

1: ShelsEmpowered | Events

This directory provides a comprehensive list of over women's organizations in England, Northern Ireland, the Republic of Ireland, Scotland and Wales.

Despite incredible sexism and racism, Cole persevered as a doctor, becoming a tireless advocate for medical rights for the poor, particularly for black Americans who were mostly ignored by the white medical establishment. Rebecca and her siblings received excellent educations, allowing them to obtain work other than the domestic service or manual labor in which most African Americans of that time were employed. Cole excelled at the prestigious Institute for Colored Youth in Philadelphia, a Quaker high school which strived to train black youth to become teachers and scholars. The Institute for Colored Youth was considered one of the more rigorous of the black schools of the time and its curriculum included Latin, Greek and mathematics. As a student Cole received a ten dollar award for academic excellence, good conduct and attendance. This was quite a sum in those days and served as a testament to her intellect and dedication. There she studied under the supervision of Ann Preston, the first woman dean of an American medical school. By enrolling in medical school at this early time, Cole was truly a pioneer. Her senior thesis was titled "The Eye and Its Appendages. Cole was able to overcome racial and gender barriers to medical education by training in all-female institutions run by women who had been part of the first generation of female physicians. There she worked with the first white American woman to receive a medical degree, Dr. Elizabeth Blackwell, her sister Dr. There Cole worked as a sanitary visitor, a traveling physician who visited families in their homes in slum neighborhoods and instructed them in family hygiene, and prenatal and infant care. In her autobiography, Dr. In addition to the usual departments of hospital and dispensary practice, which included the visiting of poor patients at their own homes, we established a sanitary visitor. This post was filled by one of our assistant physicians, whose special duty it was to give simple, practical instruction to poor mothers on the management of infants and the preservation of the health of their families. An intelligent young coloured physician, Dr. Experience of its results serve to show that the establishment of such a department would be a valuable addition to every hospital. This was a demanding job, considering the rising population of New York City at the time, and it could have been easily done by someone with much less education and skill than Cole. Whether she was relegated to this role or chose this service herself is unclear. She then returned to her native Philadelphia, where she furthered her commitment to social activism by serving as superintendent of a shelter for the homeless. She also established a private medical practice. Rebecca Cole partnered with Dr. According to the above referenced article, "The majority of unmarried mothers who apply to the directory for help belong to the domestic service or factory class. They offered free medical and legal services to these destitute women, and according to its charter, programs aiding in "the prevention of feticide and infanticide and the evils connected with baby farming by rendering assistance to women in cases of approaching maternity and of desertion or abandonment of mothers and by aiding magistrates and others entrusted with police powers in preventing or punishing [such] crimes. A subsequent annual report stated that: Cole herself has more than fulfilled the expectations of her friends. With a clear and comprehensive view of her whole field of action, she has carried out her plans with the good sense and vigor which are a part of her character, while her cheerful optimism, her determination to see the best in every situation and in every individual, have created around her an atmosphere of sunshine that adds to the happiness and well being of every member of the large family. Du Bois about the research for his book, The Philadelphia Negro. Cole wrote a rebuttal, stating that statistical errors and the testimony of slum landlords had led Du Bois to a flawed conclusion and that the individuals in the slums were not entirely to blame for the high death rate. Following in Her Path Until the mid-nineteenth century, American medicine was essentially unregulated. Doctors underwent less training than ministers and did not need a license to practice. Women benefited from the ease with which medical schools were given charters - between and , nineteen medical schools for women were founded. During this same period, the number of all women physicians rose from fewer than to more than In , African American physicians were in practice, of these were women. These pioneers comprised one of the earliest groups of African American professional women. Many of these women worked outside their private practices in helping populations of women and children and blacks barred from segregated facilities. Often denied privileges at existing institutions, these trailblazers established an array of healthcare institutions. The professionalization and standardization of medicine further marginalized blacks and women, who were generally excluded from key organizations. Cole died on August 14, Although Cole practiced medicine for fifty years, little is known about her personal life, and no images of her remain. Her career and the contributions of the first wave of black women physicians illustrate that had opportunities been available, black women might have further advanced the practice of medicine with their community-based approach to health care.

2: Shop Athleta for Women's Yoga Clothing, Technical Athletic Clothing, and Athleisure

She Shops Local Business Directory. The online Business Directory for women owned businesses in Ottawa and the area. An online extension of the She Shops Guide, featuring women in business - shops, goods & services.

3: NPR Choice page

Enter your mobile number or email address below and we'll send you a link to download the free Kindle App. Then you can start reading Kindle books on your smartphone, tablet, or computer - no Kindle device required.

4: Women's Center | Ohio University

Here She Is. Here She Is features hundreds of successful women with a range of backgrounds, disciplines, and professional www.enganchecubano.com has been used as a directory of leaders since its launch on International Women's Day in

5: She Shops Local Business Directory Women-owned Business in the

WorldCat is the world's largest library catalog, helping you find library materials www.enganchecubano.com more

6: Women's Soccer City - A women's football directory

Directory: a. Reports. About. The Women's Media Center's research and reports shed a light on the underrepresentation and misrepresentation of women in the media.

7: ShelsEmpowered | WOMEN-OWNED BUSINESS DIRECTORY

OMWBE's Directory of Certified Firms was designed to help buyers and contracting officers more quickly locate and notify certified firms of upcoming procurement and contracting opportunities.

8: She + Sky Online

Areas of Expertise: Feminism, Philanthropy, Women, Women and Politics, Women in business, Women's empowerment, Women's issues, Women's leadership Kathleen Newland Director of Migrants, Migration, and Development and Refugee Protection Programs, and Member of the Board of Trustees.

9: Here She Is - Directory of Women | Victorian Women's Trust

To gain clinical experience, Cole moved to New York City, where she took a job as resident physician at the New York

Infirmery for Women and Children in New York City, which was run and owned by women.

A matter of gravity Esic hospital list in mumbai 2018 Gospel Stories for Pastors, Teachers, and Parents Colombia: its present state Chicago referencing style guide Occupational costume in England from the eleventh century to 1914 Cohabitation and fornication (1 Thessalonians 4:1-8) Jazz (American Popular Music) 50 Simple Things You Can Do to Raise a Child Who Loves History and Geography (50 Simple Things Series) Internet commerce for manufacturing data staging Journey to the Alamo (Book One, Mr. Barringtons Mysterious Trunk Series (Mr. Barringtons Mysterious Trunk Greenan, R. H. The secret life of Algernon Pendleton. What is stylistics? Rick steves paris Reason and morals. The home schooling option A slip in time kathleen kirkwood In conversation with Jean Dreze Ranabir Samaddar Rebel With a Cause Finally Comfortable being Graham Blood Pressure Monitoring in Cardiovascular Medicine and Therapeutics (Contemporary Cardiology) Differences between animal and plant cells An address pronounced before the Massachusetts Horticultural Society Evidence-based design for healthcare facilities August Wilson and Black aesthetics Jews in the Roman world Method statement for construction for civil quality engineer Real projective plane. 5/E Biochemistry Psaar Account of Ireland, statistical and political Protein Degradation: Vol. 4 Losas de Hormigon Armado Confession (Jenny Cain Mystery) Cracking the global market Rainy Mountain : Kiowas and the land before allotment West Syrian Liturgical Theology (Liturgy, Worship, and Society Series (Liturgy, Worship, and Society Seri Risk stratification using inflammatory markers and other risk factors in nuclear imaging Jack Rubinstein Cholinergic function and dysfunction Ccna wireless study guide Technological capability and learning in firms Thermoreception and temperature regulation