Your strengths, or your weaknesses? The best that might happen, or the worst that might come to be? In your quiet moments, pay attention to your thoughts. Because maybe, just maybe, the only thing that needs to shift in order for you to experience more happiness, more love, and more vitality, is your way of thinking. Here are 60 thought-provoking quotes and life lessons gathered from our book and our blog archive that will help you adjust your way of thinking. You cannot change what you refuse to confront. Sometimes good things fall apart so better things can fall together. Sometimes you need to distance yourself to see things clearly. Read Rich Dad, Poor Dad. If a person wants to be a part of your life, they will make an obvious effort to do so. Think twice before reserving a space in your heart for people who do not make an effort to stay. Making one person smile can change the world – maybe not the whole world, but their world. The most painful thing is losing yourself in the process of loving someone too much, and forgetting that you are special too. As we grow up, we realize it becomes less important to have more friends and more important to have real ones. Making a hundred friends is not a miracle. The miracle is to make a single friend who will stand by your side even when hundreds are against you. Falling in love is not a choice. To stay in love is. Never do something permanently foolish just because you are temporarily upset. When you stop chasing the wrong things you give the right things a chance to catch you. Every single thing that has ever happened in your life is preparing you for a moment that is yet to come. True nobility is in being superior to the person you once were. Trying to be someone else is a waste of the person you are. You will never become who you want to be if you keep blaming everyone else for who you are now. People are more what they hide than what they show. Being alone does not mean you are lonely, and being lonely does not mean you are alone. Love is not about sex, going on fancy dates, or showing off. Anyone can come into your life and say how much they love you. It takes someone really special to stay in your life and show how much they love you. Burn the candles, use the nice sheets, wear the fancy lingerie. Love and appreciate your parents. We are often so busy growing up, we forget they are also growing old. Learn to love yourself first, instead of loving the idea of other people loving you. Happiness is a choice. No matter how good or bad you have it, wake up each day thankful for your life. Someone somewhere else is desperately fighting for theirs. The smallest act of kindness is worth more than the grandest intention. Many people are so poor because the only thing they have is money. Learn to appreciate the things you have before time forces you appreciate the things you once had. When you choose to see the good in others, you end up finding the good in yourself. You drown by staying there. Most people depend on others to gain happiness, but the truth is, it always comes from within. If you tell the truth, it becomes a part of your past. If you lie, it becomes a part of your future. What you do every day matters more than what you do every once in a while. Read The Power of Habit. Things turn out best for people who make the best out of the way things turn out.

2: 10 Tips to Start Living in the Present

"Don't wait the time will never be just right." "To live is the rarest thing in the world. some exits, that is all." "Be happy for this www.enganchecubano.com moment is your life."

Here are of the best quotes and sayings about Life, Love, Friendship, and Happiness handpicked by the team here at Live Life Happy. We hope you find some uplifting and inspiring ones to help you through difficult and trying times. Feel free to share this updated collection of quotes with friends and family. I understand why people hold hands: It is about speaking without words. To be classy is to have respect; respect for others, respect for elders, and most of all respect for yourself. Listen to people who encourage you to do what you know in your heart is right. His hugs were always a preamble to something else and after he was gone, I wondered if he ever knew me at all. Sometimes change may not be what we want. Sometimes change is what we need. But if we could, like, intensely dwell on the really great things in life the way we intensely dwell on the negative things in life; I think that would be fantastic. Identify the habits holding you back and make a decision to crush them. The mentally tough mind is like a flourishing garden, and bad habits are the weeds that suffocate it. Watering the flowers without killing the weeds is an act of self-delusion. You can always make time. They all made you the person that you are today. Once earned, it affords us tremendous freedom. But once trust is lost, it can be impossible to recover. Of course the truth is, we never know who we can trust. In the end, most people decide to trust only themselves. It really is the simplest way to keep from getting burned. A great day even. Make sure you remember those days. Keep them safely in your pockets, maybe even a jar on your desk because you need to know that there are and will be better days. Hold on to that warmth. And never let it go. From every wound there is a scar, and every scar tells a story. You just use the future to escape the present. Always strive to improve no matter how good you think you are. Someone who will listen. Someone who will understand. Your life literally slows down. You stop wishing for the weekend. You stop merely looking forward to special events. You begin to live in each moment and you start feeling like a human being. You just ride the wave that is life, with this feeling of contentment and joy. You move fluidly, steadily, calm and grateful. A veil is lifted, and a whole new perspective is born. It is your life. Live it the way you want. Some of them love us dearly. Many of them have good intentions. Most are toxic to our being simply because their needs and way of existing in the world force us to compromise ourselves and our happiness. And as hard as it is, we have to let them go. You have to make your wellbeing a priority. Whether that means breaking up with someone you care about, loving a family member from a distance, letting go of a friend, or removing yourself from a situation that feels painful – you have every right to leave and create a safer space for yourself. Is everyday experience good, healthy, beautiful? Because I have to tell you, while it might be cool to work for a company like Google, Apple, or The New Yorker, if your job is stupid, stressful and your boss is an asshole, there is nothing good or prestigious about that. While it might seem right to go to a school like Berkeley, if classes are overcrowded and students are nervous, anxious, religious zealots from Orange County, are you sure you want to go there? To believe in prestige is to privilege abstract, collective impression over palpable, daily experience. To which I say: Do what serves your everyday vitality. You are not the moon kissing the black sky. Sleep in on Saturday mornings and wake yourself up early on Sunday. There is a truth to that. We are not nouns, we are verbs. I am not a thing – an actor, a writer – I am a person who does things – I write, I act – and I never know what I am going to do next. I think you can be imprisoned if you think of yourself as a noun. The way you love someone, and how you talk. Your smile and your personality. What you believe in, and all your dreams. The way you drink your tea. How you decorate your home. The food you make. How your writing looks. And the way you feel. I want to get more confident being uncertain. Just literally twenty seconds of just embarrassing bravery. And I promise you, something great will come of it. Our best critic, yet our strongest supporter. If you want to reach your goals, you have to be able to put up with the pain. Just let it go. The person that you want to be does exist, somewhere in the other side of hard work and faith, and belief and beyond the heartache and fear of what life has. There is something inexpressibly beautiful about being awake to behold the splendor of this world while everyone else is still asleep. Instead, you remain stuck in time forgetting there is a future. Learn to forgive and forget and move on. Hatred is a strong word and depression can be stopped. You are the only one that can make yourself depressed. So learn to stop it. Do the things that make you happy and everything you want will surely find you. Choose to stay positive and be strong. We lose them because we are destined to find somebody else. It is rather a conscious choice to focus on the good and to cultivate happiness – genuine happiness. Happiness is not a limited resource. When we devote our energy and time to trivial matters and choose to stress over things that ultimately are insignificant, from that point, we perpetuate our own sadness and lose sight of the things that really make us happy and rationalize our way out of doing amazing things. The past is meant to teach you and the hard times are meant to strengthen you. You either create it, invite it, or you associate with people who love to bring it into your life. Take that pain and turn it into wisdom. It just feeds your shame, fuels your feelings of inadequacy, and ultimately, it keeps you stuck. The reality is that there is no one correct path in life. Everyone has their own unique journey. So stop comparing, and start living. You may not have ended up where you intended to go. But trust, for once, that you have ended up where you needed to be. Trust that you are in the right place at the right time. Trust that your life is enough. Trust that you are enough. Take action, make a change, and never look back. We read and write poetry because we are members of the human race.

Finding minimalism in a world of consumerism. Eliminating nonessential possessions has freed us from many of the emotions associated with past lives that were keeping us stuck. And clearing our home has allowed us the freedom to shape our lives today around our most important values. Choosing to live in the past or the future not only robs you of enjoyment today, it robs you of truly living. The only important moment is the present moment. With that goal in mind, consider this list of ten tips below to start living your life in the present: Minimalism forces you to live in the present. Removing items associated with past memories or lives frees us up to stop living in the past and start living in the present. Each day is full of endless possibilities! Start it with a smile. You are in control of your attitude every morning, keep it optimistic and expectant. Fully appreciate the moments of today. Soak in as much of today as you possibly can "œœ" the sights, the sounds, the smells, the emotions, the triumph, and the sorrow. If you are harboring resentment towards another human being because of past hurts, choose to forgive and move on. The harm was their fault. But allowing it to impact your mood today is yours. Dream about the future, but work hard today. Set goals and plans for the future. But working hard today is always the first step towards realizing your dreams tomorrow. Realize that tomorrow is going to happen whether you worry about it or not. And since worry has never accomplished anything for anybody, redirect your mental energy elsewhere. Think beyond old solutions to problems. Addictions in your life hold you hostage. They keep you from living a completely free life today. And remove their influence over your life. If you can only live one moment at a time, you might as well make it the present.

4: Inspiring Happiness Quotes & Sayings About Life

Lewes, East Sussex: The Book Guild, A Fine unmarked copy with near Fine non price clipped dustjacket. Foreword by Dr. Nawal el Saadawi. The Palestinian author's collection of 15 short stories, in which she paints vivid, charming, and sometimes.

Broccoli called him saying: Hunt , who edited the first five Bond films, believed that Gilbert had been contracted by the producers for other work but they found they had to use him. Hunt was invited to direct the second unit for You Only Live Twice and accepted the job. Toho Studios provided soundstages, personnel, and the female Japanese stars to the producers. While the third involved a character from the book, Kissy Suzuki, Dahl had to create Aki and Helga Brandt to fulfil the rest. What I admired so much about Lewis Gilbert was that he just took the screenplay and shot it. When the time came to begin You Only Live Twice, the producers were faced with the problem of a disenchanted star. Sean Connery had stated that he was tired of playing James Bond and all of the associated commitment time spent filming and publicising each movie , together with finding it difficult to do other work, which would potentially lead to typecasting. Jan Werich was originally cast by producer Harry Saltzman to play Blofeld. Upon his arrival at the Pinewood set, both producer Albert R. Broccoli and director Lewis Gilbert felt that he was a poor choice, resembling a "poor, benevolent Santa Claus ". Nonetheless, in an attempt to make the casting work, Gilbert continued filming. After several days, both Gilbert and Broccoli determined that Werich was not menacing enough, and recast Blofeld with Donald Pleasence in the role. A number of martial arts experts were hired as the ninjas. The two Japanese female parts proved difficult to cast, due to most of the actresses tested having limited English. Wakabayashi only requested that her character name, "Suki", be changed to "Aki". The scene of the Japanese fishing village. A Japanese fan began following Sean Connery with a camera, and the police were called several times to prevent invasions during shooting. Little Nellie was named after music hall star Nellie Wallace , who has a similar surname to its inventor. The scenes were initially shot in Miyazaki , first with takes of the gyrocopter, with more than 85 take-offs, 5 hours of flight and Wallis nearly crashing into the camera several times. The concluding shots involved explosions, which the Japanese government did not allow in a national park. So, the crew moved to Torremolinos , Spain, which was found to resemble the Japanese landscape. Draeger provided martial arts training, and also doubled for Connery. However, after her initial, almost three-hour cut received a terrible response from test audiences, Peter R. Hunt was asked to re-edit the film. He tried to incorporate the "elegance of the Oriental sound" with Japanese music-inspired tracks. The record release made No. Both versions of the title song are available on CD. In , Robbie Williams used the distinctive string figure for his song " Millennium ", although it was re-recorded, rather than sampled from the movie for cost reasons. Shirley Bassey , who has three original Bond themes to her credit, has also covered the song. A different title song was originally recorded by Julie Rogers , but eventually discarded. It became a very popular track with followers of the Northern soul scene Chandler was well known for her high-quality soul output on RCA and can be found on several RCA soul compilations.
