As legend has it, the Hollow Hills are the hidden abode of the gods -- they withdrew to them when people began to no longer believe in the gods. Within these Hills the gods still live, delighting in the joys of companionship and riches of song and story. And sometimes the song of the Lordly Ones can.

Hills East is fed from West Hollow Middle School and is the larger of the two high schools in the district. The current principal is Milton Strong. The building was once used as both a middle school and a high school, which were located side-by-side and connected to one another, so the building is sprawling. For the same reason, Hills East has redundant facilities: The class of was the last class where East was the exclusive high school in the district; commencing in there were graduating classes from both high schools. It features a Spitz A3P planetarium projector, and is usually used to host class trips from the middle and elementary schools, in addition to being the home of the Hills East Astronomy Club, where students are taught about the night sky, astronomy and mythology by fellow students and teachers. The space is also rented out to local companies for events throughout the year. The stage is a full Broadway -sized stage 88 feet wide, 49 feet deep, three stories tall for fly space hanging scenery. The stage has an orchestra pit containing two pistons although only one functions that are capable of raising and lowering the pit. The Eugene Orloff Auditorium is infamous for its low quality acoustics , as it was constructed of concrete and never completed. The music wing of the school is located in the hallway right behind the stage. The school also has a recently renovated Lecture Hall. It is usually the host of small gatherings and meetings, as well as Advanced Placement exams. Its maleâ€”female ratio is 53â€” After its first year of classes, the district was split and the two high schools became typical 10, 11, 12 grade each. It includes a track, turf field, and natatorium. The natatorium is adjacent to Ms. West students generally attend Candlewood Middle School from 6th to 8th grade. As of Fall , Dr. In , they once again won the Suffolk County A Championship, however a disqualification of one of the runners led them to take second place. The winter track team won 7 straight county titles , , , , , and in the spring of , and the spring track team has won the league by going undefeated. In addition, the Colts have fielded strong baseball teams over the years, winning multiple league titles, two county championships, and a state championship in The first time that has been accomplished in school history. In , the Football team also won its first Long Island Championship in school history. The Boys Basketball team has made the class AA playoffs every year since The Varsity Soccer team made the state semi-finals in The Hills Swim team has gone undefeated and won league and county champs. Hills West Dance team, the Wranglerettes, are the champions in the Long Island Kickline Association competition, winning in the jazz category for the 14th year, and in the newly created hip hop category. The official school mascot is the Colt. The current principal is Pamela Higgins. The mascot is the Cougar and the current school colors are red and gold. A track has been completed. Roughly 1, students attend the school. It was built in The mascot is the Wolverine, and the current school colors are a passionate red, white, black, and occasionally blue. Around 1, students attend the school. The newest of the elementary schools, Sunquam, was opened in after previously being shut down for several years. It is still operating today, and is located across the street from a branch of the Half Hollow Hills Library. District programs[ edit ] Half Hollow Hills is known for its district-wide theater programs that extends to all schools in the district. This opportunity begins in 5th grade with the "Hills On Stage" program. In addition to housing the offices of the Superintendent and other administrators, Central Office serves as the location for a small mock-astronautics program for children and certain community events, as well as child care services.

Hollow Hills are hills in the Twilight Forest that are hollow and contain treasure. These hills are a near-perfect hemisphere in shape when looking from both the inside and outside, a helpful mechanic for locating them. Likewise, the size of the Hill corresponds to the variety, quantity and rarity of the treasure within, as Large Hollow Hills will contain very valuable items such as Diamond Ore and Ore Magnets found in chests. Hollow Hills also spawn Kobolds naturally as well as Redcap Goblins. If the Hollow Hill is of large size, then it will contain Diamond Ore and will spawn Wraiths naturally. Large Hollow Hills are the only place to locate Wraiths. Sometimes, Hollow Hills have caves running through them, allowing for them to be noticed from the surface or discovered while caving. Three types of beetles are known: Pinch Beetles that lift, carry and damage the player; Fire Beetles that ignite the player; and Slime Beetles that shoot slime balls at the player to deal damage. Same hollow hill as above photo, from the interior. Ore in Hollow Hills is found in stalactites hanging from the ceiling. Navigation is made difficult by the quantity of mobs inside the Hills as well as the stalagmites that litter the floor. The combination of stalactites and stalagmites makes it very difficult to navigate a Hill and can sometimes make a Hollow Hill only barely hollow, as rock can fill almost all of the space. Chests are also found on the ground inside Hollow Hills and on top of stalagmites. Stalactites of Glowstone are also found hanging from the ceiling to light the ores and make mining easier. Topography[ edit ] Small Hollow Hills contain semivaluable ores Iron, Gold and the occasional Redstone Ore hanging in stalactites from the ceiling. Each stalactite is not very large, perhaps blocks in size. Only one or two spawners are found, some small hills will have no spawners. Small Hollow Hills contain between zero to four loot chests. They appear on the Magic Map as a white mound with a width of 4 pixels at its base. Medium Hollow Hills contain valuable ores Iron, Gold, Redstone and Lapis hanging in stalactites from the ceiling and found occasionally on the floor. Due to the size of the hill, Coal may also be found in veins on the floor, but no stalactites containing Coal are generated. Several Chests are usually found within these hills, as well as spawners of assorted types. Medium Hollow Hills appear on the Magic Map as a white mound with a width of 6 pixels at its base. A snapshot of the ores that can occur in a small area of a Large Hollow Hill. Diamond, Redstone and Lapis Lazuli are all concentrated together. Large Hollow Hills contain very valuable ores of all types, even including Diamond Ore. Large Hollow Hills are the only places where Wraiths can be encountered. Wraiths are mobs that float around seemingly at random and will occasionally deal minor amounts of damage to the player, especially when the player is mining ore. Wraiths tend to push the player off the ceiling while mining ore to take attack and fall damage. They will not actively charge the player and will distance themselves after each melee or ranged attack without attempting to immediately counter. As with other mobs, they can be killed in one hit with a Nano Saber , signifying that they only have 10 hearts of health. Wraiths drop Glowstone Dust when killed. A Large Hollow Hill; note the Wraith at center. Chest Loot[ edit ] All three varieties of Hollow Hill can contain chests, with seven items chosen at random from the possibilities below. Chests may be at ground level or on top of short cobblestone pillars, depending on the floor layout. Not all chests are out in the open; they can sometimes spawn in the side of stalagmites and along the bottom edges of the hill, requiring the obstructing blocks above to be removed or the chest broken before its contents can be collected. Each size of Hollow Hill has some exclusive loot possibilities.
