2: The Nancy Drew Notebooks Series

The Ski Slope Mystery (Nancy Drew Notebooks Series #16) by Carolyn Keene, Anthony Accardo SOMEBODY'S NOT PLAYING FAIR! Nancy, Bess, and George are going skiing.

She made the invitations herself, with rainbow ribbon hair clips and everything. But now the invitations are gone. And the whole party is ruined! Nancy Drew has promised to find the missing invitations. Nancy has never solved a mystery before, but she already has a clue or two. Maybe if she writes them down in her special blue notebook. It all started because Bess wanted to jump rope. She asked George to hold on to her beautiful heart-shaped locket. George put it in her book bag to keep it safe. But when she went to give the locket back, it was gone! Inside the bag, Nancy finds a clue to the missing locket -- a sandwich. And not just any sandwich: That means cards, candy, and a special gift for everyone. Everyone except Nancy Drew Is it a mistake? Is somebody just being silly or mean? Or is someone hiding something and afraid to tell the truth? WHO added salt to the water on the sidelines? Soccer is supposed to be a kick. But when they study ice cream at two ice cream shops, they find a conspiracy to close one of the shops. Nancy investigates, follows the clues, and helps her new friend. And, boy, is she in trouble. Inside were three passes - for her, Bess, and George - to the most spectacular movie of all time, Star Quest 2. Even worse, Jason Hutchings is looking for the notebook - just to prove how easy it is to be a detective. But the real trouble starts when a gold ring disappears. Nancy decides to investigate and finds out something very unexpected -- about gold rings, about her house guests, and about having fun on the holidays. She even signs up extra early! The money has just disappeared! Who put the silly mustache on the campaign poster? But the whole weekend is getting crazy. Whose Pet Is Best? Now what Mari needs most is a special friend to help her feel better--and maybe find Silvermane. Someone like Nancy Drew! Lemonade Raid 19 For Sale What do people want most on a hot summer day? Nancy has a great idea: But who would want a big box of lemons? Finding out could be fun, though. But Hannah has a secret, and Nancy thinks she knows what it is: Nancy will do anything to keep Hannah, even clean the house. But only one girl can wear the crown and the beautiful gown. Bess may never speak to Nancy again! Does being the best detective in the world mean Nancy has to lose her best friend in the world? Clue in the Glue 22 For Sale George is upset. Because the teacher says she was passing notes in class. Someone was passing notes to her! It seems pretty silly until Nancy and her friends have a new substitute teacher Kate Zaleski says Ms. Zagon is an alien. The Hidden Treasures 24 For Sale When Nancy stumbles on an old diary full of secret clues in her own house, she finds a mystery that begins with one little old book--and ends with one big surprise! Well, maybe not for Nancy and her friends--their free passes have just vanished! Not only are they taking horseback-riding lessons, but Bess is in the school spelling bee. But now the earrings have disappeared. But for Nancy, the real trouble is the creepy, crawly cake that goes ker-plooeey! When a snooty birthday girl gets cake-slimed, Nancy may get the blame. The ground is covered with thick snow and that means no school. As soon as Nancy gets the news, she, George, and Bess head straight for the park to go sledding. Everybody is there, including Molly Angelo with her brand-new sled. So who took it? Just like snowflakes, no two mysteries are alike -- and Nancy better figure this one out before the snow melts! But when they look away for a second, Harry gets turtle-napped! Then someone puts a fake goldfish in his water glass. But who would want to miss a fun trip to the zoo? Summer is off to a fun start! Nancy, Bess, and George have joined Park Pals, a cool program where they get to learn about nature -- stuff like trees, birds, even bugs. Their first stop is an aviary, a place filled with lots of birds, including Carmen, a beautiful hyacinth macaw from South America. Meanwhile, Brenda Carlton is passing out copies of the Carlton News. Her new gossip column says that Nancy did the damage. Now Nancy and her friends have to turn a fashion disaster inside out and catch the real cut-up at the show! She does headstands, she does cartwheels, she can even do a split! Lizzie Benson gives such an amazing performance in a River Heights talent show that she wins a shopping spree at Tremendous Toys. But is Lizzie for real? She looks an awful lot like the actress in a very old movie poster whose name was Elizabeth Benson. And Lizzie says she lives at 10 Tide Street -- a haunted house. Nancy and her friends are helping out. The girls are trying to help her when the painting suddenly disappears. Was it a real treasure worth a fortune? Nancy has already lined up some big-name suspects. But right away mysterious things start happening to Alice. First someone messes with her macaroni and cheese. Then her jump rope with the sparkly handles disappears. Snooty Brenda Carlton is pushing Nancy to solve the case. She gave Alice the idea to write the story. Everyone else in the class is on teams too, and the best story will be printed in the school newspaper. First, snooty Brenda Carlton tells the girls they have no chance of winning? The girls had a neat idea for a ghost story, and now another team may have stolen it. Things get weird when they find notes written in drippy red writing? Is the make-believe mystery coming true? Any horse that drinks from the lake under a full moon disappears. Nancy and her class will see how their favorite candy is made, and even get free samples. Zuckerman himself gives the grand tour past the sparkling machines that spit out Sticky Gummy Goo, Karamel Krunchettes, Frostee Jewels, and more. Zuckerman tells the kids he has dreamed up the perfect candy. He even shows them the paper with the secret recipe. But when the visit is over, the recipe has disappeared and no one can find it! Is the greatest candy lost for good? The highlight of the parade will be a dragon costume. But right before the big day, the dragon disappears! But without the dragon, there will be no parade. And that makes Nancy roaring mad! Always ready to take on a case, Nancy agrees, though she thinks the boys are wrong. Dinosaurs never roamed River Heights -- or did they?

Buy from another retailer: Race you to the hot fudge," George Fayne said to her cousin Bess Marvin. The three best friends were at a make-your-own-sundae party at the Snowshoe Mountain Ski Lodge. The girls were going to take skiing lessons at the Snowshoe Lodge ski school. The school had classes for everyone, from beginners to experts. She glanced around the large, wood-paneled dining room. All around her, people were helping themselves to ice cream and toppings. Outside the window, snow was falling gently as the sun set behind the tall peak of Snowshoe Mountain. George liked all kinds of sports. She had been skiing a few times before. The girls walked across the crowded room to the table where Mr. Drew was drinking coffee. George swallowed her ice cream. Then she reached up and touched the pair of little silver skis hanging from a velvet ribbon around her neck. Drew said, nodding toward the small stage at one end of the room. Nancy, Bess, and George stopped talking. They kept laughing loudly. One of them picked up a spoonful of ice cream and flipped it at the other. The second boy leaned to the side, and the ice cream went flying past him -- straight toward Bess! Bess saw it coming just in time and ducked. The ice cream landed on the floor behind her. You almost got ice cream on my sweater! The boys stared at her. They looked exactly alike. Even their clothes were the same. The only way to tell them apart was by the hot-fudge mustache one of them had on his face. The boy with the fudge mustache stuck out his tongue. His brother picked up another spoonful of ice cream and aimed it at Bess. Drew turned and saw what was happening. Both twins turned and faced the stage. How many of you are here for our ski school weekend? George put two fingers in her mouth and whistled. I hope everyone has a great weekend! They picked up their jackets and hurried across the hall and into the game room. Then someone pushed Bess -- hard. She stumbled and almost fell into a table. Nancy grabbed her arm at the last minute.
