Review of When the Time Was Fulfilled My wife and I stumbled upon "When the Time was Fulfilled - On Advent and Christmas." at a local library this past year and read it each night during the Advent season.

Repent and believe in the good news! He will come again "for His bride" when the time is right. How do we know that time? One of the most remarkable things about our world is that we can understand it. The scientific revolution has given us the insight to grasp some of the most challenging questions. We have learned that the key to understanding is multidimensional. String theory purports to describe all the forces and particles of nature in terms of little loops of string that wriggle around in higher-dimensional spacetime, with 11 spacetime dimensions a leading contender. String theory is currently the front-runner for a unified theory of fundamental physics. In biology, it is theorized that the human brain uses up to 11 dimensions to process information: In some networks, we even found structures with up to eleven dimensions. The progression of activity through the brain resembles a multi-dimensional sandcastle that materializes out of the sand and then disintegrates. A correct understanding of the sequence and timing of key End Time events is necessary. We monitor current events world-wide, using multiple sources. We track patterns and upticks of End Times categories, comparing them to specific prophecies. These are some of the dimensions of the timing: Psalms "showing the 7 year Tribulation beginning in Based upon our prophetic analysis, there is a very high probability that the Rapture is imminent, and that the 7 year Tribulation starts in The problems are multidimensional, but for the bride Of Christ, the solution is simple. This is the great hope we can look forward to: Believe in God; believe also in Me. I am going away to prepare a place for you. If I go away and prepare a place for you, I will come back and receive you to Myself, so that where I am you may be also.

2: When the time was fulfilled | In all things, good.

Mark (ASV) Now after John was delivered up, Jesus came into Galilee, preaching the gospel of God, and saying, The time is fulfilled, and the kingdom of God is at hand: repent ye, and believe in the gospel.

The Times of the Gentiles Article contributed by www. For the first time since A. Under these circumstances, it is only natural that attention should be focused upon the prophecy recorded in Luke A superficial study of this passage would seem to indicate that this is the case, and that now Israel is moving into a new phase of its long history. Careful students, acquainted with the history of the interpretation of this verse, however, sense the danger of reaching too hasty a conclusion. As a matter of fact, there are a number of important considerations which affect the interpretation of this passage. Under these circumstances, a variety of definitions may be expected depending upon the theological presuppositions of the interpreter. Normally, this is not related to inheritance of spiritual blessings, although premillenarians recognize that during the period of the times of the Gentiles there may be special blessings allotted to Gentile believers. Under premillennial interpretation, the physical possession of Jerusalem becomes of central importance. The fact that Israel was dispossessed of their ancient city in A. The theme of the chapter, however, is that the time will come when Gentile blessing will cease and Israel again will be blessed of God. The argument is summarized in Romans It is with this background that we come to Romans The word fullness Gr. Some envision a great revival among the Gentiles at the close of the age, as does Charles Hodge in keeping with his postmillennial point of view. Nor does it mean that all the Gentiles who may be alive when the Jews are converted shall be true Christians. All that can be safely inferred from this language is, that the Gentiles, as a body, the mass of the Gentile world, will be converted before the restoration of the Jews, as a nation. It becomes clear, therefore, that, while the two concepts may be contemporaneous at least for much of their fulfillment, the termini of the two periods are somewhat different. The final decision presupposes a system of theology, and the interpretation necessarily depends upon it. Accordingly, amillenarians and postmillenarians usually make the two periods end at the same time, namely, at the second coming of Christ. Premillenarians, who distinguish the rapture occurring before the time of tribulation from the second coming of Christ to the earth which follows the tribulation, bring the period of the fullness of the Gentiles to a close at the rapture of the church. Obviously, because the passages in themselves are not completely definitive, any expositor necessarily has to refer by way of reference to his larger scheme of prophecy and its fulfillment and interpret the passages accordingly. However, in the nature of the fact that the close of the interadvent period will bring terrible judgment upon the Gentile world, it is reasonable to assume that the period of Gentile blessing will end before the period of Gentile judgment comes. In any event, it is safe to say that the two terms do not mean precisely the same thing and do not have the same characteristics, and it is better, therefore, to interpret the two terms in the light of their context. Termini of the Times of the Gentiles As already indicated, the time period involved in the times of the Gentiles varies greatly with many expositors. Generally speaking, most expositors bring the times of the Gentiles to a close with the second coming of Christ, and the variety of opinions concentrate more upon the time of its beginning. Because the expression is cast in the context of a future time when Jerusalem will be surrounded by armies and destroyed, a prophecy fulfilled in A. The passage deals only with the time of conclusion of the times of the Gentiles, not its beginning. For this reason, a sound judgment in the matter must be based upon the total teaching of the Bible concerning the relationship between Gentiles and the people of Israel. Here, many expositors find the answer in the prophecies of the book of Daniel which trace the course of Gentile power from Nebuchadnezzar, B. Both from the prophecies of Daniel and the New Testament, however, it is clear that Gentile dominion does not end until the second coming of of Jesus Christ to the earth. The tensions between Israel and the Gentile world cannot be finally resolved until Jesus Christ Himself returns to reign. This, accordingly, casts its light upon the interpretation of Luke With this as a background, the question now can fairly be faced. Is the present occupation of Jerusalem by Israel the terminus ad quem indicated in Luke Has, as a matter of fact, the predicted sway of Gentiles over Israel ceased? A careful survey of the Scriptures indicates that the present occupation of Jerusalem must necessarily be temporary. Gentiles are still in a dominant position in world politics and the fullness of the Gentiles has not yet been brought in. The rapture of the church has not taken place. According to the premillennial interpretation of the end of the age, there is a period still ahead, anticipated in Daniel 9: If this futuristic interpretation is correct, Israel, in the nature of this covenant, will still be under Gentile supervision in the broad sense of the term. As commonly interpreted, the period of peace introduced by the covenant will terminate after it has run half its course and the period of great tribulation will follow. According to the predictions of Christ Himself, Israel will then be forced to flee to the mountains Matt It is also clear from Zechariah 14 that Jerusalem will become the bone of contention and the source of a great battle just before the second coming of Christ. In view of these prophecies, it can hardly be said that Jerusalem, today, is delivered forever from the overlordship of Gentile political power. The fact is that the entire Holy Land will be overrun by the Gentile forces in the final great world conflict. Under these circumstances, it may be concluded that it is hasty to assume that the times of the Gentiles have been completed. If the term itself refers to the entire period of Gentile overlordship over Israel, it can hardly be construed as being completed in contemporary events. The study of the Scriptures, however, does support the idea that the present reoccupation of Jerusalem by Israel is a matter of tremendous Biblical and prophetic importance. This is not that the times of political overlordship are ended, but it does provide the necessary interlude of Jewish possession to make possible the situation described at the end of the age where Israel, for a time at least, is at peace under covenant relationship with her Gentile neighbors and able to have a temple in which sacrifices once again are offered as indicated in Daniel 9: The presence of the Jews in Jerusalem, their ancient city, may be the last preparatory step prior to the important sequence of events that lead to the second coming of Jesus Christ. Christians who believe that the rapture of the church will occur before these events find their ultimate fulfillment have additional reason to hope that the coming of the Lord is indeed near.

While they were there, the time was fulfilled for the baby to be born, and she gave birth to her firstborn, a son. We are concerned day in and day out with lesser or greater matters that are to serve God and his cause. We work sometimes until we are weary and yet we see so little fruit. Does everything remain as it was? Have we really been able to help a little somewhere, or have we merely affected the surface of things? Where is there a trace or glimpse of the goal we long for? What are all our efforts against the apparently indestructible powers of misery and evil? It is well for us that at such hours the light is shining from the stable of Bethlehem and that we are able to sense what it means that the kingdom of God was born as a little child when the time was fulfilled. Christmas did not come after a great mass of people had completed something good, or because of the successful result of any human effort. No, it came as a miracle, as the child that comes when his time is fulfilled, as a gift of the Father which he lays into those arms that are stretched out in longing. In this way did Christmas come; in this way it always comes anew, both to individuals and to the whole world. You have perhaps waited for years to be freed from some need. For a long, long time you have looked out from the darkness in search of the light, and have had a difficult problem in life that you have not been able to solve in spite of great efforts. And so it shall be with our yearning for the redemption of humanity and for a new shining forth of the world of God. When we are discouraged by the apparently slow progress of all our honest efforts, by the failure of this or the other person, and by the ever new reappearance of enemy powers and their apparent victories, then we should know: Because of the noise and activity of the struggle and the work, we often do not hear the hidden gentle sound and movement of the life that is coming into being. But here and there, at hours that are blessed, God lets us feel how he is everywhere at work and how his cause is growing and moving forward. The time is being fulfilled and the light shall shine, perhaps just when it seems to us that the darkness is impenetrable. Is it true that God only laughs at our efforts and strivings and that all this cannot avail; that we are to receive everything only as a gift? How wonderful is the answer given to us by the mystery of the child! True, it is grace and a gift when our need is relieved and the darkness is illuminated, and it is true that what is best must be given to us and to the whole world, and that we could never produce it ourselves. But we and our efforts always belong to this, even though it were only to keep the manger prepared in which the Child of God wants to lie. Our efforts count, even though like Simeon we only stretch out our arms in the patience of faith and in loyal endurance so that we may receive the holy gift. Even though we only wait, poor and yearning in the darkness, in fervent longing for the proclamation, we are ready, and may help to bring about the fullness of time. For the miracle of God comes not only from above; it also comes through us; it is also dwelling in us. It has been given to every person, and it lies in every soul as something divine, and it waits. Calling, it waits for the hour when the soul shall open itself, having found its God and its home. When this is so, the soul will not keep its wealth to itself, but will let it flow out into the world. Wherever love proceeds from us and becomes truth, the time is fulfilled. Then the divine life floods through our human relationships and all our works. Then everything that is lonely and scattered and seeking for the way of God shall be bound together by divine power. Then, of human effort and of the divine miracle, shall the world be born in which Christmas is fulfilled as reality.

The first two of these points are statements; the last two are commands. Earlier, Isaiah had prophesied that Jesus would preach to the people in this region Isaiah 9: While the area around the Sea of Galilee today is a peaceful resort area, it was not a quiet, backwater location during the time of Christ. Instead, Galilee during the first century was a busy center of commerce and politics. Sitting on the Via Maris, a major road linking Egypt with northern empires, it was a place where cultures melded and competed. Greek, Hebrew and Aramaic were all likely spoken in the markets. First-century historian Flavius Josephus reported that there was a booming fishing industry in the area. Some Jews were anticipating a great spiritual revival among the people. Others were looking for Him to reestablish the Jewish nation and its prominence among the nations. Many Jews back then were not convinced. What proof did Jesus offer that the interim between Old Testament prophecies and His appearing was complete? Him you shall hear. There are approximately Old Testament prophecies that Jesus fulfilled in His life and ministry. The one that gives the best indication of the time when Jesus would appear is found in Daniel 9: This prophecy, sometimes referred to as the 70 weeks of Daniel, predicted that the Messiah would begin His ministry in A. How do Bible scholars reach this conclusion? In this case, in the sixth century B. King Artaxerxes gave a command to rebuild Jerusalem. Seven weeks plus another 62 weeks equals days 69 times 7 that would pass before the Messiah would appear. C, a total of years would pass. When calculating years transitioning from B. Since priests began serving at age 30 Numbers 4: As for specifics, Christ was likely born in 4 B. Paul seems to have understood that Jesus began His ministry just as the Bible had predicted. Although many lived in their native land and had the freedom to worship God, they were under the rule of the Romans. Far more than previous governments, the Roman Empire brought relative peace, stability and civilization to much of the world—especially the Middle East, the area from which Christianity would emanate. The Romans built major roads for travel and commerce between regions, established a mail system for communication, laid out towns with streets, running water and sewage disposal, and had a system of justice that protected its citizens. The geopolitical stability and infrastructure for civilization brought by the Romans provided an opportune time for Christ to begin His ministry Galatians 4: Four proofs that the time was fulfilled The apostle John wrote of four proofs that Jesus gave showing that He was indeed the promised Messiah. Even though Jesus told people that He was the Son of God, He acknowledged that personal statements are not generally accepted as sufficient proof on important matters such as this. Christ then proceeded to give four additional proofs that He was the promised Messiah—that the time of waiting for His appearance had been fulfilled. This was a fulfillment of the prophecy in Isaiah Here, Jesus was referring to Deuteronomy They did not perceive that the time of waiting for the Messiah was fulfilled, and they did not recognize the four proofs that Jesus gave to verify His identity. Sadly, many of the Jewish leaders still refused to believe Jesus even after He fulfilled the miraculous sign He had given them that He would be resurrected after spending three days and three nights in the tomb following His crucifixion Matthew Can We Prove It? End Times Timeline Are you searching for a timeline of end times events? Well, although we can give you a sequence of end time events of prophecy yet to be fulfilled, we cannot provide specific dates for this timeline, because all time prophecies in the Bible have now been fulfilled. The 70 weeks of Daniel has been fulfilled. The day prophecy of Daniel has been fulfilled. So although we know the sequence of end time events to happen, we cannot set any dates or a specific timeline for them. Bible Prophecy to be Fulfilled So what are the events in Bible prophecy to be fulfilled? Below you will see a sequence of end time events that are to be fulfilled before the second coming of Jesus and the end of the world. Now although we cannot fix a definitive timeline to these end times final events, we believe that ALL of these events prophesied will be fulfilled in our lifetime. Major events are taking place all over the world now and ALL Bible prophecy is soon to be fulfilled. Where We Are Today: Another Possible Huge Crisis to Come: But there is yet another possible huge crisis to hit the world. This crisis to come upon the world will be the catalyst for the governments to bring on the mark of the beast. Whatever it is, there is a big crisis coming. The whore of Babylon. So the leaders of this world will unite and give their power and support to the Papacy Roman Catholic Church , and then the world will be in a position ready to enforce the mark of the beast. The Mark of the Beast Enforced by Law: Revelation 13 tells us that the mark of the beast will be enforced upon the whole world They will convince the world through deception that all these troubles are the judgments of God because of us not keeping His law. And this is starting to happen already. And there followed another angel, saying, Babylon is fallen, is fallen, that great city, because she made all nations drink of the wine of the wrath of her fornication. And the third angel followed them, saying with a loud voice, If any man worship the beast and his image, and receive his mark in his forehead, or in his hand, The same shall drink of the wine of the wrath of God, which is poured out without mixture into the cup of his indignation; and he shall be tormented with fire and brimstone in the presence of the holy angels, and in the presence of the Lamb: And the smoke of their torment ascendeth up for ever and ever: Here is the patience of the saints: God will give power to this final message to the world with His Holy Spirit, and many hearts will be convicted of the truth and will come out of Babylon. The Final Choice for the Seal or Mark: We will all at this time have to make one final choice. A choice to take the side of Christ Jesus and receive the seal of God Revelation 7: Then we will have a world with only two groups of people. The Door to Salvation is Closed: So now at this point, there will be no more opportunities to be saved. If you are lost, you remain lost, and if you are saved, you remain saved. Who will receive your allegiance? The beast system Papacy , or our Heavenly Father? When "Michael" stands up, as described above, the door of mercy is forever closed. At this same time, the Spirit of God will be withdrawn from the earth and the world will be plunged into great spiritual darkness, with Satan using all His evil ways against the saints of God, unleashing his full fury upon them The Seven Last Plagues: These plagues will be the "wine of the wrath of God, which is poured out without mixture. In other words those who receive the mark of the beast will receive the FULL wrath of God, and there will be no mercy "mixed in" with His judgments plagues. Now these plagues ONLY fall upon the lost. The Battle of Armageddon: The battle of armageddon is the climax of the spiritual war that has been raging between Christ and Satan since the beginning. If we "could" give a definitive timeline for the events above, then we would place the above three end time events of "The Time of Trouble", "The Seven Last Plagues", and "The Battle of Armageddon" close together, because all three events are closely connected. The Second Coming of Christ Jesus: The second coming of Christ will be a glorious, visible, fiery event that will make all other end time events look ordinary! Accompanied by billions of mighty angels, Jesus will return in great glory to deliver His people. Click here to learn the truth. The Resurrection of the Saints: And together with the saints who have gone through the great tribulation and are still alive, will meet Jesus in the air Then we which are alive and remain shall be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Lord in the air:

The rest of the dead lost will not live again until the years are over The Year Millennium: Click here to learn the truth about the year millennium as this is an important issue concerning the last days. The wicked are resurrected and Satan gathers them together to fight and take the New Jerusalem And the devil that deceived them was cast into the lake of fire and brimstone, where the beast and the false prophet are, and shall be tormented day and night for ever and ever. So the wicked are thrown into the lake of fire, where they are consumed and cease to exist, again contrary to popular belief. Even Satan himself is finally destroyed and will cease to exist. First it destroys the wicked, included Satan himself. Secondly God uses it to cleanse and renew the earth. This time the earth is going to be renewed with fire And sin is no more! These are the end times events. These are the Bible prophecy events to be fulfilled. But as we said in the beginning, we cannot give a definitive end times timeline, because we do not know how long these end times events will last. The one thing we CAN say for sure is that once the mark of the beast is enforced, we will know that we are living in the very last days, just before the second coming of Jesus and the end of the world as we know it. I pray that you will study each of the end time events listed and seek the truth with all your heart. Jesus is coming soon. Keep watching, waiting and serving God with all your heart, soul, mind and strength.

The crazy thing about adoption is that you can wait and wait and wait and wait and nothing happens â€” but then when things do happen, they can happen really fast. Like so many of you, my heart is full of such joy to see our friend with her daughter. I started bawling when I saw the first family portrait today I weep all the time, but this was full-on, face-scrunched-up, overwhelmed-with-emotion, so-happy-for-you crying. But I have also been really moved by the support of this band of women around her â€” the blogger who alerted her to the baby, women who helped with adoption funds, those who have been praying for and encouraging her and all of us who have been obsessively refreshing our browsers all day waiting to see the family photo! I just love it! I could just stare at this photo all day. Except then I might spend the whole day teary eyed. A little over a year ago, I was grappling with my infertility and so lonely and confused. One in six people might be infertile, but the experience out there in the world is that it seems like everyone else is having babies left and right. I felt so alone on this path. I am so grateful for this blogging community. But I am also grateful every day for you who share your hearts and hormone levels on your blogs, and to those who read my ramblings and encourage me. It has different devotions and reflections for each day from a range of scholars and authors. On Sunday night I read one that particularly moved me, especially thinking about how long so many of us have been waiting and also knowing that K might finally be picking up her baby soon. It was a reflection on Luke 2: Joseph went up to Bethlehem to register with Mary, who was pledged to be married to him and was expecting a child. While they were there, the time was fulfilled for the baby to be born ,and she gave birth to her firstborn, a son. In this way, he says, it can continue to come anew to us. I was reading the devotion aloud with my husband, and I started to tear up as I read this particular section: For a long, long time you have looked out from the darkness in search of the light and have had a difficult problem in life that you have not been able to solve in spite of great efforts. Show us your light. Please lead our hearts to your will. And make your will done in our lives.

7: Mark KJV - And saying, The time is fulfilled, and - Bible Gateway

The Time is Fulfilled August 13, August 9, Â. Fr. Barnabas Powell The American astronaut Buzz Aldrin once said "Timing has always been a key element in my life.

Mark adds "believe the gospel" to the simple "repent" of St. Matthew, and gives "the kingdom of God" instead of "the kingdom of heaven. The kingdom which had been shut for so many ages was now to be reopened by the preaching and the death of Christ. The time is very accurately indicated. Matthew tells us Matthew 4: Elias must come first; and he had come in the person of the Baptist, although the prophecy probably awaits its full accomplishment in the actual reappearance of the great prophet of Israel before the second coming of our Lord. Repent ye, and believe the gospel. These words may be regarded as a summary of the method of salvation. Repentance and faith are the conditions of admission into the Christian covenant. It is in the gospel that Christ is revealed to us as a Saviour; and therefore we find Jesus Christ, as the object of our faith, distinguished from the Father as the object of our repentance. Repentance of itself is not sufficient - it makes no satisfaction for the Law which we have broken; and hence, over and above repentance, there is required from us faith in the Gospel, wherein Christ is revealed to us as a propitiation for sin, and as the only way of reconciliation with the Father. Without faith repentance becomes despair, and without repentance faith becomes only presumption. Join the two together, and the faithful soul is borne onwards, like a well-balanced vessel, to the haven where it would be. Matthew Henry Commentary 1: If some be laid aside, others shall be raised up, to carry on the same work. Observe the great truths Christ preached. By repentance we give glory to our Creator whom we have offended; by faith we give glory to our Redeemer who came to save us from our sins. Christ has joined these two together, and let no man think to put them asunder. Christ puts honour upon those who, though mean in this world, are diligent in their business and kind to one another. Industry and unity are good and pleasant, and the Lord Jesus commands a blessing on them. Those whom Christ calls, must leave all to follow him; and by his grace he makes them willing to do so. Not that we must needs go out of the world, but we must sit loose to the world; forsake every thing that is against our duty to Christ, and that cannot be kept without hurt to our souls. Jesus strictly kept the sabbath day, by applying himself unto, and abounding in the sabbath work, in order to which the sabbath rest was appointed. There is much in the doctrine of Christ that is astonishing; and the more we hear it, the more cause we see to admire it.

Tweet End Times Prophecy Dear reader! All that Bible prophecy said would happen, has happened. The signs are fulfilling and the final end time events of prophecy are upon us. See What Must I do to be Saved? Our only safety is to abide in Jesus Christ. End times prophecy is fast being fulfilled. Satan "works with all power and signs and lying wonders.. Please surrender your life to Jesus Christ, the Son of God. Jesus Christ is at the center of end times Bible prophecy. He is our righteousness and salvation. He is the truth. The final events are upon us friends. We have wandered away from the old Biblical landmarks. If the Lord be God, serve Him; if Baal, serve him. Which side will you be on? This world is on the very edge of eternity and we are soon to see that "great and dreadful day of the Lord", when Jesus Christ with all His holy angels will burst upon the world with great glory to claim what is rightfully His. Here you will not only be shown the truth about Bible prophecy and the end times, you will also receive wise council as to how you should be living in these last days, just before the second coming of Jesus. We need men who will not hold their peace when they see evils coming in and wrongs being done. We need men who will refuse to give consent by silence to unjust actions. White, Manuscript Releases, Vol. We are truly living in the end times now, and as the Bible reveals in Revelation 12, Satan has come down to this earth with "great fury" knowing that his time is short, and he is using all his power to deceive us and keep us from Jesus Christ. Here at end times prophecy we will not be moved by worldly excitement or false revivals, because we have our minds fixed within the Heavenly sanctuary, where Jesus resides. This is a time of great spiritual peril, and we are called to turn away from sin and live holy lives for our Creator God. Time to Get Ready We are in the last hour, the day of the Lord is at hand, and it is time to get ready. The final calls are going out to the world. God is preparing to pour out His Spirit upon His people and we must be earnest in praying for that Spirit to fall upon us. We must depart from sin, humble our hearts and fall before the One who can save us, our Lord, Saviour and soon coming King, Jesus Christ, the Son of the living God. So many professing Christians do not know the urgency of the situation. The whole theme of the Bible is of urgency to turn to God and turn away from sin, especially in these end times we live in. The end of all things is near at hand. The signs are rapidly fulfilling, yet it would seem that but few realize that the day of the Lord is coming swiftly, silently as a thief in the night. Many are saying "peace and safety". Unless they are watching for their Lord, they will be taken as in a snare. White, Last Day Events, P. Yes, there are still prophecies to be fulfilled in Israel, as our following pages reveal: End Time Signs The world is buckling under great pressure. Earthquakes, tsunamis, wildfires, tornadoes, mass animals dying. These things are just a fraction of the destroying forces raging throughout our world. Everything else seems to be going horribly wrong too. War, terrorism, economic trouble, increase in sin and Godlessness. Confusion and strife reigns everywhere in this world today. God is withdrawing His Spirit from the earth ready for the last days and Satan is gaining more and more control. The world is in such a mess these days that even non religious people are starting to think what is going on and what will become of all this. And what is the answer? Why are all these things happening in our day? The answer can only be found through a source that the majority of people have forgotten about When you study the Word of God you will see that these things were prophesied to happen a long time ago. Then the mystery begins to unfold and our eyes begin to open as to why this world is in such a terrible state. Please read through this site and find out the great end time prophecy truths that God has revealed to His people.

So, keep seeking God, keep fasting and praying, keep believing for the salvation of souls everywhere, and walk in the love, power and soundness of mind that God has given to His people!!! Recently, several godly people I know who usually try to be careful about obeying the law in all regards, have been stopped for simple things that may have been overlooked in the past, such as, one was slowing down from 50 mph when they were reaching a 35 mph sign, but as they went past the sign they were still going slightly above the 35 mph, so they were stopped and given a ticket. Another person whom I know tries to be a careful driver, went through a yellow light and was pulled over but just given a warning.
