I am so blessed with Faith, family, friends, and you, my readers. Nicholas and in gratitude for you! These are special out-of-print books from that are rare and expensive: One special reader in the United States will receive these two books: Around the Year with the Trapp Family: Keeping the Feasts and Seasons of the Christian Year by Maria Augusta Trapp Please note, these are not new books, so there is some shelf wear and for the latter book, there is no dustjacket and there are some Catholic high school library markings on the spine and in the endpapers and title page. The books do not have a musty smell; they meet my personal shelf approval. I wrote this post in the past summarizing all the reading, music and connections that have touched me. The Trapp family had a personal chaplain and choir director, Father Franz Wasner. Father directed and did all the arrangements sung by the Trapps. I enjoyed playing these when I was younger, and our budding pianists also appreciate the two-hand versions illustrated with beautiful drawings by one of the Trapp daughters, Agathe. Around the Year with the Trapp Family is a book for living the Liturgical Year and the sacraments in the family. The book provides such a balanced combination of celebrating family life on earth and in heaven, mixing Faith, food, fun, music and family all together. She also had a ghost writer for her books. For example, her St. Nicholas. You can get a taste of the book from either an unformatted version at EWTN or I also have compiled chapters and some illustrations at this blog. But to me, nothing replaces the real book, even if it is a used copy. The illustrations by Rosemary Trapp are gentle, sweet and inspiring. And having the musical notations for the music is more practical to actually sing or play the songs suggested throughout the book. The books pair well together. There are some references to songs in Around the Year that the music is not included, but the music is in the Christmas Songs book. And I always prefer to have both hands and harmony to really learn a tune. And for another way of learning the music, their recordings are so enjoyable! The combination of these two albums, One Voice and Journey, has all their recorded music from the beginning. I will announce the winner by the end of the week we do it the old-fashioned way by picking a name out of a hat and the package will be sent priority mail to receive it in time for Christmas. I am restricting to only US continent addresses. Two things are required for entry: Subscribe to my blog to get an email when I post. I will not use your email address for any other reason. The subscription widget is at the footer or the right sidebar. Leave a comment, letting me know if you are familiar with either of these books. If you win, will this be a gift for someone? Do you know anything else about the Trapp Family besides the Sound of Music? For an extra entry, share this either on your blog, Facebook, Twitter, or Pinterest and let me know back here in the comments! And have a blessed St. Nicholas and Our Lady of Guadalupe! The first seven of these were born to his first wife, Agatha Whitehead, while the youngest three: In the evenings, Agathe sang with her family. Agathe sang first soprano with her sister Johanna. Those who had heard them sing encouraged them to do more concerts. They were devoted to Austria. Agathe sewed black aprons for her family, and the whole family wore the clothes of mourning for Austria. There was no danger in these refusals, as border rearrangements that had been made after World War I made Agathe and her family Italian citizens [4] and Germans could not arrest Italians at that time. Agathe arrived in the USA in October. They did a Scandinavian tour there and received standing ovations and glowing reports. In , the von Trapps signed on with Columbia Concerts, Inc. Agathe applied for citizenship in [4] The Trapp Family Singers made two long tours of the United States each year, singing in all forty-eight states and Hawaii. Agathe was 43 years old. In , they both retired. She still painted, and one of her paintings is displayed at the Austrian Embassy in Washington, D. Memories Before and After The Sound of Music, which chronicled the true story behind the film and includes dozens of her hand-drawn maps, portraits, and other illustrations. It also recounts her personal memories of her parents and their lives. She started writing the book in the s by traveling to Europe to research family history, sketch maps, and collect photographs. The book was republished in by Harper Paperback. She played guitar and piano into her retirement. She sang around the house until she was about 94 years old. The film The von Trapp Family: Death[ edit ] Agathe died on 28 December , aged 97, at the Gilchrist Hospice Care in Towson, Maryland after suffering congestive heart failure.
