After his mother died of endocarditis and pneumonia [10] in , he worked at a radio repair shop and at a combination general store, garage and gas station in Greenville. After the war, he bought a house in Farmersville for his eldest sister Corinne and her husband, Poland Burns. His other siblings briefly shared the home. She died when I was sixteen. It reached almost to the floor. She rarely talked; and always seemed to be searching for something. But when she passed away, she took something of me with her. Military career of Audie Murphy Murphy had always wanted to be a soldier. After the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor in December , he tried to enlist, [11] but the Army, Navy and Marine Corps all turned him down for being underweight and underage. After his sister provided an affidavit that falsified his birth date by a year, he was accepted by the U. Army on 30 June Murphy and the other survivor responded by killing five Germans with hand grenades and machine gun fire. He retrieved a machine gun that had been detached from the squad and returned fire at the German soldiers, killing two and wounding one. Murphy advanced alone on the house under direct fire. He killed six, wounded two and took 11 prisoner. When his men finally took the hill, 15 Germans had been killed and 35 wounded. Murphy captured two before being shot in the hip by a sniper; he returned fire and shot the sniper between the eyes. At the 3rd General Hospital at Aix-en-Provence , [61] the removal of gangrene from the wound caused partial loss of his hip muscle and kept him out of combat until January. He sustained a leg wound during his stand, and stopped only after he ran out of ammunition. Murphy rejoined his men, disregarding his own injury, and led them back to repel the Germans. He insisted on remaining with his men while his wounds were treated. Belgium awarded Murphy the Belgian Croix de guerre with Palm. Lovett and Lieutenant Colonel Hallet D. Edson recommended Murphy for the Medal of Honor. When asked after the war why he had seized the machine gun and taken on an entire company of German infantry, he replied, "They were killing my friends. Army for his World War II service. Murphy Memorial VA Hospital in San Antonio , Texas Since his military service, Murphy had been plagued with insomnia and bouts of depression, and he slept with a loaded pistol under his pillow. His medical records indicated that he took sleeping pills to help prevent nightmares. He called on the government to give increased consideration and study to the emotional impact of combat experiences, and to extend health care benefits to war veterans. After the 25 June commencement of the Korean War, Murphy began a second military career and was commissioned as a captain in the 36th Infantry Division of the Texas Army National Guard. Murphy was promoted to the rank of major by the Texas Army National Guard in and returned to inactive status in Film career of Audie Murphy Throughout an acting career spanning from to , Murphy made more than 40 feature films and one television series.
