text: 2nd Kings (KJV) 8And it fell on a day, that Elisha passed to Shunem, where was a great woman; and she constrained him to eat bread.

Father , Mother , Parenting Note: This is Part 1 of a 2-part series. If you are interested in listening to the audio sermon of this entire series that was preached as 1 message, click HERE. The courts are constantly trying to address this issue by going after these delinquent dads more severely. These are fathers who have failed to perform their spiritual duty. The children have not become orphans because the father is dead, but because the father is failing in his spiritual duties. He is too busy pursuing his own dreams. We will see the first one in this post and the second one in the next post. Here, however, I do think the primary reference is to fathers. Of course, the truths equally apply to mothers as well! Paul issues a clear command to the fathers: So, the logical question to ask is this: How are some ways fathers can cause children to be exasperated, irritated, angry and even discouraged? A minimum of 7 is listed below. Overprotection Many parents are so fearful of what might happen to their children that they are always behind them. But there is an extent. If one gets to the point of over-protection, it only ends up in frustrating the child and he or she can develop a resentful attitude. Favoritism Showing favor to one child over the others. Each of those actions resulted in disaster. Favoritism is shown for many reasons. Perhaps one kid is meeting your expectations than the rest and thus becomes your favorite. Maybe that kid even has the same hobbies as you do; perhaps that one is even smarter than the others. And so, you show more of your love to that one. As a result, the favorite one can get away with anything while the other kids get punished for the simplest of reasons. Favoritism, in the long run, leads the neglected child or children to become bitter, angry, and discouraged. Unjust Demands Many parents want their kids to accomplish what they would like for them to accomplish or what they themselves failed to accomplish. They want to live their lives through their children. That can lead them to get angry. Now, is it wrong to expect kids to excel? Not if our motives are God-glorifying and if that is what the Lord wills for their lives. However unjust demands only push kids to be discouraged and bitter. Kids can develop the feeling that they can never fail and that parents will love them only if they perform to their expectations. Lack of Love Some fathers see children as a hindrance to their life. But with children, I have lost that freedom. So, love is withheld. Plus if children stop the mother from working and building her career, then children are seen as a hindrance to financial success and stability. Another way, many dads fail to love the children is by failing to spend time with them. Because they are so preoccupied with their material pursuits or other worldly pleasures, they have no time to spend with kids. Over a period of years, the child will see that he or she never mattered to Dad for whom his own pursuits were more important. This will lead to bitterness and resentment. They inflict injury, not pain. In anger and frustration, fathers at times thrash children. No proper reasons as to why the discipline is administered. Perhaps he is very angry. I will just keep quiet. Poor Mom, what can she say? Over a period of time, the child can develop a deep resentment toward the father for his harsh punishment. Now, this does not mean we never correct children. The second half of Ephesians 6: However, the issue here is using hurtful words. When a father uses demeaning words, anger and resentment build up in the children on the inside and sooner or later, the relationship goes beyond repair. The opposite is not good either. Constant flattery as if your kid is the best in the world is an unhealthy way of pumping up their ego. Of course, we must acknowledge them when they do good and correct them when they are wrong. But we need to be cautious in our words when doing such evaluations. Comparing with other kids is one of the most common ways to hurt children. Constant nudging to achieve like others have achieved. Why are you not one? The issue is a comparison that comes out of a sense of envy. Many times this stems from the fact that parents themselves are very competitive in nature and they push that on to the children too! I am sure more can be added. But the question we parents have to sincerely ask ourselves is this: Are we guilty of any, most or even all of these sins? If so, we have to honestly go to the Lord and ask him to show it to us, then repent of these sins, seek forgiveness and his help to overcome these sins. Having seen what not to do, in the next post, we will see what fathers should do. He is married to Geetha and has 2 children. He can be contacted directly at rk2serve yahoo.

2: Faith Alive Community Church Hannah A Portrait of a Godly Mother - Faith Alive Community Church

A godly woman is the portrait of a SUPPLYING MOTHER (, 27). A godly woman is the portrait of a SUPPORTIVE WIFE (, 28). A godly woman is the portrait of a STRONG SPIRIT (, 25).

Click For Plain Text Version Of This File Exodus 2: Today is a day when we take the time to honor the one human being who unselfishly gives herself to her children time and time again, without asking for anything in return. Not everyone has enjoyed this great blessing but those who have will go to their grave remembering the love of their mother. We set aside one day a year to honor mothers. The majority of them deserve it, and they truly are VIPs. Abraham Lincoln declared, "no man is poor who has had a godly mother. She stands out as one of the greatest mothers revealed in the pages of Scripture. It would do us well this morning to look at the life of this great mother. As we do, we find characteristics that stand as reminders to all of our mothers teaching them what they should be as well. Yet, please do not think that I am speaking only to moms today. In this passage about this woman Jochebed, there are lessons that speak to every person here, whether they be male or female, young or old, saved or lost. God has a word for you this morning. Join me as we look together at Jochebed: She was also a member of the tribe of Levi from which would come the priests and those who would carry out the duties of the Tabernacle and later of the Temple. She, and her husband Amram, were evidently very dedicated and religious people. They were willing to defy the order of Pharaoh and keep the commandments of God. Every mother needs a relationship with the Lord. May I say that every child deserves a saved, sold out, dedicated mother? Nothing would make more difference in the lives of our children than having good, godly examples in the home. There is a need for godly fathers too! In fact, everyone in the home needs a relationship with the Lord. God give us godly moms and dads! While we are one the subject, allow me to insert the truth that every person needs the Lord Jesus Christ! My friend, more than you need your next breath or your next heartbeat, you need Jesus and His salvation. It is the one credential you need to miss hell and enter into heaven when you die - Acts 4: The Decree of Pharaoh - Ex. Joshebed refused to give in to a godless system that would have cost her the life of her son. Men and women who demand more for their children than the world can give them. Parents who are willing to say, "Enough is enough, my child is going to learn the way of the Lord! We need some courageous people in these times! It is interesting to note that in our day, often the young people have more of a heart for God and His business than do their parents. It is a blessing when young folks live for God, but it is the parents who ought to set the example in courage and godliness for those who are following behind! Once a little boy asked his father what a Christian was. For a long time, the father sat with the son explaining in great detail exactly what a Christian was supposed to be. When he was finished, he felt like he had done a pretty good job of describing a Christian, as well as himself. His illusions, however, were shattered when his son asked, "Dad, have I ever met one? After the boy had undergone an exhaustive series of tests, the father was told the shocking news that his son had a terminal illness. The youngster had accepted Christ as his Savior, so the minister knew that death would usher him into Glory; but he wondered how to inform one in the bloom of youth that he soon would die. First he read a passage of Scripture and had a time of prayer with his dear child. Then he gently told him that the doctors could promise him only a few more days to live. It meant his son had seen Christ in him. The boy did not dread meeting the Savior whom his father had so accurately portrayed. By confidence, I am referring to faith. Jochebed was a woman motivated by a strong faith in the will of a Sovereign God! She needed this kind of faith to accomplish what she did for the Lord and for her son. She needed faith to: So it is today! The world demands that parents hand over their children and allow them to be trained and taught the ways of the world. But, our children need and deserve better than that! We need some parents who will teach their children the ways of God and steer them clear of the world and its devises. This was the same instrument which was being used to destroy the other babies, Ex. It took faith for this mother to take her hands off the life of this child and leave him to the will of God. It takes faith for us to let our children go, but that day is coming. Some parents live in denial and try to hold on to their children far too long, but the day is coming, sooner or later, when that child must be allowed to become an adult. It takes faith to just leave them in the had of God, but the child who has a praying mother, a past filled with the Bible and training in the way of the Lord has the advantage and will do well. When I talk about giving them up to be adults, I do not mean that we are to stop praying for them and that we are to turn on them. Soon after her arrival, she realized that an attractive girl can earn more money without working than by honest work. She pleased men and soon had money, jewels, and a life of revelry. Her mother was forgotten. What does a mother count when one dances to popular tunes? I have neglected her completely. To her amazement, she found the gate of her house wide open. She knew her mother was always careful to lock it at night. A lamp burning so late? Mother usually went to bed early. Might she be sick? Living Sacrifice Book Company, It took great faith for her to raise this child under those conditions. However, she was given the opportunity to teach Moses about Jehovah, about true worship and about right living. She had the opportunity to do her best by her son. We are required to do the same thing! All we can do is our best by our children. May I say that they need love, acceptance, Bible teaching, preaching, church, godly examples to emulate and especially, they need a personal relationship with the Lord Jesus Christ! If you give your children to God and then give them all the God you can, you have done your best. They then have a foundation from which they can grow and mature into healthy saints of God. Discipline your children only when you lose your temper. Blow your top, holler, get wild, clobber them, and really make a brawl out of it. The children will get a bang out of you. Money in large quantities is an acceptable substitute for love. Compare your child with someone else to make him smarten up. Mother and father should disagree in regard to the rules for their youngsters. Children will then learn to play one parent against the other. Never let the kids think for themselves. The reason may be in their heredity or environment. Treat them with suspicion. Never trust the sneaky little characters. This refers to the wonderful way in which she gave out of her life. In a very real spiritual sense this is what the heavenly Father has done for each of us! God gave His Own darling Son to save sinful man. He did that simply because He loves you! According to the Bible, God gave His son for us! When He did, God knew exactly what He was doing. In fact, when Jesus came and died for our sins at Calvary, that was the greatest expression of love the world would ever see, Rom. Jochebed gave her son for Israel. God gave His Son for the world, John 3: He died for you! We See Her Charity V. Her son became a great man of God.

3: First Baptist Church: Fort Mill, SC > A Portrait of a Godly Mother

Pastor John Miller teaches an expository Mother's Day message through 1 Samuel 1 titled, Portrait of A Godly Mother. Scripture 1 Samuel 1 Now there was a certain.

Father , Mother , Parenting Note: This is Part 2 of a 2-part series. If you are interested in listening to the audio sermon of this entire series that was preached as 1 message, click HERE. Fathersâ€™ What To Do [The Positive] Rather than causing children to get bitter, angry, and discouraged, Paul calls fathers to do the positive: Interestingly, the other place where this word is used is found a few verses earlier in Ephesians 5: In other words, husbands are to be the teachers, trainers, and nourishers for their wives and bring them to maturity just as they are to do for their children. They are bitter against their wives, treat them as sex objects, cooks, money making machines and vessels to carry their seed. Yet, they desire to be great dads. If one is failing as a husband, the overwhelming possibility is that he will fail as a father also. So, Paul commands the fathers to bring up their children to maturity. It is used several times in Hebrews Putting sense into the mind to stay away from dangers. It is used in 1 Corinthians This training or discipline and instruction of the Lord is accomplished through 4 ways: Being a good example. Teaching Even the world recognizes the need for fathers to be teachers. First and foremost biblical truths. Talk about them when you sit at home and when you walk along the road, when you lie down and when you get up. The call is clear. But notice what Moses says in verse 6 to parents: So, parents should first of all be diligent in their personal study of the Scriptures. So, parents, are we diligent students of the Scriptures ourselves? I hope the answer is yes. Only then, we can impart biblical teaching to our children. It takes hard work. This does not mean we must always keep quoting the Bible. It means we must help children see how biblical truths affect decision making in all walks of life. There should be set times every day for clear biblical instructionâ€™a regular and systematic time for family Bible reading and prayer. Over and above those times should be the general teaching of the Bible as it applies to various walks of life. We need to teach them to fear God, to obey his commands, warn them about the dangers of sin, about the judgment of God on sin, about the cross, repentance, forgiveness and so forth. In other words, the main thrust is for their salvation. The words of John Piper regarding this issue are worth quoting: It is gospel-saturated living and teaching. Pray and love and teach your children until Christ breaks in on their hearts and becomes their Treasure. We need to get them a Bible in a translation that is age-appropriate for their understanding. No point in giving them something they cannot understand! We need to read with them, read to them and help them to read on their own as well. We need to teach them to memorize and meditate on Bible versesâ€™even 1 verse a week is great. Asking them to explain what the verse means is a good way to help children study the Scripture on their own. We need to teach them about prayer. Fathers should pray with the kids, for the kids and help kids pray on their own. We need to teach them to learn to talk to God on their own. They should be taught to give thanks to God for all his blessings, including small ones! They should be encouraged to go into their rooms and privately talk to God. Even 5 minutes of closet-prayer, when they are very young, helps cultivate good habits in them. And the best way is to model it to them. Fathers, if they see us on our knees calling to the Lord frequently, they will also be encouraged to do the same. We need to teach them about non-retaliation. Sad to see many Dads telling their children when they complain of some other child hurting them to go back the next day and beat them up. Rather than encouraging the kid to pray for the offender and if needed, taking the matter to the teacher, they teach them how to retaliate. What a reversal of Christian principles. We need to teach them about the value of work. We need to explain why work is a good thing and how the Bible commands good and honest labor. We need to teach them how to manage their money. We need to teach the value of thingsâ€™not just the cost of things. We need to teach them to share their resources with those in need. We need to teach them to be very generous from an early age. Fathers, let us take this teaching role very seriously. So, teaching is the first means we must employ of the What fathers ought to do command. Disciplining When the teaching aspect mentioned above is not being followed, then part of that teaching involves corrective training. I understand disciplining is a very sensitive subject in our day and age. Some may even disagree with this aspect. First of all, God the perfect parent disciplines his children. There is our role model! And this passage assumes that human fathers will also discipline children [The book of Proverbs filled with wisdom for the daily practical living has so many instructions calling for parents to discipline their children when required. Here are a few. Of course, no parent is to resort to any sort of abuse or disciplining out of frustration. It should be done in a proper way. A wooden paddle is more likely the idea and that could be used as the means for discipline when applied properly on the behind. Again, the call is not to abuse, but inflict a small amount of pain so that the child understands there are consequences for disobedience. By disciplining our children, we are teaching them a far bigger principle: Sin has consequences—sometimes long-term consequences. And the only way to be protected from it is to run to Christ for forgiveness. We are creating a good habit of going to the Lord for the forgiveness of sins at an early age. So, you see, disciplining is not just so that kids will be obedient to parents. Rather, the more important issue is that they will run to Christ for salvation when they grow older; that should be the hope of all disciplining. Parents, by faith, must have this conviction. Failure to do so on either parent is sin and the result—“God will discipline the sinning parent[s] for failure to discipline their sinning child! Also not all disciplining needs to be physical even at a younger age. At times, certain pleasures can be withheld as a form of punishment. Yes, a time will come when we cannot physically discipline them and only talking will do. But, there is a time where physical disciplining will enable them in their growth. So, in addition to teaching, we need to discipline them as needed. This is the second means of the What fathers ought to do command. Loving Fathers, love your children; all of them equally! Show love by spending time with them. Be there as much as possible when they participate in events. I understand one cannot be there for every single event. But as much as possible, show love by your presence. Talk to them without being distracted by looking at your phone or TV. Look them in the eye and communicate. Show love by being a good listener. Often, kids desire just the company of their parents more than the gifts. He decided to make up for that failing all at once. He had his limousine driver take him to her school, where she was picked up and deposited next to him in the backseat. They took off for New York City where he had made reservations for dinner in an expensive French restaurant and had tickets to a Broadway show. After an exhausting evening, they were driven home. And I did not really understand the show.

4: The Portrait of A Godly Mother – Hope Worth Having

Exodus JOCHEBED: A PORTRAIT OF A GODLY MOTHER. Intro: Today is a day when we take the time to honor the one human being who unselfishly gives herself to her children time and time again, without asking for anything in return.

And when she saw that he was a beautiful child, she hid him three months. And her maidens walked along the riverside; and when she saw the ark among the reeds, she sent her maid to get it. Today is a day when we take the time to honor the one human being who unselfishly gives herself to her children time and time again, without asking for anything in return. Not everyone has enjoyed this great blessing but those who have will go to their grave remembering the love of their mother. We set aside one day a year to honor mothers. The majority of them deserve it, and they truly are VIPs. She stands out as one of the greatest mothers revealed in the pages of Scripture. It would do us well this morning to look at the life of this great mother. As we do, we find characteristics that stand as reminders to all of our mothers teaching them what they should be as well. Yet, please do not think that I am speaking only to moms today. In this passage about this woman Jochebed, there are lessons that speak to every person here, whether they be male or female, young or old, saved or lost. God has a word for you this morning. Join me as we look together at Jochebed: She was also a member of the tribe of Levi from which would come the priests and those who would carry out the duties of the Tabernacle and later of the Temple. She, and her husband Amram, were evidently very dedicated and religious people. They were willing to defy the order of Pharaoh and keep the commandments of God. Every mother needs a relationship with the Lord. May I say that every child deserves a saved, sold out, dedicated mother? Nothing would make more difference in the lives of our children than having good, godly examples in the home. There is a need for godly fathers too! In fact, everyone in the home needs a relationship with the Lord. God give us godly moms and dads! While we are one the subject, allow me to insert the truth that every person needs the Lord Jesus Christ! My friend, more than you need your next breath or your next heartbeat, you need Jesus Christ and His salvation. It is the one credential you need to miss hell and enter into heaven when you die –” Acts 4: The Decree of Pharaoh –” Ex. Jochebed refused to give in to a godless system that would have cost her the life of her son. Men and women who demand more for their children than the world can give them. We need some courageous people in these times! It is interesting to note that in our day, often the young people have more of a heart for God and His business than do their parents. It is a blessing when young folks live for God, but it is the parents who ought to set the example in courage and godliness for those who are following behind! Once a little boy asked his father what a Christian was. For a long time, the father sat with the son explaining in great detail exactly what a Christian was supposed to be. When he was finished, he felt like he had done a pretty good job of describing a Christian, as well as himself. After the boy had undergone an exhaustive series of tests, the father was told the shocking news that his son had a terminal illness. The youngster had accepted Christ as his Savior, so the minister knew that death would usher him into Glory; but he wondered how to inform one in the bloom of youth that he soon would die. First he read a passage of Scripture and had a time of prayer with his dear child. Then he gently told him that the doctors could promise him only a few more days to live. It meant his son had seen Christ in him. The boy did not dread meeting the Savior whom his father had so accurately portrayed. By confidence, I am referring to faith. Jochebed was a woman motivated by a strong faith in the will of a Sovereign God! She needed this kind of faith to accomplish what she did for the Lord and for her son. She needed faith to: So it is today! The world demands that parents hand over their children and allow them to be trained and taught the ways of the world. But, our children need and deserve better than that! We need some parents who will teach their children the ways of God and steer them clear of the world and its devices. This was the same instrument which was being used to destroy the other babies, Ex. It took faith for this mother to take her hands off the life of this child and leave him to the will of God. It takes faith for us to let our children go, but that day is coming. Some parents live in denial and try to hold on to their children far too long, but the day is coming, sooner or later, when that child must be allowed to become an adult. It takes faith to just leave them in the hand of God, but the child who has a praying mother, a past filled with the Bible and training in the way of the Lord has the advantage and will do well. When I talk about giving them up to be adults, I do not mean that we are to stop praying for them and that we are to turn on them. Soon after her arrival, she realized that an attractive girl can earn more money without working than by honest work. She pleased men and soon had money, jewels, and a life of revelry. Her mother was forgotten. What does a mother count when one dances to popular tunes? I have neglected her completely. She knew her mother was always careful to lock it at night. A lamp burning so late? Mother usually went to bed early. Might she be sick? Living Sacrifice Book Company, It took great faith for her to raise this child under those conditions. However, she was given the opportunity to teach Moses about Jehovah, about true worship and about right living. She had the opportunity to do her best by her son. We are required to do the same thing! All we can do is our best by our children. May I say that they need love, acceptance, Bible teaching, preaching, church, godly examples to emulate and especially, they need a personal relationship with the Lord Jesus Christ! If you give your children to God and then give them all the God you can, you have done your best. They then have a foundation from which they can grow and mature into healthy saints of God. Discipline your children only when you lose your temper. Blow your top, holler, get wild, clobber them, and really make a brawl out of it. The children will get a bang out of you. Money in large quantities is an acceptable substitute for love. Compare your child with someone else to make him smarten up. Mother and father should disagree in regard to the rules for their youngsters. Children will then learn to play one parent against the other. Never let the kids think for themselves. The reason may be in their heredity or environment. Treat them with suspicion. Never trust the sneaky little characters. This refers to the wonderful way in which she gave out of her life. In a very real spiritual sense this is what the heavenly Father has done for each of us! God gave His Own darling Son to save sinful man. He did that simply because He loves you! According to the Bible, God gave His son for us! When He did, God knew exactly what He was doing. In fact, when Jesus came and died for our sins at Calvary, that was the greatest expression of love the world would ever see, Rom. Jochebed gave her son for Israel. God gave His Son for the world, John 3: He died for you! We See Her Charity V. Her son became a great man of God. He was the one man whom God had chosen to be the deliverer of the people of God and the one who was destined to be known as the Great Lawgiver Of Israel. I would imagine that Jochebed never realized his potential when he was a baby. I suppose that she lived the remainder of her life and never knew what God did with the life of Moses. In her own way, Jochebed rises as high as any mother in the Bible.

5: Portrait of a Godly Mother – Pontiac Bible Church

The Portrait of A Godly Mother Proverbs By: Pastor Mike Sanders. There is no adequate pen or adequate words to express how much we owe our mothers for their hard work, good words, and loving deeds.

Today is a day when we take the time to honor the one human being who unselfishly gives herself to her children time and time again, without asking for anything in return. Not everyone has enjoyed this great blessing but those who have will go to their grave remembering the love of their mother. We set aside one day a year to honor mothers. The majority of them deserve it, and they truly are VIPs. Abraham Lincoln declared, "no man is poor who has had a godly mother. She stands out as one of the greatest mothers revealed in the pages of Scripture. It would do us well this morning to look at the life of this great mother. As we do, we find characteristics that stand as reminders to all of our mothers teaching them what they should be as well. Yet, please do not think that I am speaking only to moms today. In this passage about this woman Jochebed, there are lessons that speak to every person here, whether they be male or female, young or old, saved or lost. God has a word for you this morning. Join me as we look together at Jochebed: She was also a member of the tribe of Levi from which would come the priests and those who would carry out the duties of the Tabernacle and later of the Temple. She, and her husband Amram, were evidently very dedicated and religious people. They were willing to defy the order of Pharaoh and keep the commandments of God. Every mother needs a relationship with the Lord. May I say that every child deserves a saved, sold out, dedicated mother? Nothing would make more difference in the lives of our children than having good, godly examples in the home. There is a need for godly fathers too! In fact, everyone in the home needs a relationship with the Lord. God give us godly moms and dads! While we are one the subject, allow me to insert the truth that every person needs the Lord Jesus Christ! My friend, more than you need your next breath or your next heartbeat, you need Jesus and His salvation. It is the one credential you need to miss hell and enter into heaven when you die - Acts 4: The Decree of Pharaoh - Ex. Joshebed refused to give in to a godless system that would have cost her the life of her son. Men and women who demand more for their children than the world can give them. Parents who are willing to say, "Enough is enough, my child is going to learn the way of the Lord! We need some courageous people in these times! It is interesting to note that in our day, often the young people have more of a heart for God and His business than do their parents. It is a blessing when young folks live for God, but it is the parents who ought to set the example in courage and godliness for those who are following behind! Once a little boy asked his father what a Christian was. For a long time, the father sat with the son explaining in great detail exactly what a Christian was supposed to be. When he was finished, he felt like he had done a pretty good job of describing a Christian, as well as himself. His illusions, however, were shattered when his son asked, "Dad, have I ever met one? After the boy had undergone an exhaustive series of tests, the father was told the shocking news that his son had a terminal illness. The youngster had accepted Christ as his Savior, so the minister knew that death would usher him into Glory; but he wondered how to inform one in the bloom of youth that he soon would die. First he read a passage of Scripture and had a time of prayer with his dear child. Then he gently told him that the doctors could promise him only a few more days to live. It meant his son had seen Christ in him. The boy did not dread meeting the Savior whom his father had so accurately portrayed. By confidence, I am referring to faith. Jochebed was a woman motivated by a strong faith in the will of a Sovereign God! She needed this kind of faith to accomplish what she did for the Lord and for her son. She needed faith to: So it is today! The world demands that parents hand over their children and allow them to be trained and taught the ways of the world. But, our children need and deserve better than that! We need some parents who will teach their children the ways of God and steer them clear of the world and its devises. This was the same instrument which was being used to destroy the other babies, Ex. It took faith for this mother to take her hands off the life of this child and leave him to the will of God. It takes faith for us to let our children go, but that day is coming. Some parents live in denial and try to hold on to their children far too long, but the day is coming, sooner or later, when that child must be allowed to become an adult. It takes faith to just leave them in the had of God, but the child who has a praying mother, a past filled with the Bible and training in the way of the Lord has the advantage and will do well. When I talk about giving them up to be adults, I do not mean that we are to stop praying for them and that we are to turn on them. Soon after her arrival, she realized that an attractive girl can earn more money without working than by honest work. She pleased men and soon had money, jewels, and a life of revelry. Her mother was forgotten. What does a mother count when one dances to popular tunes? I have neglected her completely. To her amazement, she found the gate of her house wide open. She knew her mother was always careful to lock it at night. A lamp burning so late? Mother usually went to bed early. Might she be sick? Living Sacrifice Book Company, It took great faith for her to raise this child under those conditions. However, she was given the opportunity to teach Moses about Jehovah, about true worship and about right living. She had the opportunity to do her best by her son. We are required to do the same thing! All we can do is our best by our children. May I say that they need love, acceptance, Bible teaching, preaching, church, godly examples to emulate and especially, they need a personal relationship with the Lord Jesus Christ! If you give your children to God and then give them all the God you can, you have done your best. They then have a foundation from which they can grow and mature into healthy saints of God. Discipline your children only when you lose your temper. Blow your top, holler, get wild, clobber them, and really make a brawl out of it. The children will get a bang out of you. Money in large quantities is an acceptable substitute for love. Compare your child with someone else to make him smarten up. Mother and father should disagree in regard to the rules for their youngsters. Children will then learn to play one parent against the other. Never let the kids think for themselves. The reason may be in their heredity or environment. Treat them with suspicion. Never trust the sneaky little characters. This refers to the wonderful way in which she gave out of her life. In a very real spiritual sense this is what the heavenly Father has done for each of us! God gave His Own darling Son to save sinful man. He did that simply because He loves you! According to the Bible, God gave His son for us! When He did, God knew exactly what He was doing. In fact, when Jesus came and died for our sins at Calvary, that was the greatest expression of love the world would ever see, Rom. Jochebed gave her son for Israel. God gave His Son for the world, John 3: He died for you! We See Her Charity V. Her son became a great man of God. He was the one man whom God had chosen to be the deliverer of the people of God and the one who was destined to be known as the Great Lawgiver Of Israel. I would imagine that Jochebed never realized his potential when he was a baby.

THE PORTRAIT OF A GODLY MOTHER pdf

6: GODLY PERSPECTIVES: PORTRAIT OF A GODLY MOTHER, FIRST IN A SERIES

Single Sermons. This is where you will find the "stand-alone" sermons given here are The Rock. Each one of these timely messages address a self-contained topic that is relevant to the church today.

7: Portrait of a Godly Mother (Proverbs 31)

The Portrait Of A Godly Mother The LORD has preserved for us the portrait of a godly mother who left a sacred legacy of faith for her son even as God intervened in her life through Elijah. Add a note (optional).

8: PORTRAIT OF A GODLY MOTHER by Wayne Webb on Prezi

Quotes about Godly Mothers Only God Himself fully appreciates the influence of a Christian mother in the molding of character in her children. ~ Billy Graham Men may have the authority in the home, but the women have the influence.

9: Sermons and Outlines

JOCHEBED: A PORTRAIT OF A GODLY MOTHER. Exodus (NKJV) Moses Is Born 2 And a man of the house of Levi went and took as wife a daughter of Levi. 2 So the woman conceived and bore a son.

Effects of rapid population growth on health A letter from Paris, giving an account of the death of the late Queen Dowager, and of her disowning the P Brownian bridge asymptotics for random mappings The Fifth Sorceress {Unabridged Audio} Toradora light novel Pricing on Purpose Woman an enigma, or, Life and its revealings Sophist translated by F.M. Cornford Carlas Magic Dancing Boots (Yellow Storybook) Of Mice and Men (Cliffs Notes) Tomb raider 2013 art book A modest proposal for the criticism of Borges, by R. Christ. Whereas His Majesty hath been certainly informed of the killing and destroying of the game in and about h Majesty: This we have now Confidence building stories for kids in World war 1 project Role of nurse in primary health care Thanks for Being a Teacher Technical analysis of brass and the non-ferrous alloys Aggarwal quantitative aptitude book JLA the Flashes book of speed Cold calling for chickens Poetry in the museums of modernism Little Miss Splendid and the Princess Big League Brothers Optics of femtosecond laser pulses Introduction to random vibrations The plaza of diamond rodoreda The Analysis of communication content The foreign policy of Europe A comparison of metals, ceramics, and polymers The Claverings (Large Print Edition) Real estate regulations The Art of War The Art of Career Building (2 Volumes in 1 (The Art of War Plus Series) Mosbys Basic Nursing Skills CD-ROM Sothebys guide to American folk art Learning with Computers Level 5 Guilt at Versailles North to the Last Frontier Alaska Total disc replacement through the XLIF approach Luiz Pimenta . [et al.].